DECISION UPHELD

Farley, its chairman, clearly indicated today. In a formal statement, he stood by the decision of the referee, Jack O'Sullivan.

Referee Considered Competent.

The statement read:

"I have nothing to say, other than that the referee, who was assigned to the bout, rendered his decision as he saw it. This commission never has reversed the decisions of its officials.

O'Sullivan has always been considered by the newspapermen who witness boxing as being a most efficient and competent referee.

Says Pictures Show No Foul.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Sharkey fight, declared today that Dempsey did not win the fight by a foul blow. He said the blow was to the pit of the stomach and was fair. Imponderable Ether.

Surprising a Rebel.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

SIR OLIVER LODGE says the ether is the most important reality of the physical universe. Life and mind are associated with matter only indirectly through the ether, says he, and the ether is primarily man's habitation, not pseudo "solid matter," eart houses, automobiles and money that we call the real world.

Matter reduced to atoms is only electric particles revolving at frightful speed around an electric centre. The real thing is ether.

SCIENCE tells us that ether is like a great stream of water, flowing on forever, and matter like a fisherman's net spread across the stream through which the ether flows, that ether is essential to the cosmic schemes, that Newton's law of gravitation should not work without it, and that ether is the only solid reality in the realm of ideas. But for the average man it is hard to conceive of ether as a reality. It seems as unreal as the fourth dimension.

Our minds are adjusted to the work we have to do, which isn't big or very important.

IF told that the sickness of a sperm whale in the Atlantic ocean could set up an ancient sailor man in a comfortable chicken business, you might say "impossible." But it happened.

When whales don't feel well, lumps of a substance called "Ambergis," valuable to perfume manufacturers, form inside of them.

Jeremiah Pratt, seventy-four years old, lookout on a schooner, saw gulls hovering over a big lump of Ambergis, worth $12,500. With that money, Sailor Pratt will retire to a chicken ranch and thousands of women will go around perfumed by the Ambergis.

Engineer Claims Grade Was Established 25 Years Ago.

Legislation Enacted for Four Street Improvements.

A thorough investigation of the complaints of Ephraim street residents that their property has been damaged by the grading of the thoroughfare. will be made by a councilmanic committee, working in conjunction with the city engineer, service-safety director and a committee of the property holders.

This was the decision of the municipal legislators at their meeting last evening, when a delegation appeared to protest against the improvements which are now nearing completion.

George Tasker, one of the spokesmen for the complainants, which numbered about 30, charged that an "awful mistake" had been made in the grading of Laura avenue as well as Ephraim street. He asserted that property on the upper side of the street had been left high in the air by cuts which ranged from five to seven feet.

Engineer Shows Maps and Plans.

Engineer Flay Clapsaddle, who attended the meeting, showed maps and plans for the grade which he asserted to have been established more than 25 years ago when the late John George, Sr., was engineer. He said that the grade stakes were set in the center of the street before the job was started.

George H. White, another property owner on the east end of Ephraim street, said that while he had refused to sign the improvement petition he would be compelled to build a seven-foot retaining wall along the front and one side of his property as a result of the grading. He claimed that it was impossible for him to drive his auto into his garage.

Councilman Hayes asserted that an investigation should be made, and, if a mistake has been made by the city, steps should be taken to adjust the matter. However, if the street has been graded according to the established plan, property holders have

WASHINGTON, [illegible] matory attacks on the foreign policy of the United States in its dealings with Latin-American republic, coupled with charges that the machinery of this government was being used in the interest of Wall Street bankers, caused President William Green to call a halt in such tactics on the part of Latin-American delegates to the Pan-American Federation of Labor in session here today.

Green warned the delegates that the gathering is not a clearing house for the political ills of Latin-America. He cautioned the delegates must not seek to use the convention to air such grievances.

Aire Nicaraguan Situation.

The admonition came in the course of discussion of a resolution offered by Salomon de La Selva, Nicaraguan delegates, calling for an investigation of the running amuck of an American marine in Haiti earlier in the week, resulting in the killing of one and the wounding of two natives.

The resolution also asked for indemnities for the victims' families. The resolution was adopted.

Green's intervention followed a vehement speech by Delegate Martinez, of Venezuela, in which he undertook to air not only the Haitian situation, but also the troubles in Nicaragua. He charged that since the days of Monroe the American government had used its powers to obtain a strangle hold on the economic welfare of all Latin-America.

BOOTLEG LIQUOR IS DEATH GAMBLE

WASHINGTON, July 22.—If you drink bootleg liquor it's a 3,000 to 1 shot that you're gambling with death. At least that's the opinion of Dr. J. M. Doran, prohibition commissioner.

Doran declared today that the quality of bootleg is lower than at any time since prohibition became effective.

LABOR CHIEF HALTS ATTACKS ON U. S. POLICY

William Green Warns Latin-Americans at Washington.

STEAM SHUT OFF

Meeting no Clearing House for Political Ills, He Says.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The Pan American Federation of Labor today adopted a resolution offered by the Nicaraguan delegation calling on the United States government "to free the Nicaraguan people from economic domination by foreign bankers or foreign government.

WASHINGTON, [illegible] matory attacks on the foreign policy of the United States in its dealings with Latin-American republic, coupled with charges that the machinery of this government was being used in the interest of Wall Street bankers, caused President William Green to call a halt in such tactics on the part of Latin-American delegates to the Pan-American Federation of Labor in session here today.

Green warned the delegates that the gathering is not a clearing house for the political ills of Latin-America. He cautioned the delegates must not seek to use the convention to air such grievances.

Airs Nicaraguan Situation.

The admonition came in the course of discussion of a resolution offered by Salomon de La Selva, Nicaraguan delegates, calling for an investigation of the running amuck of an American marine in Haiti earlier in the week, resulting in the killing of one and the wounding of two natives.

The resolution also asked for indemnities for the victims' families. The resolution was adopted.

Green's intervention followed a vehement speech by Delegate Martinez, of Venezuela, in which he undertook to air not only the Haitian situation, but also the troubles in Nicaragua. He charged that since the days of Monroe the American government had used its powers to obtain a strangle hold on the economic welfare of all Latin-America.

SEVERAL DIE IN BATTLE AT FAGARAS, SAYS BERLIN REPORT

Peasants go to Bucharest to View Body of King.

FUNERAL SUNDAY

Little King Michael Central Figure of Interest.

BERLIN, July 22.—Reports from Bucharest this afternoon state that clashes between supporters of Prince Carol and government troops have broken out in Fagaras.

The reports state that several were killed during the fighting.

BUCHAREST, July 22.—Peasants, dressed in their picturesque costumes, streamed into Bucharest today to visit Cotroveni castle where King Ferdinand's body is lying in state and to witness the funeral cortege on Sunday.

The body, attired in its military uniform, lies [illegible] coffin, in [illegible] with [illegible] are [illegible] soldiers in the palace and another outside.

Little King Michael, the five-year-old monarch of Roumania, whose rule will be conducted by a council of regency until he is 18, will be the central figure of interest when the funeral is held Sunday.

City and Country Quiet.

The city and the country at large are quiet.

The official Gazette publishes today the king's will and also a letter he wrote some time before his death relating to state and family affairs. It is understood that Carol will receive a bequest of cash and securities. Originally he was to receive the bulk of the king's estate, but Carol sacrificed his fortune, along with his royal rights, when he deserted his wife for another woman.

Apparently the Roumanian people at large are taking little interest in the plans of Carol.

Ohioan Crushed to Death.

CLEVELAND, July 22.—James A. Moore, rigger,, was crushed to death here when a seven ton stack he was helping to demolish, fell upon him.

These are desserts made by combining oranges and lemons with other ingredients to make delightful summer dishes.

Science has recently demonstrated that raw foods must form part of the diet in order that the body may not be undernourished. The use of fresh fruits is a pleasing and palatable way of insuring a balanced food supply for the body.

There are hundreds of attractive ways in which they may be used. Any of our readers may have a booklet giving over 200 recipes for serving oranges and lemons attractively, by themselves and in combinations with other foods. All that is necessary is to clip the coupon below, mail it, and enclose four cents in stamps.

AROUND WORLD FLIGHT TO WAIT BETTER PLANES

Avaiation Leaders Think Motors are Far Ahead.

LESSONS LEARNED

Trans-Atlantic Hops Bring New Realization to Experts.

NEW YORK.—An around-the-world flight with nary a stop may be just around the corner of time but it must wait until the building of planes for such a super-human effort becomes as far advanced as the construction of motors.

This formed the consensus in leading aviation circles today in the wake of the recent non stop trans-Atlantic and trans-Pacific flights.

Whatever else these epochal flights may have disclosed, one fact was forcibly brought out which the technical men concerned with aviation deem of paramount importance—the planning and building of motors approximates perfection.

Motors Dependable.

Heretofore the average person regarded an airplane trip with mingled feelings of misgiving, and the fear of a stalled engine hundreds or thousands of feet in the ether was foremost. Airplane engines were viewed somewhat in the same light as prima donnas—too tempermental to get familiar with.

But the trans-ocean flights, topped by the remarkable performance of the three motors in the America which functioned perfectly on Commander Richard E. Byrd's memorable trip, have virtually dispelled this trepidation from the mind of the average person.

With the experience gained in building airplane motors in the years since the Wright brothers electrified the world with their heavier-than-air flying machine, engineers have been educated to a point where today they make them almost fool-proof. It took the recent cross-ocean flights, however, to impress uopn a skeptical public how far motors have been developed.

Remarkable Progress.

Even those closely identified with aviation, aware of the remarkable progress made in this respect, were at least mildly surprised by the performance of America's motors. For approximately 43 hours through the most discouraging weather conditions, the three engines popped away steadily, never faltering once until a shortage of fuel made a forced landing necessary.

And a round-the-world non-stop flight—a plane so built as to carry sufficient fuel for such an effort.

The motors used in each of the trans-ocean flights were good for 100 hours, on a conservative basis, without need of mechanical attention, according to experienced engineers. And 100 hours at the rate of 100 miles an hour would take a plane 10,000 miles.

Today it has been proved that motors have practically been made safe enough for a non-stop flight around the world. But aviation must await the planning of a ship capable of carrying enough fuel for such a breath-taking attempt.

Manassa Mauler's Comeback

Jack Dempsey won the right to challenge for the heavyweight championship crown, which he lost to Gene Tunney at Philadelphia one year ago, by his slashing victory last night over Josef Paul Cukoschay, Lithuanian, who calls himself Jack Sharkey.

The Manassa man mauler, as the ex-champion is known, is again the popular idol of the pugilistic world, by reason of a left hook to Sharkey's jaw in the seventh round of their scheduled 15-round battle at Yankee Stadium, New York.

The end came suddenly after Dempsey had administered a merciless barrage of punishment to the Bostonian's body in one of the wildest fights in puglistic history, and earned for the one-time champion the plaudits of 84,000 fans, most of whom had been cheering for the underdog.

As one writer says, the victorious blow, with all Dempsey's 194 1-2 pounds behind it, knocked all the gab as well as the heart out of the talkative Sharkey, who, until a few minutes before the bell for the first round, had been a favorite in the betting.

And despite the Boston man's claim of foul, which was not borne out by the physicians' examination of the Lithuanian after he was carried from his corner, Dempsey's victory was clean cut. And, too, it proved that although 32 years old, he still has the punch and stamina to exchange blows with the best in the business.

Dempsey's return from Hasbeenville, to which most of the so-called experts had exiled him, was spectacular. He is undoubtedly the best heavyweight of the day, excepting, of course, the man who defeated him in the City of Brotherly Love. And his defeat of Sharkey affords him the opportunity to demonstrate whether or not he can upset all precedent by regaining the crown he has lost. The September battle between Dempsey and Tunney should break all box office records.

Oil Lamps

There is an old adage about "carrying coals to Newcastle," which is supposed to represent the height of futility. Yet it would be sensible enough to carry coal to that famous center of the English coal industry if the Newcastle citizens were burning wood or peat for fuel.

We seem to need some similarly scornful formula for the lighting situation at Muscle Shoals. It develops that Muscle Shoals City, built around the greatest electrical generating plant in the world, is lighted with coal oil lamps. There is enough power issuing from that plant to light several states, and a great deal more available.

Let it not be assumed, however, that the Muscle Shoalers are oblivious to their absurd plight. Business men are now petitioning the secretary of war to grant a franchise for lighting their city in the modern way. He is expected to grant it, even if the oil industry does need the business.

Glory In Spelling

When Dean Lucas, the 13-year-old winner of the national grammar school spelling contst, got back home in the tiny village of Congress, O., the whole community for miles around turned out to honor him. You'd almost have thought he was another Lindbergh, or at least a Red Grange. There was a big parade, headed by a famous city band, and there were speeches and hand-shaking and back-patting until young Dean, though very happy, was nearly worn out.

Really, we're coming on, when proficiency in spelling is held in such high esteem. It almost looks as if a great speller were appreciated as much as a great football player or prize fighter. Scholarship may yet come into as much honor as athletic ability.

Pass the word along among the youngsters that there's glory in the spelling book.

Hollywood film stars, one learns, are wearing earrings again. Adoring flappers may welcome details. "Instead of the long drop earrings that fall from the lobe of the ear to the shoulders, a circular effect is smart. The goddesses of Hollywood may run less to genuine jewels if their employers put over the salary cuts recently announced, but there are always good imitations to be had by them and, fortunately, by their admirers.

Let them go ahead now and wear rings in their noses and barrettes in their lower lips, if they want to. If they do, thousands of worshipful young persons will think it charming, and do likewise.

Indeed, many of us almost over night are beginning to find the polite usher a bit of a nuisance. We gaze around and see stronger-minded folk from Kansas, Nebraska and wherenot, serenely occupying choice seats in the middle center of the house. They have not been fed up on this propaganda that the new movie usher is a Sir Galahad. They refuse to believe his life is consecrated to their future the moment he claps his eyes on them. Maurice Barrymore was famous, among other things, for his wit. At repartee he had no superiors and very few equals in or out of the profession. Once upon a time he scored on another well-known actor without speaking a word, and yet theatrical circles rocked with laughter for weeks afterwards.

Artistically speaking, this other actor was not highly regarded by Barrymore. He belonged to the old school of ranting scenery-eaters for whom Barrymore had a profound contempt. Nevertheless his merits were valued by at least one individual—his manager.

The latter was putting on a classic play, with a really distinguished supporting company and with Barrymore's pet aversion, whom for convenience we will call James Walker, as the featured member. On the day when the bills went up for the forthcoming production Barrymore chanced to pass the Broadway theatre where the piece was to be played.

In the lobby entrance was hung a large poster. Following, as it did the usual form which read as follows:

New Roads for Tourists.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Motor tourists of 1927 are finding or will find thousands of miles of fine new highways available for their use that were under construction last season and held much the same relation to motoring that hazards do to the game of golf. Complete figures on the improved road mileage brought in during the past year in the United States are not available, but estimates place the total well in excess of 10,000 for the Federal Aid system alone.

This bring the aggregate o fimproved highways made possible by the cooperation of the government and the several states to something like 56,000 miles. In addition about 11,000 miles are now under construction and some of that mileage will be opened before the present touring season is over.

Many of the more recently completed highways are important links in the longer tours that motorists take, filling in gaps where paved roads were sadly needed or materially shortening routes that were needlessly long. Most of them, also, are in that sector of the country that would be enclosed in north and south lines drawn through Philadelphia and through Chicago.

Nothing so vexes the motorist as a highway well paved at either end but with a gap of several miles of bad roads in the middle or at any other point. That means taking a longer, round-about route to the objective or attempting to negotiate detours that may lead to grief. Hence the relief to motordom when any such gaps are closed up.

A conspicuous example of this is the direct route from Washington to Winchester, Va., the gateway to the famous Shenandoah valley. Three years ago this road was practically completed save for a gap of a few miles in the foothills of the mountains not far to the east of Winchester, but the gap spelled trouble to motorists in letters a foot high. It meant the risk of getting mired in wet weather and of broken springs, ruined tires, and various kinds of accidents at other times.

Routed Via Harpers Ferry.

As a result, information agencies sent tourists via Frederick, Md., and Harpers Ferry over a route that many of them had covered in whole or in part in reaching Washington. This entailed increased mileage, also, and missing the interesting and beautiful drive on the direct Washington-Winchester highway. Now the annoying gap has been closed and motorists are taking the shorter way from the National Capitol to the Virginia city, and are making it, by the way, in less time than Sheridan made his famous ride with "Winchester twenty miles away."

Another important gap that has been closed in highways in this part of the country is that in the road from Washington to Richmond. This city and the capital of Virginia are now connected by a magnificent highway of the kind that all good motorists expect to find everywhere when they go to heaven. It is not the type of pavement used in the other place which is said to be paved with good intentions. It is a broad concrete ribbon, splendidly based, with easy curves and grades that would not bother a faltering Ford. Moreover now that it has been completed more than 15 miles have been cut off the motoring journey between the two cities and touring to the Southland has been made materially more enjoyable.

Below Richmond there is an important newly completed highway to Wilmington where it connects with an equally new road from Norfolk to Savannah, Ga., whence the main route to Jacksonville and on into Florida may be taken. Down in the latter state there is a new highway from Lake City to St. Petersburg that will delight tourists; also a gap out of Lake City on the main route to New Orleans has been completed.

Heading southward from the Middle West there is a new road from Cleveland to Bristol, Tenn., where it connects with the old road to Asheville and thence with a new direct highway to Atlanta. From Bristol to Knoxville there has been an improved road, but now there is a new one from the latter city to Nashville, where it hooks up with a new one to Memphis and the old ones to Birmingham and to Chattanooga. An important gap from Chattanooga to Atlanta has also been closed.

A Road Long in Building.

A highway, the importance of which was recognized in the earliest days of the Republic, but which has not been completed until the present year, is one to intrigue motorists and to mystify them when they are told that its construction was authorized by, congress more than 130 years ago. They may even be inclined to spoof at the idea and declare that "there ain't no such road." But there is.

It is known as the Defense Highway. It links Washington with Annapolis and is the direct route from the National Capital to Chesapeake bay.

In colonial days, before Baltimore was a flourishing city and before what is now Washington had been thought of as the seat of government of a nation not yet established, it was a post road and a part of the shortest route between the North and the South. It wasn't much of a road, winding its course through clay banks and through or around swampy places, but it was the way that the forefathers traveled in the period when a horse's back was the best means of transportation save under the most favorable weather conditions when chaises or coaches might be used.

Its military importance was seen immediately it had been decided that the National Capitol should be located

Manassa Mauler's Comeback

Jack Dempsey won the right to challenge for the heavyweight championship crown, which he lost to Gene Tunney at Philadelphia one year ago, by his slashing victory last night over Josef Paul Cukoschay, Lithuanian, who calls himself Jack Sharkey.

The Manassa man mauler, as the ex-champion is known, is again the popular idol of the pugilistic world, by reason of a left hook to Sharkey's jaw in the seventh round of their scheduled 15-round battle at Yankee Stadium, New York.

The end came suddenly after Dempsey had administered a merciless barrage of punishment to the Bostonian's body in one of the wildest fights in puglistic history, and earned for the one-time champion the plaudits of 84,000 fans, most of whom had been cheering for the underdog.

As one writer says, the victorious blow, with all Dempsey's 194 1-2 pounds behind it, knocked all the gab as well as the heart out of the talkative Sharkey, who, until a few minutes before the bell for the first round, had been a favorite in the betting.

And despite the Boston man's claim of foul, which was not borne out by the physicians' examination of the Lithuanian after he was carried from his corner, Dempsey's victory was clean cut. And, too, it proved that although 32 years old, he still has the punch and stamina to exchange blows with the best in the business.

Dempsey's return from Hasbeenville, to which most of the so-called experts had exiled him, was spectacular. He is undoubtedly the best heavyweight of the day, excepting, of course, the man who defeated him in the City of Brotherly Love. And his defeat of Sharkey affords him the opportunity to demonstrate whether or not he can upset all precedent by regaining the crown he has lost. The September battle between Dempsey and Tunney should break all box office records.

KANSAS BUILDS NATURAL GAS HELIUM PLANT

Million Dollar Factory is Second in Country.

TEXAS FIRST

Plan to Supply U. S. With Fuel for Dirigibles.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kansas.—Construction has started on a plant for the extraction of helium from natural gas, at Dexter, near here. The plant will be the second in the United States for the manufacture of helium gas, and will be built at at cost of $1,000,000. The first and only such plant in the United States at present, is located at Fort Worth, Texas.

The plant at Dexter is being built by the Kentucky Oxygen and Hydrogen company. Contracts have been signed with the United States government to supply the government with a large part of the gas.

In Big Field.

The helium field is said to extend for several mils in all directions from Dexter. The field was discovered during the world war, at which time the government made a survey and announced plans for the construction of a plant there. However, the end of the war culminated the existing demand for the gas and the plans were dropped.

In Natural Gas.

Professor H. P. Cady, head of the department of chemistry of the University of Kansas, is the scientist who first discovered the gas as a component of natural gas. He was experimenting on samples from Dexter wells when he made this remarkable contribution to aviation. Prof. Cady was interested in Dexter's experience with its natural gas twenty years ago. Wells were drilled and a good supply of natural gas brought in. The gas was piped for homes and business uses and not until then was it discovered that the gas would not burn without being primed with a kindling fire.

The natural gas at Dexter is said to contain as high as 2 per cent helium whereas the richest of the Fort Worth wells contains only about 1 per cent.

Ancient Cross Erected.

One hundred years after its discovery, a Celtic cross more than 1,000 years old was erected during a ceremony held recently in St. Patrick's church, Ballmena, Ireland. The cross was unearthed in 1827 while a ditch was being dug in the Kirconriola church yard, near Ballmena, and placed in the tower of the church, where it remained until 1879, when the church was burned. It was lost until recently, and was found broken in three pieces in the cellar of Ballymena Castle. The cross is of rough, hard limestone, 22 inches long and about three inches thick. The inscription was carved early in the tenth century.

France will pay $3,000,000 in subsidies to aviation companies this year.

CHARLES RAY AT THE STRAND

May McAvoy Also Plays in "Fire Brigade."

Not since Charles Ray played in "The Girl I Loved" has he had a part that approached in dramatic sincerity that of Terry O'Neill in "The Fire Brigade," the epic love story at the Strand theatre today and tomorrow. Terry O'Neill is a part that would delight the heart of any actor, and one that has afforded Ray opportunities he has never before been granted. # KANSAS BUILDS NATURAL GAS HELIUM PLANT

Million Dollar Factory is Second in Country.

TEXAS FIRST

Plan to Supply U. S. With Fuel for Dirigibles.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kansas.—Construction has started on a plant for the extraction of helium from natural gas, at Dexter, near here. The plant will be the second in the United States for the manufacture of helium gas, and will be built at at cost of $1,000,000. The first and only such plant in the United States at present, is located at Fort Worth, Texas.

The plant at Dexter is being built by the Kentucky Oxygen and Hydrogen company. Contracts have been signed with the United States government to supply the government with a large part of the gas.

In Big Field.

The helium field is said to extend for several mils in all directions from Dexter. The field was discovered during the world war, at which time the government made a survey and announced plans for the construction of a plant there. However, the end of the war culminated the existing demand for the gas and the plans were dropped.

on the Potomac between Georgetown and Alexandria, and in 1795 congress passed an act authorizing the improvement of the road. No money was appropriated, however, and the project was held up for more than a century and a quarter.

Finally, when there was no longer the military necessity of a good road on the shortest possible route from Washington to Chesapeake bay, congress made financial provision for its construction with the cooperation of the state of Maryland. Even then there was delay in procuring the necessary funds and it is only within the past few days that the highway has been formally dedicated, although it has been open to the public for several months.

This new highway starts from Bladensburg, now a suburb of Washington, which is famed as a duelling ground in early American romanticism and as the site of the near battle that earned the British their chance to burn the White House in the War of 1812. It traverses a countryside that is poor in agricultural products today, but rich in history and tradition. Dedication ceremonies participated in by officials of the District of Columbia and the state of Maryland, were held at The Priests' Bridge over the Patuxent river.

This bridge replaces a wooden structure built by Jesuit missionaries about the middle of the 18th century and is near to Whitemarsh, which is one of the American shrines of Catholics. It was there that the meeting was held in 1784 that led to the appointment of John Carroll as the prefect apostolic of the Catholic church in the United States and headed off the then probable creation of a French bishop for the church in this country.

on the Potomac between Georgetown and Alexandria, and in 1795 congress passed an act authorizing the improvement of the road. No money was appropriated, however, and the project was held up for more than a century and a quarter.

Finally, when there was no longer the military necessity of a good road on the shortest possible route from Washington to Chesapeake bay, congress made financial provision for its construction with the cooperation of the state of Maryland. Even then there was delay in procuring the necessary funds and it is only within the past few days that the highway has been formally dedicated, although it has been open to the public for several months.

This new highway starts from Bladensburg, now a suburb of Washington, which is famed as a dueling ground in early American romanticism and as the site of the near battle that earned the British their chance to burn the White House in the War of 1812. It traverses a countryside that is poor in agricultural products today, but rich in history and tradition. Dedication ceremonies participated in by officials of the District of Columbia and the state of Maryland, were held at The Priests' Bridge over the Patuxent river.

This bridge replaces a wooden structure built by Jesuit missionaries about the middle of the 18th century and is near to Whitemarsh, which is one of the American shrines of Catholics. It was there that the meeting was held in 1784 that led to the appointment of John Carroll as the prefect apostolic of the Catholic church in the United States and headed off the then probable creation of a French bishop for the church in this country.

CANADIAN LIQUOR IS SMUGGLED INTO CITIES OF OHIO

DEFY HAZARDS

Fourteen Federal Men Watch 300-mile Line.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

CLEVELAND, O., July 22.—Three hundred miles of Lake Erie shore line between Toledo, and Erie, Pa., along which there are only two United States customs boats, is known to lake shipping men as "Ontario's Gold Coast." It is the fairyland of rum runners who have organized the business of supplying Ohio.

Despite the hazards of open lake navigation and the combined efforts of the state and federal enforcement organizations, the Canadian liquor smuggling traffic on historic Lake Erie has expanded at such an alarming rate during recent months that it has forced the re-establishment here of the border patrol force abandoned in March, 1926, when customs officers believed the Ohio's rum row had been wiped out.

Resuming operations on the 300-mile patrol with 14 men and two boats after an open season of 15 months, Customs Collector A. P. Fenton, in charge of the Cleveland operating base, found the smuggling trade again enmeshed in the legitimate lake commerce.

Detroit and Toledo Get Bulk.

Although Cleveland's liquor receipts are considerably larger than a year ago, they are still relatively unimportant as compared with the volume of Canadian stocks entering Detroit and Toledo, according to prohibition operatives. Little of the Cleveland stock goes beyond the city by truck, whereas at the western end of Lake Erie, almost half of the Toledo landings are trucked inland to Ohio, Michigan and Indiana, some of it reaching as far west as Chicago and as far south as Cincinnati.

Besides being twice as far from the Ontario shores as Toledo, Cleveland's smugglers are hampered by District Attorney A. E. Bernstein, celebrated throughout the country as one of the most drastic prohibition prosecutors in the department of justice. Greater hazards of navigation in the open lake to Cleveland, bring Canadian whiskey to $10.00 a quart here, as against $4.00 to $5.00 n Detroit and $4.50 to $6.00 in Toledo.

Even these handicaps, however, have not driven the rum craft from Lake Erie and 851 prohibition convictions in the federal courts for the Northern Ohio district in the year ending July 1 have had little influence upon the speed boat traffic and blind cargoes which are the main source of supply for Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Canton, Sandusky, Toledo and Columbus. Only ten prosecutions in the Cleveland and Toledo federal courts last year involved lake carriers in the liquor trade. Only four seizures have been made since the re-establishment of the Toledo Erie patrol on June 1.

Watch Other Ports.

In addition to maintaining a constant vigil along 300 miles of open coast, Cleveland's force is required to keep a watchful eye on the important ports of Toledo, Cleveland, Sandusky, Port Clinton, Lorain, Ashtabula and Erie.

While the two customs boats skirt the coast's "Hot Points" in an attempt to drive off the high powered motor launches which dart in almost at will, lake steamers push into the public docks to land blind cargoes of 50 to 200 cases. When the customs officials direct their limited equipment to the wholesale dock shipments, the swift speedboats take up the trade under cover of night to lure the patrol boats again into the open lake.

Only a 24-hour shore guard can curb the speed boat traffic, prohibition officials say. Built to move in as little as six inches of water, the boats sweep up to the beach wherever their shore signal lights tell them the coast is clear. Unloading crews in hip boots drag the craft to a land anchorage and pass the cargo, man to man, to waiting trucks.

Taking advantage of the fact that the rum boats cover between 45 and 55 miles an hour as against a maximum speed of 30 miles an hour for the United States government patrol craft, the smugglers have devised a large-scale game of blind-man's-buff for the entire Ohio border.

TODAY

that Uncle Sam has no business dictating to Nicaragua, but he was wrong in his judgment of airplanes in war.

Sandino, who called himself "The wild beast of the mountains," told his followers that Uncle Sam's airplanes and bombs "only made a noise." A few bombs dropped by American fliers killed 200 of his followers, according to late reports, and probably killed more than ran wounded into the woods and died.

Sandino, abandoned by his army, hiding in some wild part of Nicaragua, is amuch surprised "wild beast of the mountains."

THERE would be some surprised statesmen in Washington if we had war in this country, with foreign airplanes treating our cities as Uncle Sam treated Sandino's followers.

FREY TO HEAD OHIO LABOR

Re-election of Cincinnati Expected at Middletown Meet.

MIDDLETOWN, O., July 22.—Election of officers today will mark the closing of the annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Labor here. The delegates are expected to re-elect John P. Frey, Cincinnati, president, and Thomas I. Donnelly, Columbus, secretary-treasurer. Donnelly has held this position 14 consecutive terms.

The work of organizing non-partisan political committees and committees for promotion of industrial safety throughout Ohio is to be launched by the federation at once, it was stated.

In connection with the industrial safety program, a state-wide meeting, it was stated, of laborers and employes will be held soon, under the auspices of the Ohio industrial commission.

Touching upon the federation's non-partisan political policy, President Frey stated that while there is no intention of inducing any union worker to leave his, or her, party, "labor does not intend to be bound to the chariot wheel of any one political party because of the beliefs of the individual."

DEMPSEY-TUNNEY FILM IS COMING

Slow motion pictures, showing the important punches, will feature the film showing the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship fight at Philadelphia last September, which will be presented at the Columbia theatre, all next week starting Monday.

From the opening gong of the first round to the bell in the tenth and final round there is nothing but action and plenty of it in the film. All the preliminary screening in connection with the fight has been eliminated but the fight fan will see each and every round of the big battle in which Gene Tunney, World war veteran, wrested the world's heavyweight championship from Jack Dempsey.

This will be the first time that the picture of the entire bout has been shown in East Liverpool. It will be shown at both the matinee and evening performances.

EX-COP GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

CHARDON, July 22.—After deliberating four hours a Geauga county jury returned a verdict of manslaughter in the case of William Richardson, former Cleveland policeman, who was tried for first degree murder, in connection with the death of Benjamin Barber, near Chagrin Falls, several weeks ago. Barber was beaten to death during a fight.

REPORT IS HIT

Workmen Clean up Robyville Mine, He Says.

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 22.—Reports that machine guns, rifles and ammunition had been imported by mine owners in the Adena district, scene of several minor disturbances since the suspension of coal mining in Ohio last April 1, are without foundation, and the situation is very quiet, according to announcement from the office of Sheriff W. T. Allison here today.

The Robyville mine, near Adena, owned by the Pittsburgh Coal company, at present has but a handful of men who are engaged in cleaning up the workings and preparing for reopening of the mine, according to the announcement. No resumption of actual mining was expected before six or seven weeks, in any event, it was said.

Union leaders in the district, while maintaining a picket patrol, were remaining silent concerning the operators' announcement that the mines would be opened under a non-union wage scale. Preparations were going forward to open several mines.

The announcement from the sheriff's office stated that there was no truth in the report that strikebreakers were being brought into the Adena district.

no cause for complaint, he declared.

President Kerr named Solons Poole, Kelly and Goodballet to represent council in a conference with a committee of the property owners to be named later. The complaint will be investigated before the next meeting of council.

Urge Plumbing Inspector Job.

J. T. Croxall, chairman, and Attorney George L. Brokaw, a member, of the health board, appeared before council to urge passage of an ordinance which provides for the appointment of the city engineer as plumbing inspector at an annual salary of $300 and also calls for the licensing of all plumbers in the city.

The proposed measure was enacted without a dissenting vote on first reading, but was halted when an effort was made to suspend the rules. Councilmen Farrall, Kommel, Kelly, Poole and Goodballet voting against it while Hayes and Hughes supported it. Farrall declared that he wanted to know where the $300 to pay the plumbing inspector was coming from. Kelly and Poole said the ordinance did not make it mandatory for the health board to place the inspection work upon the city engineer. Croxall and Brokaw said that the city engineer had already been appointed to this post.

Council decided to return the ordinance to the city solicitor for a new draft in which the suggested changes will be made. The proposed legislations will be brought up for reconsideration at the next meeting.

Seeks Leake on Alley.

A petition asking the city to place McKee avenue in a passable condition was read and referred to the street committee.

Request of Frank Kountz for a reduction of the assessment on his property in West Eighth street was referred to the claims committee.

John White requested that the city grant him a long lease on an alley in Klondyke, which leads from Ohio avenue to the river bank. He expressed a willingness to pay $5 a year for the use of the land. Council instructed the ordinance committee bring in legislation providing for this lease for a period of 25 years.

Property owners near the corner of Park and Oakland avenues, East End, submitted a petition requesting a street light. This request was referred to the service director following a lengthy discussion.

Another request from Second street property owners pleading for a reduction in the assessments for the resurfacing of that thoroughfare was referred to the claims committee.

Councilmen Kelly and President Kerr engaged in a verbal battle regarding statements the latter is alleged to have made regarding negotiations between the franchise committee and the traction company in the Thompson park line controversy. Councilman Farrall, also a member of the franchise committee, defended the committee.

Improvement Legislation.

Six ordinances and resolutions, four of them providing for street improvement jobs, were enacted on three readings under suspension of the rules. They were:

Resolution declaring it necessary to grade Montgomery avenue, from Jennings avenue to an unnamed alley.

Resolution declaring it necessary to resurface East Ninth street from Woodlawn to Lincoln avenues.

Resolution, declaring it necessary to grade and pave Harker avenue from Sylvan to Central avenue.

Resolution declaring it necessary to grade and pave Brady alley from Fawcett street to Watson avenue.

Resolution transferring $495 from the general fund to the service department fund to pay the city's share of the cost of the proposed Tanyard run sewer.

Resolution authorizing the service-safety director to advertise for bids for the furnishing of 150 tons of cast iron pipe and fittings for the Water works department.

Councilman Farrall suggested the enactment of legislation changing the names of alleys to "places" or "courts" as suggested by the city planning commission. He said that the term "alley" had been dropped by most of the larger cities. The matter was referred to the ordinance committee, which will work in conjunction with the city engineer.

SCAN PHOTOS FOR BANDITS

Shelby County Looks in Vain for $40,000 Loot.

COLUMBUS, O., July 22.—Accompanied by Sheriff S. E. Dilbone and Police Chief William O'Leary, of Sidney, Alphonse Berry, Shelby county treasurer, is expected to arrive at Ohio penitentiary today and make an effort to identify, from photographs of criminals in the prison record room, the three bandits who, Berry stated, forced him into an auto at Sidney Wednesday and robbed him of $12,000 in cash and $28,000 in non-negotiable checks.

If his quest is futile, Berry may then go to Fort Hayes, the U. S. army post here, and see if he can identify his assailants among the photographs of men who formerly served in the army and are believed to be criminals.

Police here were notified that the Shelby county commissioners have offered a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the three bandits.

No Quiz of Blow

foul blow struck. The punch that Dempsey gave Sharkey and which was one of the deciding factors in the fight was a blow in the pit of the stomach. This blow, which I saw very clearly, caused Sharkey to drop his guard. Sharkey's hand dropped and the punch to the jaw that followed knocked Sharkey out.

"The photoes show plainly that this is a fact. Sharkey dropped to his knees and didn't buckle like a man hit low. I have seen so many fights that I know this is correct. Sharkey has made no complaint to me. Neither has his manager, Buckley.

Official Figures on Gate.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The gate for the Dempsey-Sharkey fight fell about $15,000 short of a million dollars.

The bureau of internal revenue announced today that total paid admissions were 9985,027. There were 77,283 paid admissions.

The federal tax from the gate is $98,502.

These figures were submitted to the bureau by L. J. Campbell, superintendent of accounts and collections in New York.

CAROL REGRETS HE THREW AWAY ROYAL CROWN

CORRECTS SCRIBE

BY WILLIAM P. CARNEY.

(Copyright, 1927, by I. N. S.)

PARIS, July 22.—Former Crown Prince Carol, of Roumania, is "the man who would be king."

Tardy realization of previous follies have succeeded Carol's genuine grief of two days over the death of his father, King Ferdinand.

Carol is grieving today because he threw away the crown. Until today in numerous long talks with the former crown prince, the correspondents always addressed him as "Your Highness." When the International News Service correspondent was received by Carol this morning, he used the same greeting.

After a strained silence, Mme. Lupescu, the beautiful, red haired Roumanian woman with whom Carol has been living in Neuilly, made the correcting remark:

"It is his majesty, please."

Considers Himself King.

Carol seemed relieved. His attitude indicated plainly that he considers himself a rightful king.

Realizing that he lost the Roumanian throne through folly, Carol seems annoyed slightly by Mme. Lupescu's presence for the first time. Evidently he realizes how incongrous it was that she should be at his side when he heard the news of his father's death.

The former crown prince has to admit himself that Mme. Lupescu's presence embarrasses his family in their communications with him. On the other hand, Mme. Lupescu apparently fails to notice the change in Carol.

It would not be surprising, Carol's friends declare, if, in his effort to be dignified and show a kingly demeanor, Carol deserted his beautiful companion.

Carol has not received a reply to his request for permission to attend his father's funeral at Bucharest.

If Carol remains in Paris, he insists he will attend a memorial service in the Roumanian church on Sunday, waving aside the warning that a plotter may attack him if he shows himself in public.

TWO MEN FLEE AT LANCASTER

Men Head Toward West Virginia After Jail Break.

LANCASTER, Ohio, July 22.—Authorities here today were inclined to believe that Charles E. Smith, 49, alias Peck Oyler and Herman Ester, 18, alias John Foley, who escaped from the county jail here Thursday night, are headed toward West Virginia.

Other jail prisoners today told officials that Smith, in conversations with them, announced intention of trying to get into West Virginia if he escaped from the jail.

Music of a band in a parade passing the jail drowned out the noise occasioned by Smith and Ester who pried an opening in a cell door. Opening a window leading to an adjoining roof, they made their getaway.

A PICTORIAL SERIAL STORY Featuring "The Night of Love." Complete in The Review-Tribune.

Strapped to a mule, the proud Duke Bernardo was lugged to the bandit lair like so much meal. His bride, Marie, the beautiful captive, was treated with more consideration. But in the bandit's tower by the sea, Montero, the gypsy, became menacing.

In the presence of Marie's spouse, bound to a piller, Montero toasted both in a flagon of ducal wine, and announced that he would treat her exactly as his Romany bride had been treated by the Duke. A roar of almost insane rage from the Duke greeted this taunt.

At first Marie haughtily tossed her head, and tried to wither the presumptous outlaw with her frowns. But realizing him to be in deadly earnest, she dashed to the window to escape. Monero challenged her to leap from the high tower.

But Marie was of no less heroic libre than the gypsy's ill-fated bride. She leaped. She was found insensible on the beach below. The outlaw so far softened as to carry her with tenderness back to the room which was her prison. The Duke he sent back home frantic with mental anguish.

CANADIAN LIQUOR IS SMUGGLED INTO CITIES OF OHIO

Fourteen Federal Men Watch 300-mile Line.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

CLEVELAND, O., July 22.—Three hundred miles of Lake Erie shore line between Toledo, and Erie, Pa., along which there are only two United States customs boats, is known to lake shipping men as "Ontario's Gold Coast." It is the fairyland of rum runners who have organized the business of supplying Ohio.

Despite the hazards of open lake navigation and the combined efforts of the state and federal enforcement organizations, the Canadian liquor smuggling traffic on historic Lake Erie has expanded at such an alarming rate during recent months that it has forced the re-establishment here of the border patrol force abandoned in March, 1926, when customs officers believed the Ohio's rum row had been wiped out.

Resuming operations on the 300-mile patrol with 14 men and two boats after an open season of 15 months, Customs Collector A. P. Fenton, in charge of the Cleveland operating base, found the smuggling trade again enmeshed in the legitimate lake commerce.

Detroit and Toledo Get Bulk.

Although Cleveland's liquor receipts are considerably larger than a year ago, they are still relatively unimportant as compared with the volume of Canadian stocks entering Detroit and Toledo, according to prohibition operatives. Little of the Cleveland stock goes beyond the city by truck, whereas at the western end of Lake Erie, almost half of the Toledo landings are trucked inland to Ohio, Michigan and Indiana, some of it reaching as far west as Chicago and as far south as Cincinnati.

Besides being twice as far from the Ontario shores as Toledo, Cleveland's smugglers are hampered by District Attorney A. E. Bernstein, celebrated throughout the country as one of the most drastic prohibition prosecutors in the department of justice. Greater hazards of navigation in the open lake to Cleveland, bring Canadian whiskey to $10.00 a quart here, as against $4.00 to $5.00 in Detroit and $4.50 to $6.00 in Toledo.

Even these handicaps, however, have not driven the rum craft from Lake Erie and 851 prohibition convictions in the federal courts for the Northern Ohio district in the year ending July 1 have had little influence upon the speed boat traffic and blind cargoes which are the main source of supply for Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Canton, Sandusky, Toledo and Columbus. Only ten prosecutions in the Cleveland and Toledo federal courts last year involved lake carriers in the liquor trade. Only four seizures have been made since the re-establishment of the Toledo Erie patrol on June 1.

Watch Other Ports.

In addition to maintaining a constant vigil along 300 miles of open coast, Cleveland's force is required to keep a watchful eye on the important ports of Toledo, Cleveland, Sandusky, Port Clinton, Lorain, Ashtabula and Erie.

While the two customs boats skirt the coast's "Hot Points" in an attempt to drive off the high powered motor launches which dart in almost at will, lake steamers push into the public docks to land blind cargoes of 50 to 200 cases. When the customs officials direct their limited equipment to the wholesale dock shipments, the swift speedboats take up the trade under cover of night to lure the patrol boats again into the open lake.

Only a 24-hour shore guard can curb the speed boat traffic, prohibition officials say. Built to move in as little as six inches of water, the boats sweep up to the beach wherever their shore signal lights tell them the coast is clear. Unloading crews in hip boots drag the craft to a land anchorage and pass the cargo, man to man, to waiting trucks.

Taking advantage of the fact that the rum boats cover between 45 and 55 miles an hour as against a maximum speed of 30 miles an hour for the United States government patrol craft, the smugglers have devised a large-scale game of blind-man's-buff for the entire Ohio border.

that Uncle Sam has no business dictating to Nicaragua, but he was wrong in his judgment of airplanes in war.

Sandino, who called himself "The wild beast of the mountains," told his followers that Uncle Sam's airplanes and bombs "only made a noise." A few bombs dropped by American fliers killed 200 of his followers, according to late reports, and probably killed more than ran wounded into the woods and died.

Sandino, abandoned by his army, hiding in some wild part of Nicaragua, is amuch surprised "wild beast of the mountains."

THERE would be some surprised statesmen in Washington if we had war in this country, with foreign airplanes treating our cities as Uncle Sam treated Sandino's followers.

FREY TO HEAD OHIO LABOR

Re-election of Cincinnati Expected at Middletown Meet.

MIDDLETOWN, O., July 22.—Election of officers today will mark the closing of the annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Labor here. The delegates are expected to re-elect John P. Frey, Cincinnati, president, and Thomas I. Donnelly, Columbus, secretary-treasurer. Donnelly has held this position 14 consecutive terms.

The work of organizing non-partisan political committees and committees for promotion of industrial safety throughout Ohio is to be launched by the federation at once, it was stated.

In connection with the industrial safety program, a state-wide meeting, it was stated, of laborers and employes will be held soon, under the auspices of the Ohio industrial commission.

Touching upon the federation's non-partisan political policy, President Frey stated that while there is no intention of inducing any union worker to leave his, or her, party, "labor does not intend to be bound to the chariot wheel of any one political party because of the beliefs of the individual."

DEMPSEY-TUNNEY FILM IS COMING

Slow motion pictures, showing the important punches, will feature the film showing the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship fight at Philadelphia last September, which will be presented at the Columbia theatre, all next week starting Monday.

From the opening gong of the first round to the bell in the tenth and final round there is nothing but action and plenty of it in the film. All the preliminary screening in connection with the fight has been eliminated but the fight fan will see each and every round of the big battle in which Gene Tunney, World war veteran, wrested the world's heavyweight championship from Jack Dempsey.

This will be the first time that the picture of the entire bout has been shown in East Liverpool. It will be shown at both the matinee and evening performances.

no cause for complaint, he declared.

President Kerr named Solons Poole, Kelly and Goodballet to represent council in a conference with a committee of the property owners to be named later. The complaint will be investigated before the next meeting of council.

Urge Plumbing Inspector Job.

J. T. Croxall, chairman, and Attorney George L. Brokaw, a member, of the health board, appeared before council to urge passage of an ordinance which provides for the appointment of the city engineer as plumbing inspector at an annual salary of $300 and also calls for the licensing of all plumbers in the city.

The proposed measure was enacted without a dissenting vote on first reading, but was halted when an effort was made to suspend the rules. Councilmen Farrall, Kommel, Kelly, Poole and Goodballet voting against it while Hayes and Hughes supported it. Farrall declared that he wanted to know where the $300 to pay the plumbing inspector was coming from. Kelly and Poole said the ordinance did not make it mandatory for the health board to place the inspection work upon the city engineer. Croxall and Brokaw said that the city engineer had already been appointed to this post.

Council decided to return the ordinance to the city solicitor for a new draft in which the suggested changes will be made. The proposed legislations will be brought up for reconsideration at the next meeting.

Seeks Leake on Alley.

A petition asking the city to place McKee avenue in a passable condition was read and referred to the street committee.

Request of Frank Kountz for a reduction of the assessment on his property in West Eighth street was referred to the claims committee.

John White requested that the city grant him a long lease on an alley in Klondyke, which leads from Ohio avenue to the river bank. He expressed a willingness to pay $5 a year for the use of the land. Council instructed the ordinance committee bring in legislation providing for this lease for a period of 25 years.

Property owners near the corner of Park and Oakland avenues, East End, submitted a petition requesting a street light. This request was referred to the service director following a lengthy discussion.

Another request from Second street property owners pleading for a reduction in the assessments for the resurfacing of that thoroughfare was referred to the claims committee.

Councilmen Kelly and President Kerr engaged in a verbal battle regarding statements the latter is alleged to have made regarding negotiations between the franchise committee and the traction company in the Thompson park line controversy. Councilman Farrall, also a member of the franchise committee, defended the committee.

Improvement Legislation.

Six ordinances and resolutions, four of them providing for street improvement jobs, were enacted on three readings under suspension of the rules. They were:

Resolution declaring it necessary to grade Montgomery avenue, from Jennings avenue to an unnamed alley.

Resolution declaring it necessary to resurface East Ninth street from Woodlawn to Lincoln avenues.

Resolution, declaring it necessary to grade and pave Harker avenue from Sylvan to Central avenue.

Resolution declaring it necessary to grade and pave Brady alley from Fawcett street to Watson avenue.

Resolution transferring $495 from the general fund to the service department fund to pay the city's share of the cost of the proposed Tanyard run sewer.

Resolution authorizing the service-safety director to advertise for bids for the furnishing of 150 tons of cast iron pipe and fittings for the Water works department.

Councilman Farrall suggested the enactment of legislation changing the names of alleys to "places" or "courts" as suggested by the city planning commission. He said that the term "alley" had been dropped by most of the larger cities. The matter was referred to the ordinance committee, which will work in conjunction with the city engineer.

GANGSTERS CLASH; 1 DEAD, 3 SHOT

DETROIT, July 22.—An underworld feud between rival gangsters last night, resulted in the death of one man and the wounding of his three companions.

Henry Caplan, 22, is dead, and Lewis Fleisher, 22, Edward Factor, 19, and Samuel Drattin, 18, are suffering from gunshot wounds.

SCAN PHOTOS FOR BANDITS

Shelby County Looks in Vain for $40,000 Loot.

COLUMBUS, O., July 22.—Accompanied by Sheriff S. E. Dilbone and Police Chief William O'Leary, of Sidney, Alphonse Berry, Shelby county treasurer, is expected to arrive at Ohio penitentiary today and make an effort to identify, from photographs of criminals in the prison record room, the three bandits who, Berry stated, forced him into an auto at Sidney Wednesday and robbed him of $12,000 in cash and $28,000 in non-negotiable checks.

If his quest is futile, Berry may then go to Fort Hayes, the U. S. army post here, and see if he can identify his assailants among the photographs of men who formerly served in the army and are believed to be criminals.

Police here were notified that the Shelby county commissioners have offered a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the three bandits.

No Quiz of Blow

foul blow struck. The punch that Dempsey gave Sharkey and which was one of the deciding factors in the fight was a blow in the pit of the stomach. This blow, which I saw very clearly, caused Sharkey to drop his guard. Sharkey's hand dropped and the punch to the jaw that followed knocked Sharkey out.

"The photoes show plainly that this is a fact. Sharkey dropped to his knees and didn't buckle like a man hit low. I have seen so many fights that I know this is correct. Sharkey has made no complaint to me. Neither has his manager, Buckley.

Official Figures on Gate

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The gate for the Dempsey-Sharkey fight fell about $15,000 short of a million dollars.

The bureau of internal revenue announced today that total paid admissions were 985,027. There were 77,283 paid admissions.

The federal tax from the gate is $98,502.

CAROL REGRETS HE THREW AWAY ROYAL CROWN

Realization of Follies Succeed Grief of Roumanian.

BY WILLIAM P. CARNEY.

(Copyright, 1927, by I. N. S.)

PARIS, July 22.—Former Crown Prince Carol, of Roumania, is "the man who would be king."

Tardy realization of previous follies have succeeded Carol's genuine grief of two days over the death of his father, King Ferdinand.

Carol is grieving today because he threw away the crown. Until today in numerous long talks with the former crown prince, the correspondents always addressed him as "Your Highness." When the International News Service correspondent was received by Carol this morning, he used the same greeting.

After a strained silence, Mme. Lupescu, the beautiful, red haired Roumanian woman with whom Carol has been living in Neuilly, made the correcting remark:

"It is his majesty, please."

Considers Himself King.

Carol seemed relieved. His attitude indicated plainly that he considers himself a rightful king.

Realizing that he lost the Roumanian throne through folly, Carol seems annoyed slightly by Mme. Lupescu's presence for the first time. Evidently he realizes how incongrous it was that she should be at his side when he heard the news of his father's death.

The former crown prince has to admit himself that Mme. Lupescu's presence embarrasses his family in their communications with him. On the other hand, Mme. Lupescu apparently fails to notice the change in Carol.

It would not be surprising, Carol's friends declare, if, in his effort to be dignified and show a kingly demeanor, Carol deserted his beautiful companion.

Carol has not received a reply to his request for permission to attend his father's funeral at Bucharest.

If Carol remains in Paris, he insists he will attend a memorial service in the Roumanian church on Sunday, waving aside the warning that a plotter may attack him if he shows himself in public.

Men Head Toward West Virginia After Jail Break.

LANCASTER, Ohio, July 22.—Authorities here today were inclined to believe that Charles E. Smith, 49, alias Peck Oyler and Herman Ester, 18, alias John Foley, who escaped from the county jail here Thursday night, are headed toward West Virginia.

Other jail prisoners today told officials that Smith, in conversations with them, announced intention of trying to get into West Virginia if he escaped from the jail.

Music of a band in a parade passing the jail drowned out the noise occasioned by Smith and Ester who pried an opening in a cell door. Opening a window leading to an adjoining roof, they made their getaway.

A PICTORIAL SERIAL STORY Featuring "The Night of Love." Complete in The Review-Tribune.

Strapped to a mule, the proud Duke Bernardo was lugged to the bandit lair like so much meal. His bride, Marie, the beautiful captive, was treated with more consideration. But in the bandit's tower by the sea, Montero, the gypsy, became menacing.

In the presence of Marie's spouse, bound to a piller, Montero toasted both in a flagon of ducal wine, and announced that he would treat her exactly as his Romany bride had been treated by the Duke. A roar of almost insane rage from the Duke greeted this taunt.

At first Marie haughtily tossed her head, and tried to wither the presumptous outlaw with her frowns. But realizing him to be in deadly earnest, she dashed to the window to escape. Monero challenged her to leap from the high tower.

But Marie was of no less heroic libre than the gypsy's ill-fated bride. She leaped. She was found insensible on the beach below. The outlaw so far softened as to carry her with tenderness back to the room which was her prison. The Duke he sent back home frantic with mental anguish.

LURE OF PARIS OUSTS RENO AS DIVORCE MECCA

Joys of European Trip Winning Over Nevada City.

GAY LIFE, TOO

Marital Misfits are Undone by Seine Tribunal.

NEW YORK. — Reno is losing its prestige as the divorce mecca of wealthy and socially prominent Americans. The lure of Paris and the Seine Tribunal, where marital misfits are undone with a minimum of inconvenience and discomfort are making serious inroads into the heretofore prosperous industry of the Nevada desert metropolis.

First, there is the trip itself. Who would not prefer the pleasure of an ocean voyage on a comfortable and commodious trans-Atlantic liner, equipped with every luxury, landing one at Havre or Cherbourg, with a short boat-train trip to Paris, all within a week, to five days across the American continent aboard a cramped and stuffy train to Reno?

Reno Loses Ground.

It may be a bit surprising to discover that as Reno is losing ground in divorces it is gaining in marriages at a rate that within a few years promises to elevate the marrying parson to a higher pinnacle than the divorcing judge.

In 1925 Nevada had 1,233 marriages, which in 1926 jumped to 1,228, a gain of 106. Reno's share in 1925 was 513, which had increased in 1326 to 558, a gain of 45, a bigger gain in marriages than loss in divorces.

The last year was no exception. The trend has been about the same for several years since Americans began flocking to Paris to do their divorce shopping, along with their shopping for hats and lingerie.

A Short Wait.

And then the wait of a few months to establish a residence and get a separation decree. How much pleasanter that time can be spent in Paris with its operas, revues, cabarets, night clubs, boulevard cafes, dance palaces and what not, than in Reno with its scant 12,000 population, and virtually nothing to do but wait, there on the fringe of a desert and mountain waste.

The answer is, clear. Paris wins. And to prove it the United States census bureau, which delves into all kinds of statistics, is just out with figures showing how Reno's divorce industry is on the decline.

In 1925 courts in the state of Nevada granted a total of 1,082 divorces of which 798 were awarded at Reno. In 1926 the state's total had slumped to 1,021, with Reno's quota down to 756, a loss for the state of 61 and for Reno of 42 in the year.

BODY COVERED WITH TORTURING ECZEMA

Doctor prescribed soothing home remedy and healed trouble

Eolia, Mo., Aug. 19:—"Some months ago my daughter developed a bad case of eczema which spread almost all over her body. After days and weeks of distress caused by this skin trouble from which she could get no relief our physician prescribed Resinol Ointment. The first few applications brought signs of healing and the burning sensation was less severe. After several weeks' use of the product not a symptom of this terrible trouble remained. I hope others will be helped as my daughter was by your wonderful Resinol Ointment."—(Signed) Mrs. M. F. Downing, Route 1.

LIMELIGHT RIM

NOTHING BUT EXERCISE.

NEW YORK—For once New York City has failed to provide an official welcome. After running the 260 miles of hard, hot roads from Boston to the metropolis, William Busch, carrying a sign on his back, "The Spirit of Charlestown," arrived in Times Square. Not an official was there to greet him. Even his own backers forgot to be on hands and the runner was forced to apply to the newspapers for clothing. Busch made the trip in 58 hours and expected to find a delegation waiting to receive him.

CITIZEN'S SECEDE.

BALTIMORE—Baltimore city officials engaged in a war on the pigeons that make their home around the city hall have more than the birds to contend with. After a large trap had been erected to snare the birds the citizenry protested and toted baskets of grain and bread crumbs to the scene. Followed a feast such as the pigeons had never before dreamed of And now, well-fed, they won't approach the food-laden trap.

American pianos are being played in nearly every country in the world.

Fully 43,000,000 pounds of tea were exported by India last year.

Out for Record

Lieutenants Dieudonne Coste, top, and Rignot, French aces, have been preparing to attempt to break endurance records set by American aviators, either in a flight to the United States or one toward India, a longer distance.

BODY COVERED WITH TORTURING ECZEMA

Doctor prescribed soothing home remedy and healed trouble

Eolia, Mo., Aug. 19:—"Some months ago my daughter developed a bad case of eczema which spread almost all over her body. After days and weeks of distress caused by this skin trouble from which she could get no relief our physician prescribed Resinol Ointment. The first few applications brought signs of healing and the burning sensation was less severe. After several weeks' use of the product not a symptom of this terrible trouble remained. I hope others will be helped as my daughter was by your wonderful Resinol Ointment."—(Signed) Mrs. M. F. Downing, Route 1.

Resinol Ointment is also a soothing, healing dressing for minor burns, sores, rashes, etc. Your druggist sells it. Keep a jar handy.

LIMELIGHT RIM

NOTHING BUT EXERCISE.

NEW YORK—For once New York City has failed to provide an official welcome. After running the 260 miles of hard, hot roads from Boston to the metropolis, William Busch, carrying a sign on his back, "The Spirit of Charlestown," arrived in Times Square. Not an official was there to greet him. Even his own backers forgot to be on hands and the runner was forced to apply to the newspapers for clothing. Busch made the trip in 58 hours and expected to find a delegation waiting to receive him.

CITIZEN'S SECEDE.

BALTIMORE—Baltimore city officials engaged in a war on the pigeons that make their home around the city hall have more than the birds to contend with. After a large trap had been erected to snare the birds the citizenry protested and toted baskets of grain and bread crumbs to the scene. Followed a feast such as the pigeons had never before dreamed of. And now, well-fed, they won't approach the food-laden trap.

American pianos are being played in nearly every country in the world.

"Hollow Shell" Packs Awful Wallop

ROUND BY ROUND STORY OF MANASSA MAULER'S CONQUEST OVER SHARKEY

ROUND 1—Dempsey came out in a crouch and fell into a clinch, hammering five short rights to the body as Sharkey missed a left hook. Dempsey bored in again, drilling hard smashes to the ribs. Jack hooked two lefts to Dempsey's head. They were close again and Sharkey got in two more to the head. Sharkey stabbed Dempsey with a left to the head. Dempsey bored in again, took two lefts to the head and again drove short punches to Sharkey's body. Sharkey looked tired. A left hook shook Sharkey's head back. Sharkey put two rights to Dempsey's body. Dempsey, reeling and groggy, moved about the ring under a fusillade Sharkey smashed him again with rights. Dempsey was groggy as Sharkey missed a long right. The bell caught Sharkey half way through a right swing. Dempsey went to his corner very tired.

ROUND 6—Sharkey, apparently much fresher than Dempsey, was playing a waiting game. He let Dempsey rush him again and Jack missed a long left to Sharkey's head. Sharkey was short with a left to the chin, but his right smacked solidly on Dempsey's jaw. Dempsey missed a long left. Dempsey came steadily on, however, ramming away to the body but Sharkey was all elbows on defense. Sharkey slapped a right to Dempsey's face. Dempsey followed him and they bobbed at each other until Sharkey shot Dempsey's head back with a terrific right uppercut to the jaw. It was the cleanest and hardest punch of the fight so far. Dempsey leaned in, however, pushing Sharkey to the ropes. Dempsey caught the sailor coming out with three smashes to the head and the crowd booed as Sharkey deliberately poked Dempsey in the face after the bell.

ROUND 7—Dempsey was weaving again and Sharkey held as the fire grew hot about his body. Dempsey knocked Sharkey down with a right. Dempsey suddenly whipped his right into Sharkey's stomach and followed with that straight left hand smash to the jaw that sent Sharkey down. Sharkey got to his knees at the count of nine, swayed and fell flat to his face as the referee counted ten. Sharkey's handlers claimed the blow was foul but the referee disallowed it. Probably the greatest ovation given a fighter was accorded Dempsey as the referee raised his hand in victory. The stadium fairly rocked. The round had lasted only forty-five seconds.

O'BROSKY VICTOR IN MOUND DUEL

ALLOWING but five hits, two of them scratches, W. O'Brosky twirled K. T. K. to a City Industrial league victory over the Wellsville Nash Motors on Nicholson field last evening, 2 to 1.

Wellsville's only run was made in the last of the seventh when Huffman drove a liner into left field for four bases.

Neither side scored until the fourth when Kinsey went around. He reached first when H. Meyers fumbled his slow grounder after Fisher and A. O'Brosky had flown to G. Meyers and Hancock respectively. He went to third as H. Meyers booted Merchant's blow and finished on Huffman's wild pitch.

Kinsey, tripling in the first of the seventh, scored on W. O'Brosky's single to right after Merchant had fanned. Hunselman singled. Simcox walked. Sunselman singled. Simcox walked. Howell flew to Rainer.

TUNNEY CLAIMS BLOW WAS FAIR

NEW YORK, July 22.—Nine out of fourteen New York boxing writers asserted today that the much-discussed blow which Jack Dempsey delivered just before knocking out Jack Sharkey last night, was a foul one. Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, said he thought the questioned blow was fair.

K.-C. Defeated at Dixonville

Dixonville defeated the K. of C. 9 to 2, in a Community league clash last night at Dixonville, the winners getting 11 safeties off McKenna's delivery.

The Dixies sewed the game up in the fourth frame when they chased five runs across the plate.

WINNER TO LEAVE FOR HOME SUNDAY

NEW YORK, July 22.—Jack Dempsey will leave for his home in Los Angeles Sunday, or Monday, to return east about the second week in August to resume training for his championship battle with Gene Tunney in September.

If the championship fight is held in New York, Dempsey will go back to Saratoga Lake to train, otherwise he will pitch his camp near the battleground selected.

Cardinals May Pull Dempsey Stunt and Regain First Place

NEW YORK, July 22.—The Cubs and Pirates are reeling around the National League ring like Jack Sharkey today, while the world's champion St. Louis Cardinals are apparently on the verge of pulling a Dempsey and regaining their proud position at the head of the pack. The Cubs are in first place again, but they got there by the somewhat negative method of losing only one games while the Pirates were losing two.

Having been walloped by the Giants, the Cubs tossed off a 7 to 3 decision to the Phillies yesterday. They are now only 2 1-2 games in front of the third place Cardinals.

Ray Kremer, Pittsburgh pitching ace, regained his early season form but unfortunately Kent Greenfield regained his form of two years ago at the same moment. Each allowed only five hits but the Grave won, 2 to 1, and then added insult to injury by taking the nightcap, 5 to 2.

The Giants, after tying the score with a brilliant five-run rally in the ninth at the expense of Haines and Alexander, tossed the game off to the Cardinals in the tenth, 7 to 6. John McGraw was put off the field for the first time in years, during one of many wrangles.

Babe Herman uncorked a wild thro win the thirteenth and the Reds nosed out the Robins, 2 to 1. Luque and Spittin' Bill Doak twirled scoreless ball for nine innings.

The Yankees win whether they hit or not. They got only five bingles off Connally of the White Sox, but bunched four of them in the eighth and won, 4 to 1, while Hoyt subdued the enemy.

Although Goose Goslin got four hits, including a homer, in four times at bat, the Senators lost to the Browns, 5 to 4, when Bennett doubled with the bases full in the ninth. Darkness ended the second game when the score was tied at two all at the end of the seventh. The Senators now trail the Yanks by 12 1-2 games.

Ty Cobb ran wild on the bases as the Athletics downed Cleveland, 8 to 3. Ty stole second and came all the way home when the Indians started throwing the ball around trying to catch him.

The Tigers won their fourth straight, swamping the Red Sox, 7 to 3.

Ex-Gob Won't Have Fight in Chicago; Dempsey Will Do It

NEW YORK, July 22.—Dempsey's victory over Sharkey last night virtually assures the staging of the next heavyweight title fight in Chicago on or about September 15. Sharkey had made some objection to going there but Dempsey is willing. The distance will be ten rounds. Among Chicago visitors here for the fight were several city officials and members of the South Park Board which controls Soldiers field, the immense public stadium on the lake front.

Tex Rickard has discussed previously taking the fight to Chicago with members of this board and will hold another consultation with the chairman today. Soldiers field, where the Army-....avy game was held last fall, seats 120,000 and a top price of $40 to $50 will be allowed for ringside seats.

Amazing increase in Pontiac Six value made possible by the economies of the world's newest and finest motor car factory

The announcement last week of a smarter, more beautiful Pontiac Six at surprising price reductions was an unexpected sensation. High quality and low prices had been winning thousands to the Pontiac Six. Sales had been breaking all records—140% greater since January 1st than the corresponding period of last year!

Yet, due to the economies of increasing production in the mammoth new $12,000,000 Pontiac Six plant, savings were being effected. And these were passed to the public, not merely in the form of a history-making reduction—

—but with the additional value represented in fashionable new Duco color combinations.

So now the Pontiac Six is not only the lowest priced six—but the only low-priced six—offering:

—the smartness, luxury and safety of Bodies by Fisher—the extreme-smoothness, power, and stamina of the largest engine used in any six priced up to $1,000—the long life and economy assured by an oiling system which forces 250 gallons of oil an hour through the engine at 35 m.p.h.—and such convenience features as tilting beam headlights with foot control, and VV windshield!

These are vital factors which every buyer of a low-priced six has a right to expect. They are only a few of the features which make today's Pontiac Six a triumph of modern design and efficient production! Come in! Learn how much MORE you get for your money in the Pontiac Six at new low prices!

ROUND 7—Dempsey was weaving again and Sharkey held as the fire grew hot about his body. Dempsey knocked Sharkey down with a right. Dempsey suddenly whipped his right into Sharkey's stomach and followed with that straight left hand smash to the jaw that sent Sharkey down. Sharkey got to his knees at the count of nine, swayed and fell flat to his face as the referee counted ten. Sharkey's handlers claimed the blow was foul but the referee disallowed it. Probably the greatest ovation given a fighter was accorded Dempsey as the referee raised his hand in victory. The stadium fairly rocked. The round had lasted only forty-five seconds.

O'BROSKY VICTOR IN MOUND DUEL

ALLOWING but five hits, two of them scratches, W. O'Brosky twirled K. T. K. to a City Industrial league victory over the Wellsville Nash Motors on Nicholson field last evening, 2 to 1.

Wellsville's only run was made in the last of the seventh when Huffman drove a liner into left field for four bases.

Neither side scored until the fourth when Kinsey went around. He reached first when H. Meyers fumbled his slow grounder after Fisher and A. O'Brosky had flown to G. Meyers and Hancock respectively. He went to third as H. Meyers booted Merchant's blow and finished on Huffman's wild pitch.

Kinsey, tripling in the first of the seventh, scored on W. O'Brosky's single to right after Merchant had fanned. Hunselman singled. Simcox walked. Sunselman singled. Simcox walked. Howell flew to Rainer.

TUNNEY CLAIMS BLOW WAS FAIR

NEW YORK, July 22.—Nine out of fourteen New York boxing writers asserted today that the much-discussed blow which Jack Dempsey delivered just before knocking out Jack Sharkey last night, was a foul one. Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, said he thought the questioned blow was fair.

K.-C. Defeated at Dixonville

Dixonville defeated the K. of C. 9 to 2, in a Community league clash last night at Dixonville, the winners getting 11 safeties off McKenna's delivery.

The Dixies sewed the game up in the fourth frame when they chased five runs across the plate.

WINNER TO LEAVE FOR HOME SUNDAY

NEW YORK, July 22.—Jack Dempsey will leave for his home in Los Angeles Sunday, or Monday, to return east about the second week in August to resume training for his championship battle with Gene Tunney in September.

If the championship fight is held in New York, Dempsey will go back to Saratoga Lake to train, otherwise he will pitch his camp near the battleground selected.

Cardinals May Pull Dempsey Stunt and Regain First Place

NEW YORK, July 22.—The Cubs and Pirates are reeling around the National League ring like Jack Sharkey today, while the world's champion St. Louis Cardinals are apparently on the verge of pulling a Dempsey and regaining their proud position at the head of the pack. The Cubs are in first place again, but they got there by the somewhat negative method of losing only one games while the Pirates were losing two.

Having been walloped by the Giants, the Cubs tossed off a 7 to 3 decision to the Phillies yesterday. They are now only 2 1-2 games in front of the third place Cardinals.

Ray Kremer, Pittsburgh pitching ace, regained his early season form but unfortunately Kent Greenfield regained his form of two years ago at the same moment. Each allowed only five hits but the Grave won, 2 to 1, and then added insult to injury by taking the nightcap, 5 to 2.

The Giants, after tying the score with a brilliant five-run rally in the ninth at the expense of Haines and Alexander, tossed the game off to the Cardinals in the tenth, 7 to 6. John McGraw was put off the field for the first time in years, during one of many wrangles.

Babe Herman uncorked a wild thro win the thirteenth and the Reds nosed out the Robins, 2 to 1. Luque and Spittin' Bill Doak twirled scoreless ball for nine innings.

The Yankees win whether they hit or not. They got only five bingles off Connally of the White Sox, but bunched four of them in the eighth and won, 4 to 1, while Hoyt subdued the enemy.

Although Goose Goslin got four hits, including a homer, in four times at bat, the Senators lost to the Browns, 5 to 4, when Bennett doubled with the bases full in the ninth. Darkness ended the second game when the score was tied at two all at the end of the seventh. The Senators now trail the Yanks by 12 1-2 games.

Ty Cobb ran wild on the bases as the Athletics downed Cleveland, 8 to 3. Ty stole second and came all the way home when the Indians started throwing the ball around trying to catch him.

The Tigers won their fourth straight, swamping the Red Sox, 7 to 3.

Ex-Gob Won't Have Fight in Chicago; Dempsey Will Do It

NEW YORK, July 22.—Dempsey's victory over Sharkey last night virtually assures the staging of the next heavyweight title fight in Chicago on or about September 15. Sharkey had made some objection to going there but Dempsey is willing. The distance will be ten rounds. Among Chicago visitors here for the fight were several city officials and members of the South Park Board which controls Soldiers field, the immense public stadium on the lake front.

Tex Rickard has discussed previously taking the fight to Chicago with members of this board and will hold another consultation with the chairman today. Soldiers field, where the Army-....avy game was held last fall, seats 120,000 and a top price of $40 to $50 will be allowed for ringside seats.

Dempsey Flashes Old Form As He Stops Sharkey In Seventh

Looking Forward Now To Return Bout With Champion in Chicago

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 22.—They had two strikes on Babe Ruth and then he hit one over the fence.

The old, old story, ancient as sin itself, the tale of the hare and the tortoise, was repeated all over again at the Yankee Stadium last night when Jack Dempsey, the great killer of fistiana, added another pelt to the old thatch pole. He knocked Jack Sharkey, that painfully confident young man from Boston, colder than a frappe after forty-five seconds of fighting in the seventh round, at a time when the tortoise seemed tottering on his last, palsied old legs and the hare was skimming over the landscape as only a hare can.

They were just about to declare it a no contest out of resigned pity and prepare the melancholy obituaries about the man who was compared with the man who wasn't, when suddenly out of nowhere Dempsey lashed away in a clinch with a left to the body and jaw and Sharkey was no more.

Yes, they have had two strikes on Ruth. Many a man, they say, was born that way, but it means nothing to Ruth just as a few slaps on the side curtains mean nothing to Jack Dempsey.

Dempsey is often compared to a tiger, broken and toothless, but as long as a tiger breaths he is dangerous and so is William Harrison Dempsey.

Sharkey thought he was a pretty good fighter and I am not convinced yet that he wasn't and isn't. But the pitcher who slips one to Babe Ruth in the groove just because George is two down and one to go is a sap of purest ray serene and you can take my word for it that Sharkey was a most sincere sap last night.

He had before him the spectacle that was presented at the Philadelphia stadium last summer when Tunney declined to meet Dempsey body to body and heave at it like a couple of longshoremen. Instead, he moved rapidly about in widening circles, making a stand only long enough to slap Dempsey about with quick, short punches and then went right away from there.

I don't say that Sharkey is a Tunney. But he certainly is not a Dempsey, a statement to which undoubtedly he will place his seal and hand today.

He ought to know it, anyhow, for if he don't know now, the truth is never for him. He had the superior speed but he refused to use it, being too vain to back away even from the human killer.

It didn't seem to matter that Dempsey's legs were gone and that, in three rounds or less, they must fold up of their own weariness. No, Sharkey was too arrogant for such a finish as that. He must finish Dempsey with his own hand and, in such a program, it was inevitable that one man or the other must go quickly. In such a game, the odds were all with Dempsey and no Sharkey, of necessity, was elected. I hope he likes the office.

Of course, the question of Dempsey's left to the body had to come in for severe scrutiny and, in truth, it was low enough to deserve inquiry. It landed at or under the belt; not over it, in any case. But the writer is not particularly concerned with the punch in question. You can't foul a man with a punch on the jaw, and it was such a punch that finished Sharkey.

Further, there was no claim of foul in Sharkey's corner and the referee calmly went on with the tuneless ten, apparently serene in the belief that everything was as it should have been.

Anyhow, post mortems of that kind never won a prize fight. Hit them over the fence and, if the umpire says fair, it is so ordered even if you gather about until daylight and weep until your vests are sodden.

No, this fight is dead; long live the next one. And live long, it will.

Dempsey Acclaimed Again.

Dempsey and Tunney are set now to repeat their rampage of the rain, only this time they will play Chicago just by way of diversion, and for good measure.

No ballyhoo, no smoke up is needed. Dempsey is the greatest man before the public today. He is the darling of the galleries again, a man whom they trusted and whom they trusted not in vain.

Not many champions shorn of their titles have come back to such an impressive gesture as Dempsey made last night.

AT CHICAGO—Joey Sangor, Milwaukee heavyweight, and Eddie Shea, of Chicago, fought ten rounds to a draw.

Haakon Hanson, Norwegian middleweight, knocked out Frankie Tracy, of Baltimore, in the final round of their six-round bout.

TURK NASH SHUTS OUT MOTORS, 3-0

ERRORS and a wild pitch enabled Turk-Nash, outhit by their opponents, to defeat Victory Motor in a hard fought City Industrial league contest at Patterson field last evening, 3 to 0.

Sainor permitted but three safe blows against his southpaw slants, but two errors by A. Morris and a hit by Watson gave the league leaders one run, enough to win, in the second.

With two out in the fifth, a walk to E. Bayley and a hit by A. Bayley, aided by a stolen base by the latter, gave the opposing team two more runs aided by a wild pitch.

Sainor allowed but three scattered hits, one in the second, one in the fifth and one in the sixth. He struck out three and walked two.

Deshler was found for five hits. He fanned a quintette of batters and walked one.

He got out of a hole in the first inning when with two gone and A. Morris and Talbott on by a walk and a hit respectively he grabbed Jackson's blow and assisted to first.

Manager "Hap" Jackson in the sixth and seventh sent in five pinch hitters, but failed to score.

The Heimie nine hammered out 22 singles to win from the Roselawns at Klondyke, scoring at regular intervals through the game, unlike the Rosies who counted one in the first, five more in the second and then knocked off for the afternoon.

SHARKEY—"DEMPSEY WON BY FOUL" DEMPSEY—"MY PUNCH WAS FAIR"

NEW YORK, July 22.—Jack Sharkey said: "Dempsey won that fight by hitting me a foul blow. While I was protesting he clipped me on the chin and put me down. I was sure they would give me the fight and I will never get over the surprise I felt when they gave it to Dempsey."

Jack Dempsey said: "It was a fair blow so far as I remember. It started and landed fair. While Sharkey was kicking to the referee I quit but when the referee said to continue the fight, I hooked a short one to the liver and clipped one to the chin and Sharkey went down for the count. Sharkey is a great fighter and a game fellow. But I was absolutely certain I would win."

Fight Judge Claims Sharkey Was Fouled

NEW YORK, July 22.—Jack Sharkey was fouled just before he was knocked out by Jack Dempsey in the seventh round of their bout in the Yankee stadium last night and Dempsey should have been disqualified, according to Charles Mathison, one of the judges.

"While the referee is the sole arbiter in the matter of foul blows," Mathison said after the fight, "I am making the following report to the state athletic commission:

"'Jack Sharkey was hit below the waist line immediately before the knockout punch and Dempsey should have been disqualified. Dempsey was also guilty of hitting low in several other rounds.'"

Jack O'Sullivan, the referee, said the blow which preceded the knockout punch was a fairly delivered one and landed right on the waist line. He did not warn Dempsey he said because "in no case were the punches injurious or deliberate, nor was there any protest made by Sharkey previous to the final round."

Dr. William Walker, boxing commission physician, said he found no evidences of a foul when he examined Sharkey soon after the fight.

"When a man is really fouled," said Dr. Walker, "he doesn't stand up as long as Sharkey did. His legs give way completely.

"Dempsey was in good shape. His cuts about the eyes were trivial. When I examined Sharkey before the bout his condition was not quite as good as before the Maloney fight. Possibly he reacted more than Dempsey to the nervous strain."

AT AKRON, O.—Genaro Pino, Havana flyweight, and Willie Davies, of Charleroi, fought ten rounds to a draw.

Fight Sets New Attendance and Receipt Records

NEW YORK, July 22—The attendance at the Dempsey-Sharkey bout last night was 84,000 and the gross receipts were $1,075,000, it was estimated today. These figures broke all records for both attendance and receipts for a non-championship fight.

For a non-championship bout, the previous attendance record was 75,000 for Willard and Firpo and the previous records for receipts was $700,000 for the Wills-Firpo fight.

Dempsey Flashes Old Form As He Stops Sharkey In Seventh

Looking Forward Now To Return Bout With Champion in Chicago

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 22.—They had two strikes on Babe Ruth and then he hit one over the fence.

The old, old story, ancient as sin itself, the tale of the hare and the tortoise, was repeated all over again at the Yankee Stadium last night when Jack Dempsey, the great killer of fistiana, added another pelt to the old thatch pole. He knocked Jack Sharkey, that painfully confident young man from Boston, colder than a frappe after forty-five seconds of fighting in the seventh round, at a time when the tortoise seemed tottering on his last, palsied old legs and the hare was skimming over the landscape as only a hare can.

They were just about to declare it no contest out of resigned pity and prepare the melancholy obituaries about the man who was compared with the man who wasn't, when suddenly out of nowhere Dempsey lashed away in a clinch with a left to the body and jaw and Sharkey was no more.

Yes, they have had two strikes on Ruth. Many a man, they say, was born that way, but it means nothing to Ruth just as a few slaps on the side curtains mean nothing to Jack Dempsey.

Dempsey is often compared to a tiger, broken and toothless, but as long as a tiger breaths he is dangerous and so is William Harrison Dempsey.

Sharkey thought he was a pretty good fighter and I am not convinced yet that he wasn't and isn't. But the pitcher who slips one to Babe Ruth in the groove just because George is two down and one to go is a sap of purest ray serene and you can take my word for it that Sharkey was a most sincere sap last night.

He had before him the spectacle that was presented at the Philadelphia stadium last summer when Tunney declined to meet Dempsey body to body and heave at it like a couple of longshoremen. Instead, he moved rapidly about in widening circles, making a stand only long enough to slap Dempsey about with quick, short punches and then went right away from there.

I don't say that Sharkey is a Tunney. But he certainly is not a Dempsey, a statement to which undoubtedly he will place his seal and hand today.

He ought to know it, anyhow, for if he don't know now, the truth is never for him. He had the superior speed but he refused to use it, being too vain to back away even from the human killer.

It didn't seem to matter that Dempsey's legs were gone and that, in three rounds or less, they must fold up of their own weariness. No, Sharkey was too arrogant for such a finish as that. He must finish Dempsey with his own hand and, in such a program, it was inevitable that one man or the other must go quickly. In such a game, the odds were all with Dempsey and no Sharkey, of necessity, was elected. I hope he likes the office.

Of course, the question of Dempsey's left to the body had to come in for severe scrutiny and, in truth, it was low enough to deserve inquiry. It landed at or under the belt; not over it, in any case. But the writer is not particularly concerned with the punch in question. You can't foul a man with a punch on the jaw, and it was such a punch that finished Sharkey.

Further, there was no claim of foul in Sharkey's corner and the referee calmly went on with the tuneless ten, apparently serene in the belief that everything was as it should have been.

Anyhow, post mortems of that kind never won a prize fight. Hit them over the fence and, if the umpire says fair, it is so ordered even if you gather about until daylight and weep until your vests are sodden.

No, this fight is dead; long live the next one. And live long, it will

Dempsey Acclaimed Again.

Dempsey and Tunney are set now to repeat their rampage of the rain, only this time they will play Chicago just by way of diversion, and for good measure.

No ballyhoo, no smoke up is needed. Dempsey is the greatest man before the public today. He is the darling of the galleries again, a man whom they trusted and whom they trusted not in vain.

Not many champions shorn of their titles have come back to such an impressive gesture as Dempsey made last night.

AT CHICAGO—Joey Sangor, Milwaukee heavyweight, and Eddie Shea, of Chicago, fought ten rounds to a draw.

Haakon Hanson, Norwegian middleweight, knocked out Frankie Tracy, of Baltimore, in the final round of their six-round bout.

TURK NASH SHUTS OUT MOTORS, 3-0

ERRORS and a wild pitch enabled Turk-Nash, outhit by their opponents, to defeat Victory Motor in a hard fought City Industrial league contest at Patterson field last evening, 3 to 0.

Sainor permitted but three safe blows against his southpaw slants, but two errors by A. Morris and a hit by Watson gave the league leaders one run, enough to win, in the second.

With two out in the fifth, a walk to E. Bayley and a hit by A. Bayley, aided by a stolen base by the latter, gave the opposing team two more runs aided by a wild pitch.

Sainor allowed but three scattered hits, one in the second, one in the fifth and one in the sixth. He struck out three and walked two.

Deshler was found for five hits. He fanned a quintette of batters and walked one.

He got out of a hole in the first inning when with two gone and A. Morris and Talbott on by a walk and a hit respectively he grabbed Jackson's blow and assisted to first.

Manager "Hap" Jackson in the sixth and seventh sent in five pinch hitters, but failed to score.

The Heimie nine hammered out 22 bingles to win from the Roselawns at Klondyke, scoring at regular intervals through the game, unlike the Rosies who counted one in the first, five more in the second and then knocked off for the afternoon.

SHARKEY—"DEMPSEY WON BY FOUL" DEMPSEY—"MY PUNCH WAS FAIR"

NEW YORK, July 22.—Jack Sharkey said: "Dempsey won that fight by hitting me a foul blow. While I was protesting he clipped me on the chin and put me down. I was sure they would give me the fight and I will never get over the surprise I felt when they gave it to Dempsey."

Jack Dempsey said: "It was a fair blow so far as I remember. It started and landed fair. While Sharkey was kicking to the referee I quit but when the referee said to continue the fight, I hooked a short one to the liver and clipped one to the chin and Sharkey went down for the count. Sharkey is a great fighter and a game fellow. But I was absolutely certain I would win."

Fight Judge Claims Sharkey Was Fouled

NEW YORK, July 22.—Jack Sharkey was fouled just before he was knocked out by Jack Dempsey in the seventh round of their bout in the Yankee stadium last night and Dempsey should have been disqualified, according to Charles Mathison, one of the judges.

"While the referee is the sole arbiter in the matter of foul blows," Mathison said after the fight, "I am making the following report to the state athletic commission:

"'Jack Sharkey was hit below the waist line immediately before the knockout punch and Dempsey should have been disqualified. Dempsey was also guilty of hitting low in several other rounds.'"

Jack O'Sullivan, the referee, said the blow which preceded the knockout punch was a fairly delivered one and landed right on the waist line. He did not warn Dempsey he said because "in no case were the punches injurious or deliberate, nor was there any protest made by Sharkey previous to the final round."

Dr. William Walker, boxing commission physician, said he found no evidences of a foul when he examined Sharkey soon after the fight.

"When a man is really fouled," said Dr. Walker, "he doesn't stand up as long as Sharkey did. His legs give way completely.

"Dempsey was in good shape. His cuts about the eyes were trivial. When I examined Sharkey before the bout his condition was not quite as good as before the Maloney fight. Possibly he reacted more than Dempsey to the nervous strain."

AT AKRON, O.—Genaro Pino, Havana flyweight, and Willie Davies, of Charleroi, fought ten rounds to a draw.

Fight Sets New Attendance and Receipt Records

NEW YORK, July 22—The attendance at the Dempsey-Sharkey bout last night was 84,000 and the gross receipts were $1,075,000, it was estimated today. These figures broke all records for both attendance and receipts for a non-championship fight.

For a non-championship bout, the previous attendance record was 75,000 for Willard and Firpo and the previous records for receipts was $700,000 for the Wills-Firpo fight.

WELLSVILLE WILL RUSH IMPROVEMENT PROJECTS

STREET, SEWER JOBS ARE ON SUMMER LIST

Lisbon Road Work Will be Completed Within Month.

ECONOMY RULES

Plan Conference to Estimate Cost of Drainage.

Street and sewer improvement projects, including those already under way and others planned, will be rushed as rapidly as possible, Wellsville officials announced today, in an effort to clean up as much of the work as possible by fall.

According to service department executives, the Lisbon road resurfacing project may be completed and ready for use within a month, providing the working force is favored by good weather.

Having made rapid progress on the job in the last two weeks, the service department feels confident that all preliminaries will be completed in time to permit the laying of the surface material within, possibly, three weeks, if rain does not hold up operations.

It has not been determined whether the city department employes will do the resurfacing work or whether the project will be let on contract.

Necessity for economizing likely will be an important factor in deciding the problem.

City Engineer R. D. McGill and Service Director George Ashley will confer within the near future on plans for the preparation of an estimate for the Eighteenth street drainage work.

It will be necessary to lay sewers, dig ditches and do considerable grading in order to complete the improvement work contemplated at this point.

A. This name has been applied to Panama because of the great varieties of orchids found there. From the earliest times Panama has been a fruitfield for the orchid collector, and the first professional collector of which there is a record was Luis Nee, a French botanist who visited Panama in 1784 and in 1789.

Q. Has Italy ever signed a treaty with a South American country? A. M. G.

A. The first treaty which Italy has ever concluded with any trans-Atlantic power, was the one signed February 24, 1927, with Chile. A permanent arbitration commission, to consist of five members, three of whom shall not be citizens of the contracting powers, is to be appointed. In the event that the findings of this commission should not accepted by either power, the dispute is to be referred to the Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague, whose decision shall be executed in good faith. # WELLSVILLE WILL RUSH IMPROVEMENT PROJECTS

STREET, SEWER JOBS ARE ON SUMMER LIST

Lisbon Road Work Will be Completed Within Month.

ECONOMY RULES

Plan Conference to Estimate Cost of Drainage.

Street and sewer improvement projects, including those already under way and others planned, will be rushed as rapidly as possible, Wellsville officials announced today, in an effort to clean up as much of the work as possible by fall.

According to service department executives, the Lisbon road resurfacing project may be completed and ready for use within a month, providing the working force is favored by good weather.

Having made rapid progress on the job in the last two weeks, the service department feels confident that all preliminaries will be completed in time to permit the laying of the surface material within, possibly, three weeks, if rain does not hold up operations.

It has not been determined whether the city department employes will do the resurfacing work or whether the project will be let on contract.

Necessity for economizing likely will be an important factor in deciding the problem.

City Engineer R. D. McGill and Service Director George Ashley will confer within the near future on plans for the preparation of an estimate for the Eighteenth street drainage work.

It will be necessary to lay sewers, dig ditches and do considerable grading in order to complete the improvement work contemplated at this point.

Q. What country is called the "Home of the Orchid?" R. K.

A. This name has been applied to Panama because of the great varieties of orchids found there. It has been explained that this is due to the fact that though Panama is small, it has a great variation of climate, ranging from the humid lowlands of the jungle to the mountains of Chiriqui, which attain an altitude of more than 5,000 feet. From the earliest times Panama has been a fruitfield for the orchid collector, and the first professional collector of which there is a record was Luis Nee, a French botanist who visited Panama in 1784 and in 1789.

PLAN NEW YORK TO PARIS ROUND TRIP HOP IN 24-HOUR DAY

Special Airplane, With Two Engines, to be Tried.

READY IN FALL

Gotham Man Claims Invention of New Fuel.

NEW YORK.—The recent trans-ocean non-stop flights will narrow down from epochal events to the level of a monotonous street-car ride if R. Rex Rennee's ambitious plans for an airplane trip that will send a thrill-loving world into ineffable ecstasy materialize.

Rennee, sales manager for an electric company and he says, an experienced aviator, not only harbors the belief that it is possible to make a non-stop round-trip flight between New York and Paris, but expects to accomplish this stupendous undertaking within the next few months.

Furthermore, he blandly asserts, he anticipates making the flight to Paris and return in 24 hours, a little more than half the time required for the trans-Atlantic trips that were only half the distance he expects to cover.

Ready in September.

In September, Rennee says, he will take off on his ambitious flight in a special airplane equipped with two special 1,280 horse-power Packard motors using a special fuel he himself has invented.

The plane as he describes it would shove the present type into the same background to which the horse-and-buggy were relegated by the automobile, one would judge.

It will have a cruising speed of 300 miles an hour with a maximum speed of 375 miles an hour, Rennee declares. Where is this super-plane? It is being built. Where is it being built? Rennee would not say.

Is Expert Aviator.

Rennee says he was born in France and is a graduate of Oxford University. During the World war, he recites, he was a colonel of the famous Lafayette Escadrille and he claims the distinction of having been the fourth ranking flying ace of the entire conflict with 40 enemy planes to his credit.

He would not make known the nature of the new fuel he says he has invented but volunteered the information that it is concentrated in small tubes and that the mixing of the tube in a special quantity of water would result in a fuel that would enable an airplane to travel at a greater speed than any yet attained.

His plane, Rennee asserts, will not carry gasoline, but water, instead, and when he is in need of fuel he will merely drop a tube of fuel into the water.

All hospitals in the vicinity of Avondise, Scotland, have been filled recently with scarlet fever patients in an epidemic started by a maid in a dairy who unknowingly had the disease.

Left as a trust fund in 1795 for the care of a tomb in a London churchyard, the interest on $500 has accumulated until the trustees are puzzled as to what to do with it.

Monument Planned For Famous General Of Confederate Army

ATLANTA.—An association to perpetuate the memory of John B. Gordon, famous Confederate general has been formed here. A committee, headed by former governor Hugh M. Dorsey has been appointed to raise $50,000 to purchase and recondition "Sutherland" the ancestral home of the confederate general in Kirkwood.

The estate which comprises approximately 21 acres upon which is situated the beautiful old ante-bellum home of General Gordon, is being held by the present owners for $40,000, and it is estimated that an additional $10,000 will be necessary to put the house and grounds in repair.

The money will be raised by statewide subscriptions, the belief being expressed that thousands of Georgians will be glad to contribute in the creation of such a permanent shrine.

Bellevue, Neb., Church Honors Dr. Marshall

Former East Liverpool Pastor's Seventy-eighth Birthday Anniversary Observed by Congregation.

Seventy-eighth birthday anniversary of Rev. Albert B. Marshall, D. D., former pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, was celebrated by members of the Presbyterian church at Bellevue, Nebraska, of which he is the pastor on Sunday, July 10.

Dr. Marshall, who had charge of the First Presbyterian church of this city from 1887 to 1894, is said to be the oldest active minister in Nebraska, while the Bellevue church is the oldest church in the state. The special service at which Dr. Marshall preached his birthday sermon took place at 11 a. m.

The celebration was arranged by Samuel Gramlich, who is said to be the first white person born in the state.

Dr. Marshall began his preaching career in 1875, following his graduation from Princeton college and since then has held seven charges. For three years he preached at Morris, Ill., then went to Lisbon, where he was stationed from 1878 to 1887. In 1894 he accepted a call to the Central Presbyterian church at Des Moines, Iowa, where he served until 1903, after which he went to the First church at Minneapolis, Minn., where he was located for years. He was president of the Omaha Theological seminary at Omaha, Neb., from 1910 to 1920, after which he was called to the Presbyterian church at Clarinda, Iowa, where he was located for five years.

Accompanied by his wife, nee Mary Hollock, teacher in the local high school, Dr. Marshall went to China in 1925, where he was honorary lecturer at Yenching university, Peking, for a year.

Upon his return he accepted a call to the Bellevue church. Dr. Marshall's home church is the Glady Run Presbyterian church, Armstrong county, Pa. The Bellevue church was organized in 1855 and the present house of worship erected the following year.

PLAN NEW YORK TO PARIS ROUND TRIP HOP IN 24-HOUR DAY

Special Airplane, With Two Engines, to be Tried.

READY IN FALL

Gotham Man Claims Invention of New Fuel.

NEW YORK.—The recent trans-ocean non-stop flights will narrow down from epochal events to the level of a monotonous street-car ride if R. Rex Rennee's ambitious plans for an airplane trip that will send a thrill-loving world into ineffable ecstasy materialize.

Rennee, sales manager for an electric company and he says, an experienced aviator, not only harbors the belief that it is possible to make a non-stop round-trip flight between New York and Paris, but expects to accomplish this stupendous undertaking within the next few months.

Furthermore, he blandly asserts, he anticipates making the flight to Paris and return in 24 hours, a little more than half the time required for the trans-Atlantic trips that were only half the distance he expects to cover.

Ready in September.

In September, Rennee says, he will take off on his ambitious flight in a special airplane equipped with two special 1,280 horse-power Packard motors using a special fuel he himself has invented.

The plane as he describes it would shove the present type into the same background to which the horse-and-buggy were relegated by the automobile, one would judge.

It will have a cruising speed of 300 miles an hour with a maximum speed of 375 miles an hour, Rennee declares. Where is this super-plane? It is being built. Where is it being built? Rennee would not say.

Is Expert Aviator.

Rennee says he was born in France and is a graduate of Oxford University. During the World war, he recites, he was a colonel of the famous Lafayette Escadrille and he claims the distinction of having been the fourth ranking flying ace of the entire conflict with 40 enemy planes to his credit.

He would not make known the nature of the new fuel he says he has invented but volunteered the information that it is concentrated in small tubes and that the mixing of the tube in a special quantity of water would result in a fuel that would enable an airplane to travel at a greater speed than any yet attained.

His plane, Rennee asserts, will not carry gasoline, but water, instead, and when he is in need of fuel he will merely drop a tube of fuel into the water.

All hospitals in the vicinity of Avondise, Scotland, have been filled recently with scarlet fever patients in an epidemic started by a maid in a dairy who unknowingly had the disease.

Left as a trust fund in 1795 for the care of a tomb in a London churchyard, the interest on $500 has accumulated until the trustees are puzzled as to what to do with it.

Monument Planned For Famous General Of Confederate Army

ATLANTA.—An association to perpetuate the memory of John B. Gordon, famous Confederate general has been formed here. A committee, headed by former governor Hugh M. Dorsey has been appointed to raise $50,000 to purchase and recondition "Sutherland" the ancestral home of the confederate general in Kirkwood.

The estate which comprises approximately 21 acres upon which is situated the beautiful old ante-bellum home of General Gordon, is being held by the present owners for $40,000, and it is estimated that an additional $10,000 will be necessary to put the house and grounds in repair.

The money will be raised by statewide subscriptions, the belief being expressed that thousands of Georgians will be glad to contribute in the creation of such a permanent shrine.

Bellevue, Neb., Church Honors Dr. Marshall

Former East Liverpool Pastor's Seventy-eighth Birthday Anniversary Observed by Congregation.

Seventy-eighth birthday anniversary of Rev. Albert B. Marshall, D. D., former pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, was celebrated by members of the Presbyterian church at Bellevue, Nebraska, of which he is the pastor on Sunday, July 10.

Dr. Marshall, who had charge of the First Presbyterian church of this city from 1887 to 1894, is said to be the oldest active minister in Nebraska, while the Bellevue church is the oldest church in the state. The special service at which Dr. Marshall preached his birthday sermon took place at 11 a. m.

The celebration was arranged by Samuel Gramlich, who is said to be the first white person born in the state.

Dr. Marshall began his preaching career in 1875, following his graduation from Princeton college and since then has held seven charges. For three years he preached at Morris, Ill., then went to Lisbon, where he was stationed from 1878 to 1887. In 1894 he accepted a call to the Central Presbyterian church at Des Moines, Iowa, where he served until 1903, after which he went to the First church at Minneapolis, Minn., where he was located for years. He was president of the Omaha Theological seminary at Omaha, Neb., from 1910 to 1920, after which he was called to the Presbyterian church at Clarinda, Iowa, where he was located for five years.

Accompanied by his wife, nee Mary Hollock, teacher in the local high school, Dr. Marshall went to China in 1925, where he was honorary lecturer at Yenching university, Peking, for a year.

Upon his return he accepted a call to the Bellevue church. Dr. Marshall's home church is the Glady Run Presbyterian church, Armstrong county, Pa. The Bellevue church was organized in 1855 and the present house of worship erected the following year.

Mosaic Disease Is New Peril for Tobacco Farmers

RALEIGH, N. C.—North Carolina's tobacco crop—the largest in the country—this year is imperiled by a new menace. The Mosaic disease, which is spreading over the weed fields, will cause $1,000,000 damage to the crop in North Carolina this year, state agricultural experts estimated today.

The State Department of Agriculture is now studying some method for the extermination of the disease. Very little is known of the cause of the disease, which first appears in dark green spots on the leaves, which later became elevated and make holes, it was said. The early tobacco markets of North Carolina do not open until August.

Mosaic Disease Is New Peril for Tobacco Farmers

RALEIGH, N. C.—North Carolina's tobacco crop—the largest in the country—this year is imperiled by a new menace. The Mosaic disease, which is spreading over the weed fields, will cause $1,000,000 damage to the crop in North Carolina this year, state agricultural experts estimated today.

The State Department of Agriculture is now studying some method for the extermination of the disease. Very little is known of the cause of the disease, which first appears in dark green spots on the leaves, which later became elevated and make holes, it was said. The early tobacco markets of North Carolina do not open until August.

DENNY SCORES ANOTHER HIT

"Fast and Furious," Racing Picture, at Ceramic.

Z-i-p! B-a-m! Z-o-w-i-e!

No, dear friends, a boiler has not exploded. It's only a few linguistic fireworks descriptive of Reginald Denny's latest bang-up success, a roaring, racing picture entitled "Fast and Furious," which is now zooming across at the Ceramic theatre, with a populor Universal star at the wheel and a heavy foot on the accelerator.

Oh, boy! and how he does travel! If that new mystery car they brought over from England with the reputation of being able to do more than four miles a minute were matched up in a race with Denny he would pass it as thought it were going backwards. And that's some speed!

There are spills . . . there are chills . . . and there are laughs and enough side-splitting comedy to last you till the cows come home. This picture is beyond question the best thing that Denny has turned out since he threw the gloves in "The Leather Pushers."

You'll never know what troubles are until you see some of the scrapes that Denny gets into in "Fast and Furious." Right from the start he has his epiglottis fibula or something or other dislocated and when you see the X-days they took of him after they unwrapped him from his steering wheel, you'll "take it big," as they say around the studio stages.

Denny is surrounded by supporting players who provide excellent foils for his comedy antics. Barbara Worth makes a charming leading lady and Claude Gillingwater, Armand Kaliz, Lee Moran, Chas. K. French, Wilson Benge and others are spendid in supporting roles.

"Fast and Furious" is the screen version of an original story by Denny himself, adapted to the films by Raymond Cannon and directed by Mel Brown.

AL SMITH STARTS SUN HAT RUN

ALBANY, N. Y.—There has been a run on the local hat stores for African sun helmets.

The reason:

Governor Al Smith appeared in one when he returned recently from his vacation in the south.

"Where did you get the hat?" the governor was asked.

He smiled and replied:

"Like many of my hats, it was presented to me."

The governor said the African sun helmet was just the thing for golf.

"I think I will be able to play the course in less than 83," he said.

"Eighteen holes, governor?"

"No, nine," he said he didn't smile.

KYNE STORY AT AMERICAN

Tim McCoy Stars in Picturization of "California."

Seldom does the motion picturegoer see upon the screen a historical romance as vivid and as colorful as "California," Tim McCoy's latest historical Western picture filmed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and now playing at the American theatre.

The picture is based on a story from the pen of Peter B. Kyne, which was written especially as a starring vehicle for McCoy. Perhaps that is the reason that the star so admirably fits the role of Captain Gillespie, U. S. M. C.

Kyne chose as his historical era the period when California was being conquered by the Americans—the time when the proud old Spanish families were losing their grip on what is now one of the most famous states of the Union.

It was an era of romance and battle, an era suitable for a picture of love and action, against a background of fact. The story is a charming one and makes the blood run faster.

The star's previous military experience helps suit him to the role of the President's messenger and the hardest fighting marine in the service of his country.

Dorothy Sebastian is seen in the role of the Spanish senorita who, despite her wishes, falls in love with one of the invaders, a man who arrests her own father. She loves him and shoots him at the same time—for of such stuff are senoritas made.

The cast is an especially strong one from the point of character acting and it includes players who portray the roles of many great historical figures, including: Captain Fremont, President Polk, General Kearney, Kit Carson and Pio Pico, the Californian who rebelled against American rule.

"California" was directed by W. S. Van Dyke and is a picture that you cannot afford to miss if you are interested in either history or romance.

LATEST IN AIRPLANE CARRIER CONSTRUCTION

Here's the U. S. S. Saratoga, one of the largest and strangest ships of the U. S. Navy, now nearing completion at Camden, N. J. The Saratoga is the last word in airplane carrier construction. With the U. S. S. Lexington, being built at Quincy, Mass., she was originally designed as a superfighter but the disarmament conference changed her destiny. Much secrecy surrounds the construction of both ships.

Legion Hospital Opened.

OTTER LAKE, Mich.—A $60,000 hospital has been opened to the children of members of the American Legion of Michigan following its dedication here.

The dedicatory address was delivered by Harold H. Emmons, of Detroit, before several hundred Legionnaires from all parts of the state.

South Africa expects to break all building records this year.

Michigan Dispute Over Ownership of Lake Shore Lands

LANSING, Mich.—Removal of millions of dollars' worth of property, mainly dancing pavilions, from the shores of Lake St. Clair and the Great Lakes bordering on Michigan may follow action taken by the Conservation Commission.

The commission made a formal request for W. W. Potter, attorney-general, for an opinion as to the state's rights in relation to buildings constructed outside the meander line of the lakes as shown by the United States survey. At the time the survey was made the shores of the lakes were much farther inland than at present. The commission contends that all of the land between the old shore line and the boundaries belong to the state.

The request grew out of an opinion Potter had given, holding that the commission had no power to give leases to properties outside the surveyed meander line.

PETER MULLEN, EAST LIVERPOOL MAN, ENTERS 12 DOGS IN GREYHOUND RACES ON TRACK NEAR RUSH RUN, OHIO

Red Tripp, Everlasting, Chuck's Luck and Red Bug taking one of the jumps at the Greyhound Track, Rush Run.

Twelve dogs, owned by Peter Mullen, Florida automobile salesman, formerly of East Liverpool, have been entered in the greyhound races, which are being held at Rush Run, 12 miles south of Steubenville in Jefferson county, by the Jefferson County Kennel club.

Mullen, who has been in Florida for the last three or four years, is visiting with friends in Wellsville during the racing season. He plans to return to Florida early in the fall.

The club plans a 60-day racing meet at the Rush Run grounds on the Fourth of July. Races will be held nightly with the exception of Sunday until Labor Day. Racing fans from Steubenville, Wheeling, Canton, Alliance, Bellaire, and other eastern Ohio points have been attracted by the races.

Some of the fastest racing dogs in the country are quartered at the Rush Run grounds. The dogs will be shipped to Shreveport, La., at the close of the racing meet.

Greyhound racing is generally conceded to have had its inception in Spain 1,800 years ago. Greyhounds were not known as such in those days but ancient drawings show a long-legged, lean dog of unknown pedigree that was used to chase live hares for the entertainment of nobles and grandees.

The sport is next traced into Italy and from there to other parts of the continent, finally crossing the channel to England. Somewhere in its peregrinations the obstacle race was introduced. As is horse racing, the hurdles event constitutes a classic.

The United States and England have brought the pastime to its present high standing, racing rules in the two countries differing but little. The rules are said to be very much the same as those approved about 1855 by Queen Victoria.

Formerly live hares were used exclusively in greyhound racing, but as the bunny rarely survived the wear and tear of one race, several states passed laws which prohibited the sport until the mechanical rabbit was invented.

Apparently the hounds take just as much pleasure in pursuing the flying mechanism as in giving chase to a live hare. However, it is a matter of record that some dogs, having caught the mechanical rabbit when some part of its mechanism failed to function, have refused ever to chase it again.

Field Representative of Red Cross Lauds Camp.

Columbiana county Red Cross and Boy Scout officials have been complimented by Paul W. Goss, life saving field representative of the American Red Cross, for the manner in which swimming activities at the Boy Scout camp at Lake Placentia, near North Georgetown, are carried out.

A double-checking, or buddy system, is used at the camp during the swimming periods. Boys are arranged in pairs and one is responsible for the other during the swimming periods. By this arrangement a boy is never alone in the water, his companion guarding him at all times.

"Under this method," Goss writes to Red Cross officials, "I cannot possibly see hom any accident could happen to any of the Scouts, as they are guarded and watched too closely."

Six older boys or life guards also on duty at the camp during the swimming hours.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of teh cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

TULSA HAS HOPE FOR BIG FUTURE AS RIVER PORT

Drainage Plan to Make Southwest Commercial Factor.

DEEPEN CHANNELS

Arkansas, Red and Other Streams to be Widened.

TULSO, Oklahoma. — Steamboats and barges plying up and down the Arkansas river, and other rivers in the southwest; and Tulsa as a great inland river port are foreseen by Tom C. Harrill, chairman of the Oklahoma state drainage and irrigation commission.

This picture, Harrill points out, is a possible outgrowth of changes to be wrought by proposed flood control measures, which will likely be effected on rivers that feed the Missouri and Mississippi rivers as an initial step in controlling the Mississippi valley situation.

Among the firsts steps to be proposed will be a deepening of the channels of the Arkansas, Verdigris, Grand, Smoky Hill, Red and other rivers in the southwest.

Feature of Conference.

This development, it is indicated, will be the feature of the flood control conference in Tulsa, July 14 and 15. Delegates to the congress are expected from all of the state vitally affected. Those states are: New Mexico, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, Colorado and Oklahoma.

Definite plans and estimates of actual cost for control of high waters through the southwest will be among the most important items considered at the meeting.

"Few people realize what a definite program to flood control means," Harrill stated. "Prevention of floods, of course is the main object of such a program.

"To prevent floods it will be necessary to build huge reservoirs and to deepen river channels," he said.

"The old reservoirs will provide recreation centers for people throughout the river valleys. Fishing, boating and swimming will be possible in the artificial lakes, and their water store may be made to change old haphazard methods of cultivation to beautiful terraced farms by means of irrigation."

To Deepen Channels

"Deepened river channels will make possible navigation of the streams. Barges, towed by river tugs will be able to move oil and farm products from Oklahoma to seaports on the gulf coast and to eastern points. A big reduction in freight rates would accompany the perfection of a system of river transportation."

Harrill estimated that there are approximately 750,000 acres of bottom lands in Oklahoma alone, that are flooded by water every few years.

Harrill has just returned from Washington, where he discussed flood control with government officials and engineers in the war department.

"The government engineers say that control of the Mississippi cannot be accomplished without control first of the Arkansas river," Harrill reported. "They estimated that 35 per cent of the flood waters that caused such devastation in the southern part of the United States came from the Arkansas.

"The government is ready to spend a billion if necessary in order to prevent recurrence of floods similar to the ones of the past year," he said.

TULSA HAS HOPE FOR BIG FUTURE AS RIVER PORT

Arkansas, Red and Other Streams to be Widened.

TULSO, Oklahoma. — Steamboats and barges plying up and down the Arkansas river, and other rivers in the southwest; and Tulsa as a great inland river port are foreseen by Tom C. Harrill, chairman of the Oklahoma state drainage and irrigation commission.

This picture, Harrill points out, is a possible outgrowth of changes to be wrought by proposed flood control measures, which will likely be effected on rivers that feed the Missouri and Mississippi rivers as an initial step in controlling the Mississippi valley situation.

Among the firsts steps to be proposed will be a deepening of the channels of the Arkansas, Verdigris, Grand, Smoky Hill, Red and other rivers in the southwest.

Feature of Conference.

This development, it is indicated, will be the feature of the flood control conference in Tulsa, July 14 and 15. Delegates to the congress are expected from all of the state vitally affected. Those states are: New Mexico, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, Colorado and Oklahoma.

Definite plans and estimates of actual cost for control of high waters through the southwest will be among the most important items considered at the meeting.

"Few people realize what a definite program to flood control means," Harrill stated. "Prevention of floods, of course is the main object of such a program.

"To prevent floods it will be necessary to build huge reservoirs and to deepen river channels," he said.

"The old reservoirs will provide recreation centers for people throughout the river valleys. Fishing, boating and swimming will be possible in the artificial lakes, and their water store may be made to change old haphazard methods of cultivation to beautiful terraced farms by means of irrigation."

To Deepen Channels

"Deepened river channels will make possible navigation of the streams. Barges, towed by river tugs will be able to move oil and farm products from Oklahoma to seaports on the gulf coast and to eastern points. A big reduction in freight rates would accompany the perfection of a system of river transportation."

Harrill estimated that there are approximately 750,000 acres of bottom lands in Oklahoma alone, that are flooded by water every few years.

Harrill has just returned from Washington, where he discussed flood control with government officials and engineers in the war department.

"The government engineers say that control of the Mississippi cannot be accomplished without control first of the Arkansas river," Harrill reported. "They estimated that 35 per cent of the flood waters that caused such devastation in the southern part of the United States came from the Arkansas.

"The government is ready to spend a billion if necessary in order to prevent recurrence of floods similar to the ones of the past year," he said.

The Lady Called Fate

By Josephine K. Little John

SYNOPSIS.

JOHN MOORE makes a business trip to Tucson, Ariz., and there meets a former college classmate,

PHILIP MORTON, who invites him to dine, drink tequila and play cards with some friends of his. John asks the hotel clerk to get his railroad ticket and berth reservations and to call him in time for his train to New York. Philip says a chauffeur is to call for him, and he may merely ask for "The man from New York."

The three Arizonians to whom Moore is introduced dislike Morton and give him a stiff drink to put him to sleep while they play cards with Moore.

CHAPTER THREE.

Morton broke in suddenly. "Dream! I'll show you something to make you dream!" His voice was thick again. He fumbled in his pocket, then drew forth a card and propped it against the tequila bottle on the green baize table.

"How's that? Pretty enough to dream about? She's thrown in with the half million! If I liked her—"

At the pronoun John's eyes sought the card against the tequila bottle. It was the picture of a girl. She seemed to be gazing straight into his eyes. For an instant John thought he knew her. But that was impossible. Yet, what was it about her look that seemed familiar? He bent nearer to see.

"Poker-Face is dreaming for once!" jeered Morton coarsely.

"Put it away," said John. "You're drunk."

Morton lurched to his feet and leaned half across the table, steadying himself with one hand upon it. "I told you I could make you dream. You can dream about her—if I like her—I'll dream with—"

John also rose to his feet. "You are a little wonder," he said pleasantly. "But I thought you were going to play cards."

Morton stared at him stupidly. "That's right, play cards," he mumbled. His eyes were beginning to film and he swayed badly as he attempted to regain his chair.

"Time for bylo has arrived, I take it." Stewart Long, rising as he spoke, caught Morton firmly by the arm. "This way, Old Top; a nice soft corner of the floor for yours. Come along with your Uncle Dudley!"

Under the direction of Long's guiding hands and silky tones, Morton staggered to a corner and sank down upon the floor. Almost at once he was deep in drunken slumber.

"How's that? Pretty enough to dream about? She's thrown in with the half million!"

"Pleasant dreams," drawled Long and left him.

"Gather round, boys, gather round for a quiet game," chuckled Beechy. "Four we play." He dealt the cards.

The picture of th egirl still stood against the tequila bottle. John Moore waited for someone to remove it, but no one did. The three men had apparently forgotten it. John could not because the girl seemed to be gazing straight at him; he even fancied that she was protesting at the indignity of her position and expecting him to remedy it.

"Shall I take charge of this?" he asked, picking up the picture. The others looked up and nodded carelessly. John placed it in his breast pocket. "I will destroy it later," he thought. "That fellow in the corner should not be allowed to have any girl's picture."

"Play poker!" growled Towner.

They played. And now and then they drank. The room was very still except for the terse announcements of the players, the click of chips and Morton's stentorian breathing in the corner.

Near midnight the room clerk telephoned up to say that the eastern train was an hour late but that Mr. Moore was not to worry; his tickets and berth were down stairs and the office would keep him informed; and that although he himself, Tom Black, was leaving, his brother was here and quite understood all Mr. Moore's arrangements.

"Lucky for me that he does," thought John to himself as he turned away from the phone, "for I am fast reaching that point where I don't."

They played on and on. John stared at his cards and played automatically. He was nearly over-powered by the desire to sleep. Now and then he heard Beechy's chuckle. Or he answered "Salud" to someone and drank. And still they played.

Sometime near two o'clock there came a knock at the door. After sundry invitations to enter of varying politeness, it was opened by a man who remained standing on the threshold.

"Who the devil are you?" demanded Stewart Long.

"Ned Black, the new night clerk. There is a call for this room for a car—"

"Right," said John Moore. "It's mine." Se stood up suddenly. "I bid you all good-night," he continued courteously, enunciating each syllable with careful distinctness. "And many thanks for a wonderful night."

The night clerk came into the room and spied Philip Morton in the corner. "Oh, this is the other gentleman," he exclaimed. "In the corner here."

"It's a soft corner," remarked Stewart Long.

"I'll attend to him. I've come for him," said the night clerk.

"He said you would. He's been waiting for you," chuckled Beechy. "You can have him for keeps; 'e'all right with me!"

"Here we go," sang out John Moore.

"This way—" coaxed the night clerk veering Towner around a bit. And out they went.

"Leave Joe alone," grumbled Towner. "We'll take care of him."

"All right," grinned the clerk and went on ahead along the corridor, down the broad stairway and across the lobby to where two bell-hops were dozing on a bench.

"Here Bud, George—wake up! That tenderfoot is sure stewed all right. Go up and get him. He's in room X. Bring him down and take him in a taxi to the Espee, the way Tom told you to. Here's his railroad ticket and his berth—lower 5, car 11; give 'em to the conductor and tell him how it was, see? And here is the five he left for each of you and this is his bag. Get a move on, the train is due now."

The bell hops took the steps two at a time. At the top they met the [illegible], still arm in arm, poised above the perilous descent of the stairway; gingerly they glad on heaving white-tiled sea of the lobby floor.

The night clerk was waiting for them. "The car is outside," he suggested gently.

"My bag, my bag?" asked John.

"This black one is yours," remarked the night clerk.

"Certainly," said John without a glance at the bag. "Certainly."

"I'll carry it out," offered the night clerk, "and get rid of you," he muttered. "Here, you'll have to go singly through the turnstile door."

With difficulty he guided them one by one, through its intricate mazes to the pavement outside.

A man with his coat collar high about his ears and his hat pulled low over his eyes, ceased pounding his feet on the curb before a great curtained car and came up to them. "El Senor, from New York?" he inquired politely with a melodious Spanish accent.

"This is your man from New York," stated the night clerk. "Here's his bag."

"Certainly," said John graciously and bowed.

"El Senor habla Espanol?" inquired the Mexican with some surprise. Receiving no reply he turned back to his car.

"Good bye, Joe," mourned Towner.

"Goo'by, Old Scout," echoed Stewart.

"Come again, Joe," urged Beechy. "Another little drink—"

The Mexican had returned with a great fur coat which he now held out. "Mucho frio." He shivered suggestively and held up the coat.

"Mucho frio," repeated John. With the hindrance of his three friends he struggled into the coat.

Just at this moment a bell hop staggered out of the turnstile door, supporting Morton. Another turn of the door and the second bell hop emerged and sprang to his companion's assistance. The night clerk ran forward and opened the door of a waiting taxi. The three of them together pulled and pushed Philip Morton inside, the two bell hops followed, the night clerk slammed shut the door. "Drive fast to the Espee!" he ordered.

The car backed, whirled and darted down the street into the larkness.

John Moore, ensconced on the rear seat of the big touring car, wrapped round and round with rugs by the Mexican, waved a last farewell to his faithful friends through the glass window in the side curtain. "See you—sometime, certainly!" he promised.

The big engine whirred, then throbbed. The car backed slowly away from the curb, wheeled half about and moved smoothly forward.

"Goo'by, Joe; Goo'by, Joe," called his friends for the last time.

The big car swung westward on Congress Street and continued along it down the hill, across the railroad tracks and the bridge over the Santa Cruz and turned to the left on to Mission Road.

John Moore settled lower into his four rugs; his head dropped.

Still the car raced on. Presently it turned sharply towards the mountains on the right; wound in through the pass and out once more on the straight away. Twenty miles further on it swerved again and headed due south, over the old, old trail to the border.

On and on through the night throbbed the car; while inside John Moore was fast asleep.

And high overhead in the velvet sky mocked the golden stars.

Down went his foot, so suddenly that Stewart Long on the far end of the line was jerked four steps down before Beechy and John could stop him, and in so doing they tripped a couple of steps themselves. Towner, yielding to John's pull, followed heavily after. Still the car raced on. Presently it turned sharply towards the mountains on the right; wound in through the pass and out once more on the straight away. Twenty miles further on it swerved again and headed due south, over the old, old trail to the border.

On and on through the night throbbed the car; while inside John Moore was fast asleep.

And high overhead in the velvet sky mocked the golden stars.

Kellogg's

NOW 10¢
are the popular choice for flavor and crispness

PEOPLE the country over — in fact, most people who eat corn flakes — prefer Kellogg's. There's a big reason for this popular preference. It is flavor!

Everybody delights in the flavor and crispness, the airy-light freshness, that Kellogg's Corn Flakes are famous for.

Breakfast, lunch or dinner—Kellogg's are simply delicious. Always crispy light. Never tough-thick nor heavy.

Wonderfully cooling these warm-weather days. Extra delicious with fruits or honey added. Serve them for the children's supper. Wholesome and easy to digest.

Kellogg's have long been the world's most popular ready-to-eat cereal. No other corn flakes have ever been able to equal them for all-round deliciousness.

Served by all hotels, restaurants and cafeterias. On diners. All grocers sell them. Look for the famous red-and-green Kellogg package. It brings you corn flakes with the flavor people like!

Kellogg's CORN FLAKES

Made in the famous Kellogg Kitchens at Battle Creek. Shipped OVEN-FRESH to your grocer. All their crispness and delicious flavor protected by the patented waxtite inner-seal inside the package.

Music Exhibition Held.

Geneva's international exhibition of music, held recently in the large palace of exposition, proved a success. One of the features was an extensive display of modern instruments, including even those of mechanical and electrical variety. The history of the development of music included displays of instruments, sheet music, manuscripts and original documents written by great masters. In the auditorium were given a German opera festival, symphony concerts by orchestras from Amsterdam and Rome, performances by the Paris Opera Somique and an exhibtion by the Paris ryhthmic gymnastics.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED

FIRE SWEEPS UTAH'S "DISASTER TOWN"

A spectacular fire driving 850 persons from their homes with a damage of approximately $100,000 is the second disaster to visit Upper Bingham, Utah. Work of firemen and others saved the entire town from destruction. About a year ago another section of the town was nearly wiped off the map by a snowslide. The photo above shows the wreckage of a Bingham hotel, completely destroyed by the flames.

JAP POLITICS CHANGE AS NEW PARTY THRIVES

Two Old Units Give up Ghost in Tokio.

LOSE DIET SEATS

"Lloyd George" of Movement Long in Power.

TOKIO.—Politics in Japan, like those of any other country, always will be complicated but some of the kinks have been pulled out of the Japanese situation by the organization of Rikken Minseito, a new political party.

The birth of Rikken Minseito witnessed the death of two other parties, and that is the chief reason why politics of Japan thereby have been slightly simplified. Kenseikai, the party headed by Reijiro Wakatsuki, the former premier, and Seiyu Honton, a minority group which held the balance of power in the old days when Kenseikai and Seiyukai were the chief contending parties, merged to form Rikken Minseito. Kenseikai and Seiyu Honton, names long familiar in Japanese politics, therefore disappear.

Rikken Minseito is a lusty infant at birth for it sprang into the political arena immediately as the majority party in the Diet. By combining the Kenseikai and Seiyu Honton memberships, Rikken Minseito has 226 seats in the House of Representatives, as against 177 for Seiyukai, the party now in power.

Japanese "Lloyd George"

Heading the new party is Yako Hamaguchi, known as the "Lloyd George" of Japan, his likeness to the little Welshman consisting of a slight physical resemblance and a more marked resemblance in the matter of political astuteness. Hamaguchi long has been a power in Japanese politics and one of the bulwarks of the old Kenseikai. He held the post of finance minister in the cabinet of the late Count Kato, and in the Kakatasuki cabinet he was home minister, which corresponds to the vice-presidency in the Japanese system.

Hamaguchi's chief lieutenants will be Wakatsuki, former premier and president of Kenseikai; T. Tokonami, former president of Seiyu Honton, and Baron Tatsuo Yamamoto, former advisor to Seiyu Honton. There three constitute the board of advisers.

Rikken Minseito means the Constitutional Democratic Party. Five planks comprise its platform. They are:

1—By the accurate reflection of the popular mind in the lower affairs and distribution should be equalized, with a view to removal of the causes of social unrest.

3—International justice, as the guiding principle in the conduct of international relations, should be asserted and the principles of the open door and racial equality should be strongly upheld.

Practical Education.

4—The practical side of national education should be stressed and the fullest play should be given to the individuality of the student.

5—Every institution, either legislative or administrative, which has grown obsolete, should be abolished and the machinery of government should be adjusted in the light of changed conditions.

It is on this platform that Rikken Minseito hopes to ride into office, displacing the Seiyukai ministry headed by Premier Giichi tanaka. Since Rikken Minseito holds a majority of the seats in the Diet it is not unlikely that it will be able to maneuver the situation so that it may come into power during the next session of the Diet, if not before. Platform principles doubtless will have little to do with it but the astute political tactics of Hamaguchi and his advisors will.

Wales Turns Coal Mine Pit Boy

LONDON—England's heir to the throne turned pit-boy for an hour recently when he descended the Haig pit of the Whitehaven colliery company, rode in a miner's tub through the workings, and at a point more than a mile under the sea, spent thirty minutes at the coal face, during which he handled the pneumatic picks used in hewing the coal.

The Prince wore blue dungaree overalls, black and white check scarf, and a gray peaked cap. The outfit was voted by girls clustering around the pithead to suit him to perfection.

British Rail Strike Proves Expensive to Union Organization

LONDON.—The general strike of 1926 cost the British railwaymen's union $8,000,000, according to figures compiled by the Railwaymen's Review, organ of the National Union of Railwaymen. At the beginning of 1926 the funds of the N. U. R. exceeded $10,000,000. At the end of the year these were reduced to something over two million dollars.

The general fund of the union, which provides for sickness benefits, was in debt at the end of 1926 to the extent of $3,500,000.

U. S. AND JAPAN TRADE BOOMING SINCE BIG WAR

Five-fold Increase Disclosed by Commerce Report.

FIGURES QUOTED

Last Year America Took 42 Per Cent of Exports.

WASHINGTON.—The remarkable growth of trade between Japan and the United States since the world war is reflected in statistics just made public by the department of commerce.

Exports to the United States to Japan have increased more than five fold since 1913 while exports from Japan to the United States have more than quadrupled in the same interval.

The ratio of this trade in 1913 was approximately 3 to 2 in Japan's favor.

Increased Demand.

Increasing demand for American products in Japan, however, has shifted the ratio now to a little less than 4 to 3. At the present rate of increase the trade between the two countries promises to strike an even balance within another two or three years.

In 1913 the United States shipped $61,000,0000 of merchandise to Japan and received $9,000,000 from that country. In 1926 Japan purchased approximately $320,000,000 and sold the United States $104,000,000.

Japan's purchases in 1926 were $47,000,000 greater than in 1925, while the United States last year took $8,000,000 less than the year preceding. Thus the balance of trade against the United State and in favor of Japan decreased by $55,000,000 in the year, dropping from $140,000,000 to $85,000,000.

Best Customer.

The growing importance of Japan's trade with the United States as compared with its total volume of foreign commerce is reflected in the fact that last year the United States took 42 percent of all of Japan's exports as against 29 per cent in 1913. The United States supplied 28 per cent of her total imports last year as compared with only 16 per cent in 1913.

Japan's export trade to the United States, the statistics show, is more than double that to China and imports from the United States more than three times the Chinese volume. China ranks second in Japan's foreign trade.

FIRE SWEEPS UTAH'S "DISASTER TOWN"

A spectacular fire driving 850 persons from their homes with a damage of approximately $100,000 is the second disaster to visit Upper Bingham, Utah. Work of firemen and others saved the entire town from destruction. About a year ago another section of the town was nearly wiped off the map by a snowslide. The photo above shows the wreckage of a Bingham hotel, completely destroyed by the flames.

JAP POLITICS CHANGE AS NEW PARTY THRIVES

"Lloyd George" of Movement Long in Power.

TOKIO.—Politics in Japan, like those of any other country, always will be complicated but some of the kinks have been pulled out of the Japanese situation by the organization of Rikken Minseito, a new political party.

The birth of Rikken Minseito witnessed the death of two other parties, and that is the chief reason why politics of Japan thereby have been slightly simplified. Kenseikai, the party headed by Reijiro Wakatsuki, the former premier, and Seiyu Honton, a minority group which held the balance of power in the old days when Kenseikai and Seiyukai were the chief contending parties, merged to form Rikken Minseito. Kenseikai and Seiyu Honton, names long familiar in Japanese politics, therefore disappear.

Rikken Minseito is a lusty infant at birth for it sprang into the political arena immediately as the majority party in the Diet. By combining the Kenseikai and Seiyu Honton memberships, Rikken Minseito has 226 seats in the House of Representatives, as against 177 for Seiyukai, the party now in power.

Japanese "Lloyd George"

Heading the new party is Yako Hamaguchi, known as the "Lloyd George" of Japan, his likeness to the little Welshman consisting of a slight physical resemblance and a more marked resemblance in the matter of political astuteness. Hamaguchi long has been a power in Japanese politics and one of the bulwarks of the old Kenseikai. He held the post of finance minister in the cabinet of the late Count Kato, and in the Kakatasuki cabinet he was home minister, which corresponds to the vice-presidency in the Japanese system.

Hamaguchi's chief lieutenants will be Wakatsuki, former premier and president of Kenseikai; T. Tokonami, former president of Seiyu Honton, and Baron Tatsuo Yamamoto, former advisor to Seiyu Honton. There three constitute the board of advisers.

Rikken Minseito means the Constitutional Democratic Party. Five planks comprise its platform. They are:

1—By the accurate reflection of the popular mind in the lower affairs and distribution should be equalized, with a view to removal of the causes of social unrest.

3—International justice, as the guiding principle in the conduct of international relations, should be asserted and the principles of the open door and racial equality should be strongly upheld.

Practical Education.

4—The practical side of national education should be stressed and the fullest play should be given to the individuality of the student.

5—Every institution, either legislative or administrative, which has grown obsolete, should be abolished and the machinery of government should be adjusted in the light of changed conditions.

It is on this platform that Rikken Minseito hopes to ride into office, displacing the Seiyukai ministry headed by Premier Giichi tanaka. Since Rikken Minseito holds a majority of the seats in the Diet it is not unlikely that it will be able to maneuver the situation so that it may come into power during the next session of the Diet, if not before. Platform principles doubtless will have little to do with it but the astute political tactics of Hamaguchi and his advisors will.

Wales Turns Coal Mine Pit Boy

LONDON—England's heir to the throne turned pit-boy for an hour recently when he descended the Haig pit of the Whitehaven colliery company, rode in a miner's tub through the workings, and at a point more than a mile under the sea, spent thirty minutes at the coal face, during which he handled the pneumatic picks used in hewing the coal.

The Prince wore blue dungaree overalls, black and white check scarf, and a gray peaked cap. The outfit was voted by girls clustering around the pithead to suit him to perfection.

British Rail Strike Proves Expensive to Union Organization

LONDON.—The general strike of 1926 cost the British railwaymen's union $8,000,000, according to figures compiled by the Railwaymen's Review, organ of the National Union of Railwaymen. At the beginning of 1926 the funds of the N. U. R. exceeded $10,000,000. At the end of the year these were reduced to something over two million dollars.

The general fund of the union, which provides for sickness benefits, was in debt at the end of 1926 to the extent of $3,500,000.

U. S. AND JAPAN TRADE BOOMING SINCE BIG WAR

FIGURES QUOTED

Last Year America Took 42 Per Cent of Exports.

WASHINGTON.—The remarkable growth of trade between Japan and the United States since the world war is reflected in statistics just made public by the department of commerce.

Exports to the United States to Japan have increased more than five fold since 1913 while exports from Japan to the United States have more than quadrupled in the same interval.

The ratio of this trade in 1913 was approximately 3 to 2 in Japan's favor.

Increased Demand.

Increasing demand for American products in Japan, however, has shifted the ratio now to a little less than 4 to 3. At the present rate of increase the trade between the two countries promises to strike an even balance within another two or three years.

In 1913 the United States shipped $61,000,0000 of merchandise to Japan and received $9,000,000 from that country. In 1926 Japan purchased approximately $320,000,000 and sold the United States $104,000,000.

Japan's purchases in 1926 were $47,000,000 greater than in 1925, while the United States last year took $8,000,000 less than the year preceding. Thus the balance of trade against the United State and in favor of Japan decreased by $55,000,000 in the year, dropping from $140,000,000 to $85,000,000.

Best Customer.

The growing importance of Japan's trade with the United States as compared with its total volume of foreign commerce is reflected in the fact that last year the United States took 42 percent of all of Japan's exports as against 29 per cent in 1913. The United States supplied 28 per cent of her total imports last year as compared with only 16 per cent in 1913.

Japan's export trade to the United States, the statistics show, is more than double that to China and imports from the United States more than three times the Chinese volume. China ranks second in Japan's foreign trade.

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR'S SUMMER "SPOILED" BY ARMS' CONFERENCE

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, July 22. — His entire summer's being spoiled for Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador here, by the everlasting naval limitations argument at Geneva, between the American negotiators and his own government's.

SIR ESME HOWARD

No diplomat likes to be tied by the leg during the dog days to as hot a capital as Washington gets to be at this season, but that's exactly Sir Esme's fix.

There's little for him to do. He has no voice in what's taking place at Geneva.

Yet he has to be here and look pleasant, to show that there isn't a bit of ill feeling on his part, even if his countrymen have been trying to put across on the United States rather more than they seem likely to succeed in getting away with.

AS Washington interprets it, the British at Geneva say, in effect:

"Britain, long mistress of the seas, means to continue being her mistress, but she's willing to limit the size of her fleet, on condition that America holds down to one a trifle smaller."

"Oh, no," rejoin the Americans. "We propose a 50-50 basis."

"Impossible," insist the British.

"It's our best offer," answer the American representatives — meaning that they know it's the best offer the senate will ratify, anyway.

THUS, they're deadlocked.

To say that anybody's angry, doubtless would be to exaggerate. Nevertheless, each side evidently feels that the other's unreasonable.

There's a certain mutual soreness.

Sir Esme's business is to massage this soreness out of the United States if he can.

He'd already left on his vacation when the Geneva jam began to develop. Hurrying back to Washington from the seaside, he's been on the job ever since, in a spell of weather fit to grill the eyeballs out of a salamander, let alone an apopletic Englishman in a high hat, cutaway, pearl gray pants, boiled shirt, spats and all the accessories.

NEARLY all the rest of the diplomatic corps's scattered hither and yon, on the golf links or tennis courts or in nice cool swimming pools.

A third assistant secretary is about the most important functionary you can find at any embassy or legation in Washington—except Britain's.

As for the bunch at Geneva, who are responsible for the whole difficulty—why, they're assembled at one of the loveliest summer resorts in Europe and probably don't care if the tie-up hangs on until snow flies.

In the meantime Sir Esme sticks here in Washington and sizzles.

WASHINGTON, by the way, has an idea that the balkiness—as it's regarded here—of the British representatives at Geneva isn't going to "take" very well with the home taxpayers.

You hear the prediction made that the upshot will be a national election in England before so many months are past, and a more accommodating London administration to deal with as a result of it, but guessing on transatlantic politics is a pretty long range proposition.

Sir Esme Howard, at all events, appears to have been whip-sawed out of his mid-summer "holiday," as the English call it, so far as this year's concerned, whatever may be the final fate of the Stanley Baldwin government, across the water.

Still Inventing at 86.

Although he is 86 and has lost his right arm, John Phillips, who is known in England for his many inventions, goes to work every day and continues to devise new things. He and his wife, who is 84, recently celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary at their home in Streatham. After Phillips lost his arm several years ago, he immediately learned to write and draw with his left hand. Among his inventions are a rotary bacon cutter, a pneumatic brake, a mineral water bottle, a pill packer and counter, and a machine for automatically turning the leaves of music at a piano.

The Grab Bag

July 22, 1927.

Who am I? Of what labor union am I the president? Within the union what element do I chiefly represent?

In Paris one year ago today, Raoul Peret was elected president of the chamber. Whom did he supplant?

What was the name of the Indian tribe whose power was acknowledged by most of the South American tribes at the time of the Spanish arrival?

Ruins of some of the buildings of the market place of ancient Rome still stand. What was this market or gathering place called?

The Democratic party is generally supposed to have been founded by one of the Revolutionary leaders and the third president of the United States. Who was he?

"The borrower is servant to the lender." Where does this passage appear in the Bible?

"Oh, no," rejoin the Americans. "We propose a 50-50 basis."

"Impossible," insist the British.

"It's our best offer," answer the American representatives — meaning that they know it's the best offer the senate will ratify, anyway.

THUS, they're deadlocked.

To say that anybody's angry, doubtless would be to exaggerate. Nevertheless, each side evidently feels that the other's unreasonable.

There's a certain mutual soreness.

Sir Esme's business is to massage this soreness out of the United States if he can.

He'd already left on his vacation when the Geneva jam began to develop. Hurrying back to Washington from the seaside, he's been on the job ever since, in a spell of weather fit to grill the eyeballs out of a salamander, let alone an apopletic Englishman in a high hat, cutaway, pearl gray pants, boiled shirt, spats and all the accessories.

NEARLY all the rest of the diplomatic corps's scattered hither and yon, on the golf links or tennis courts or in nice cool swimming pools.

A third assistant secretary is about the most important functionary you can find at any embassy or legation in Washington—except Britain's.

As for the bunch at Geneva, who are responsible for the whole difficulty—why, they're assembled at one of the loveliest summer resorts in Europe and probably don't care if the tie-up hangs on until snow flies.

In the meantime Sir Esme sticks here in Washington and sizzles.

WASHINGTON, by the way, has an idea that the balkiness—as it's regarded here—of the British representatives at Geneva isn't going to "take" very well with the home taxpayers.

You hear the prediction made that the upshot will be a national election in England before so many months are past, and a more accommodating London administration to deal with as a result of it, but guessing on transatlantic politics is a pretty long range proposition.

Sir Esme Howard, at all events, appears to have been whip-sawed out of his mid-summer "holiday," as the English call it, so far as this year's concerned, whatever may be the final fate of the Stanley Baldwin government, across the water.

Still Inventing at 86.

Although he is 86 and has lost his right arm, John Phillips, who is known in England for his many inventions, goes to work every day and continues to devise new things. He and his wife, who is 84, recently celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary at their home in Streatham. After Phillips lost his arm several years ago, he immediately learned to write and draw with his left hand. Among his inventions are a rotary bacon cutter, a pneumatic brake, a mineral water bottle, a pill packer and counter, and a machine for automatically turning the leaves of music at a piano.

SHARKEY CLAIM OF FOUL RULED OUT; REFEREE WORD IS FINAL

New York Commission Will Institute no Inquiry.

DECISION UPHELD

Smash in Pit of Stomach Fair, Says Rickard.

NEW YORK, July 22.—The New York state athletic commission will not institute an inquiry into the claim of Jack Sharkey that he was fouled by Jack Dempsey last night, James A. Farley, its chairman, clearly indicated today. In a formal statement, he stood by the decision of the referee, Jack O'Sullivan.

Referee Considered Competent.

The statement read:

"I have nothing to say, other than that the referee, who was assigned to the bout, rendered his decision as he saw it. This commission never has reversed the decisions of its officials.

O'Sullivan has always been considered by the newspapermen who write boxing as being a most efficient and competent referee.

Says Pictures Show No Foul.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Sharkey fight, declared today that Dempsey did not win the fight by a foul blow. He said the blow was to the pit of the stomach and was fair. Rickard was seated in the first row facing the fighters when the blow was struck. He claims the pictures of the fight will bear out his contention. His statement follows:

Imponderable Ether.

A Sick Whale.

Surprising a Rebel.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

SIR OLIVER LODGE says the ether is the most important reality of the physical universe. Life and mind are associated with matter only indirectly through the ether, says he, and the ether is primarily man's habitation, not pseudo "solid matter," eart houses, automobiles and money that we call the real world.

Matter reduced to atoms is only electric particles revolving at frightful speed around an electric centre. The real thing is ether.

SCIENCE tells us that ether is like a great stream of water, flowing on forever, and matter like a fisherman's net spread across the stream through which the ether flows, that ether is essential to the cosmic schemes, that Newton's law of gravitation should not work without it, and that ether is the only solid reality in the realm of ideas. But for the average man it is hard to conceive of ether as a reality. It seems as unreal as the fourth dimension.

Our minds are adjusted to the work we have to do, which isn't big or very important.

IF told that the sickness of a sperm whale in the Atlantic ocean could set up an ancient sailor man in a comfortable chicken business, you might say "impossible." But it happened.

When whales don't feel well, lumps of a substance called "Ambergis," valuable to perfume manufacturers, form inside of them.

Jeremiah Pratt, seventy-four years old, lookout on a schooner, saw gulls hovering over a big lump of Ambergis, worth $12,500. With that money, Sailor Pratt will retire to a chicken ranch and thousands of women will go around perfumed by the Ambergis.

SANDINO, leader of Nicaragua "rebels," was perhaps right in his idea

EPHRAIM JOB "BIG MISTAKE," GEORGE TASKER TELLS COUNCIL

Engineer Claims Grade Was Established 25 Years Ago.

SOLONS WILL ACT

Legislation Enacted for Four Street Improvements.

A thorough investigation of the complaints of Ephraim street residents that their property has been damaged by the grading of the thoroughfare. will be made by a councilmanic committee, working in conjunction with the city engineer, service-safety director and a committee of the property holders.

This was the decision of the municipal legislators at their meeting last evening, when a delegation appeared to protest against the improvements which are now nearing completion.

George Tasker, one of the spokesmen for the complainants, which numbered about 20, charged that an "awful mistake" had been made in the grading of Laura avenue as well as Ephraim street. He asserted that property on the upper side of the street had been left high in the air by cuts which ranged from five to seven feet.

Engineer Shows Maps and Plans.

Engineer Flay Clapsaddle, who attended the meeting, showed maps and plans for the grade which he asserted to have been established more than 25 years ago when the late John George, Sr., was engineer. He said that the grade stakes were set in the center of the street before the job was started.

George H. White, another property owner on the east end of Ephraim street, said that while he had refused to sign the improvement petition he would be compelled to build a seven-foot retaining wall along the front and one side of his property as a result of the grading. He claimed that it was impossible for him to drive his auto into his garage.

Councilman Hayes asserted that an investigation should be made, and, if a mistake has been made by the city, steps should be taken to adjust the matter. However, if the street has been graded according to the established plan, property holders have

The injured were taken to the City hospital in another car. McElravy's wrecker hauled the wrecked machine to a garage.

LABOR CHIEF HALTS ATTACKS ON U. S. POLICY

William Green Warns Latin-Americans at Washington.

STEAM SHUT OFF

Meeting no Clearing House for Political Ills, He Says.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The Pan-American Federation of Labor today adopted a resolution offered by the Nicaraguan delegation calling on the United States government "to free the Nicaraguan people from economic domination by for[illegible]n bankers or foreign governments."

WASHINGTON, [illegible] matory attacks on the foreign policy of the United States in its dealings with Latin-American republic, coupled with charges that the machinery of this government was being used in the interest of Wall Street bankers, caused President William Green to call a halt in such tactics on the part of Latin-American delegates to the Pan-American Federation of Labor in session here today.

Green warned the delegates that the gathering is not a clearing house for the political ills of Latin-America. He cautioned the delegates must not seek to use the convention to air such grievances.

Airs Nicaraguan Situation.

The admonition came in the course of discussion of a resolution offered by Salomon de La Selva, Nicaraguan delegates, calling for an investigation of the running amuck of an American marine in Haiti earlier in the week, resulting in the killing of one and the wounding of two natives.

The resolution also asked for indemnities for the victims' families. The resolution was adopted.

Green's intervention followed a vehement speech by Delegate Martinez, of Venezuela, in which he undertook to air not only the Haitian situation, but also the troubles in Nicaragua. He charged that since the days of Monroe the American government had used its powers to obtain a strangle hold on the economic welfare of all Latin-America.

Apparently the Roumanian people at large are taking little interest in the plans of Carol.

Vitaglass Being Tested.

Vitaglass, which admits the violet rays of the sun, is to be tested as to its benefits to plant life, at University college, Southampton, England, and at Kew. At Kew, one-half of an experimental greenhouse will be fitted with vitaglass, and the other half with ordinary glass. A typical selection of flowers will be duplicated in each section, while a similar course will be followed with a wide variety of plants, including radishes, sunflowers, and beans, in a large glass corridor with a southern exposure. It is hoped to discover whether any advantages, such as earlier cropping, better quality, heat saving, better color, hardier constitution, and greater resistance to disease, are obtained by the use of vitaglass.

FASHIONGRAMS

Latest news of the World of Fashion condensed for quick reading:

Fitful breezes bring hints of the new winter mode—a mode of intricate cut, richness and warmth.

The new skirts are brief and take to pleats and gently widening flares.

Velvet has gently insinuated itself into the heart fo the new mode. Panne and rich transparent velvets fashion frocks for daytime and evening, hats and wraps.

Wild animal prints are the newest in felt sports hats.

For those who so boldly dare to define their hipline, wide suede belts are ultra chic.

Good old-fashioned white pique fashions not only cuffs and collars but the jauntiest of blouses to be worn with pleated satin skirts.

Headlining the mode for fall will be felt and velvet.

The "swaying hemline" they call it—and achieve it by means of side godets, pleats, and circular skirts.

The bolero is still more or less with us—just in the back, or just on the side, however.

Black and beige lace dinner frocks will dine and dance at all the smartest places this fall until formal evening wear returns.

First winter coats follow the new unrestricted hemline. They flare a bit, are lavish with fur and deck themselves with tucks and cording.

Whether necklines be square, oblique or round, bows, ties and tabs they must have.

It's a little early to speak of fur coats, but the smartest promise to be bronze and black caracul, seal, muskrat and raccoon.

Ripples at side or front break the monotony of following the straight and narrow.

Johnny and Queen Anne are the names of the newest fur collars—standing types both, and very flattering.

Trans-Atlantic Hops Bring New Realization to Experts.

NEW YORK.—An around-the-world flight with nary a stop may be just around the corner of time but it must wait until the building of planes for such a super-human effort becomes as far advanced as the construction of motors.

This formed the consensus in leading aviation circles today in the wake of the recent non stop trans-Atlantic and trans-Pacific flights.

Whatever else these epochal flights may have disclosed, one fact was forcibly brought out which the technical men concerned with aviation deem of paramount importance—the planning and building of motors approximates perfection.

Motors Dependable.

Heretofore the average person regarded an airplane trip with mingled feelings of misgiving, and the fear of a stalled engine hundreds or thousands of feet in the ether was foremost. Airplane engines were viewed somewhat in the same light as prima donnas—too tempermental to get familiar with.

But the trans-ocean flights, topped by the remarkable performance of the three motors in the America which functioned perfectly on Commander Richard E. Byrd's memorable trip, have virtually dispelled this trepidation from the mind of the average person.

With the experience gained in building airplane motors in the years since the Wright brothers electrified the world with their heavier-than-air flying machine, engineers have been educated to a point where today they make them almost fool-proof. It took the recent cross-ocean flights, however, to impress uopn a skeptical public how far motors have been developed.

Remarkable Progress.

Even those closely identified with aviation, aware of the remarkable progress made in this respect, were at least mildly surprised by the performance of America's motors. For approximajely 43 hours through the most discouraging weather conditions, the three engines popped away steadily, never faltering once until a shortage of fuel made a forced landing necessary.

And around-the-world non-stop flight—a plane so built as to carry sufficient fuel for such an effort.

The motors used in each of the trans-ocean flights were good for 100 hours, on a conservative basis, without need of mechanical attention, according to experienced engineers. And 100 hours at the rate of 100 miles an hour would take a plane 10,000 miles.

Today it has been proved that motors have practically been made safe enough for a non-stop flight around the world. But aviation must await the planning of a ship capable of carrying enough fuel for such a breath-taking attempt.

Manassa Mauler's Comeback

Jack Dempsey won the right to challenge for the heavyweight championship crown, which he lost to Gene Tunney at Philadelphia one year ago, by his slashing victory last night over Josef Paul Cukoschay, Lithuanian, who calls himself Jack Sharkey.

The Manassa man mauler, as the ex-champion is known, is again the popular idol of the pugilistic world, by reason of a left hook to Sharkey's jaw in the seventh round of their scheduled 15-round battle at Yankee Stadium, New York.

The end came suddenly after Dempsey had administered a merciless barrage of punishment to the Bostonian's body in one of the wildest fights in puglistic history, and earned for the one-time champion the plaudits of 84,000 fans, most of whom had been cheering for the underdog.

As one writer says, the victorious blow, with all Dempsey's 194 1-2 pounds behind it, knocked all the gab as well as the heart out of the talkative Sharkey, who, until a few minutes before the bell for the first round, had been a favorite in the betting.

And despite the Boston man's claim of foul, which was not borne out by the physicians' examination of the Lithuanian after he was carried from his corner, Dempsey's victory was clean cut. And, too, it proved that although 32 years old, he still has the punch and stamina to exchange blows with the best in the business.

Dempsey's return from Hasbeenville, to which most of the so-called experts had exiled him, was spectacular. He is undoubtedly the best heavyweight of the day, excepting, of course, the man who defeated him in the City of Brotherly Love. And his defeat of Sharkey affords him the opportunity to demonstrate whether or not he can upset all precedent by regaining the crown he has lost. The September battle between Dempsey and Tunney should break all box office records.

Oil Lamps

There is an old adage about "carrying coals to Newcastle," which is supposed to represent the height of futility. Yet it would be sensible enough to carry coal to that famous center of the English coal industry if the Newcastle citizens were burning wood or peat for fuel.

We seem to need some similarly scornful formula for the lighting situation at Muscle Shoals. It develops that Muscle Shoals City, built around the greatest electrical generating plant in the world, is lighted with coal oil lamps. There is enough power issuing from that plant to light several states, and a great deal more available.

Let it not be assumed, however, that the Muscle Shoalers are oblivious to their absurd plight. Business men are now petitioning the secretary of war to grant a franchise for lighting their city in the modern way. He is expected to grant it, even if the oil industry does need the business.

Glory In Spelling

When Dean Lucas, the 13-year-old winner of the national grammar school spelling contst, got back home in the tiny village of Congress, O., the whole community for miles around turned out to honor him. You'd almost have thought he was another Lindbergh, or at least a Red Grange. There was a big parade, headed by a famous city band, and there were speeches and hand-shaking and back-patting until young Dean, though very happy, was nearly worn out.

Really, we're coming on, when proficiency in spelling is held in such high esteem. It almost looks as if a great speller were appreciated as much as a great football player or prize fighter. Scholarship may yet come into as much honor as athletic ability.

Pass the word along among the youngsters that there's glory in the spelling book.

Stellar Earnings

Hollywood film stars, one learns, are wearing earrings again.

Adoring flappers may welcome details. "Instead of the long drop earrings that fall from the lobe of the ear to the shoulders, a circular effect is smart. Although the designs are smaller than last year's, the most scintillating gems are being used. One player features the crescent moon in a pair of diamonds and platinum ornaments."

The goddesses of Hollywood may run less to genuine jewels if their employers put over the salary cuts recently announced, but there are always good imitations to be had by them and, fortunately, by their admirers.

Let them go ahead now and wear rings in their noses and barrettes in their lower lips, if they want to. If they do, thousands of worshipful young persons will think it charming, and do likewise.

"Stinky" Davis— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK, July 22—Thoughts while strolling: Window card: "Exotic manicure." Whatever became of high Spanish combs? Bruce Reynolds. Home from another European junket. Laughing youth off to hike the hills. Only a slight black patch left in Chaplin's graying head.

People will not pay high prices these days without protest. Those shirt-sleeved men who light red lanterns. And sit around the rest of the night watching them. Evening runners tear up the avenue in B. V. D.'s. Cats begin to prowl.

Mouse-like girls who seep out wondering where their next diamond is coming from. The first stir of night life—musicians strolling toward Broadway. Gid-dap wagons fill for a jaunt in the park. Lights popping in myriad topless towers.

Sidewalk hogs refusing to budge and aiding New York's fame as an ill-mannered town. Drooping vegetable wagon horses returning to their stables. George M. Cohan's son, Shabby old men who finger watch chains. Rhinestone heels. A hurdy-gurdy grinds out, "Lucky Day."

What became of the electrical Corticelli cat? English actors trying to look a little more British. The coiling lines at movie windows. Reading tabloids while they wait. The nocturnal sheen of all-night millinery, shoe and perfume shops.

Early diners who pick their teeth in front of cafeterias. And discuss the last one at Pimilico. News bulletins in haberdashery windows. Chorus girls rushing breathlessly to stage doors. Glittering signs outside Chinese cafes and dimly lighted inside.

Traffic begins to tie up in a knot. And gutters flood with pedestrians. A whole section becomes taut, like a fiddle string. Or like an hysterical woman preparing to scream. The serene indifference of a mounted patrolman. The first cry of early morning editions.

A gentleman assigned a seat at a banquet table, along with a group of roystering newspapermen, kept himself totally aloof from their banter. He had, at one time, occupied a diplomatic post in some obscure corner and never forgot it. Thus after time a good-natured effort was made to make him one of the party, but he continued his sedate manner. Finally one scribe, who was on his tenth one, could bear it no longer. "Why don't you come off your yacht and join us?" he inquired.

---

One of the gay methods of hastening friends to their graves hereabouts is to have cards sent up to apartments, reading somewhat like this: "J. Clifton Smythe, Special Investigator, Arrears Division, U. S. Income Tax Department." The cards are printed at little hole-in-the-wall hurry-up places and the relief is generally so great when the joke is discovered that the very best prewar is uncorked.

---

I have been in New York long enough for movie ushers to put me in the seat they select. And that is where the pictures appear as a human being appears in trick mirrors of curio halls. Indeed, many of us almost over night are beginning to find the polite usher a bit of a nuisance. We gaze around and see stronger-minded folk from Kansas, Nebraska and wherenot, serenely occupying choice seats in the middle center of the house. They have not been fed up on this propaganda that the new movie usher is a Sir Galahad. They refuse to believe his life is consecrated to their future the moment he claps his eyes on them. If a bowing usher attempts to pilot them to the worst seats in the house, they give him a contemptuous sniff, go their way and pick their own seats. They refuse, bless them, to be bambaazled by a slice of overdone politeness. What they want is to see the show.

A few days ago my enthusiasm for the polite new movie usher was boundless. Today I find him somewhat a pest. Just a boy no one can please.

STRAIGHTENING A SLIGHT ERROR

Maurice Barrymore was famous, among other things, for his wit. At repartee he had no superiors and very few equals in or out of the profession. Once upon a time he scored on another well-known actor without speaking a word, and yet theatrical circles rocked with laughter for weeks afterwards.

Artistically speaking, this other actor was not highly regarded by Barrymore. He belonged to the old school of ranting scenery-eaters for whom Barrymore had a profound contempt. Nevertheless his merits were valued by at least one individual—his manager.

The latter was putting on a classic play, with a really distinguished supporting company and with Barrymore's pet aversion, whom for convenience we will call James Walker, as the featured member. On the day when the bills went up for the forthcoming production Barrymore chanced to pass the Broadway theatre where the piece was to be played.

In the lobby entrance was hung a large poster. Following, as it did the usual form which read as follows:

MR. HENRY BLANK
Announces a Revival of
"The Rivals."
With the following notable Cast:

|---|---|
| Mr. John Doe | Mr. Richard Roe |
| Miss Jane Coe | Mrs. Mary Poe |
| Miss Olive Hoe | Mr. Jacob Stow |
| Miss This One | Mr. That One |
| Mr. Dash | Miss Space |

AND
MR. JAMES WALKER

Barrymore read the announcement through. Then he walked to the corner, entered a hardware store, purchased an extra large carpenter's pencil and returning to the theatre he made a change in the wording. He crossed out the "AND" and for it he substituted "BUT."

New Roads for Tourists.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Motor tourists of 1927 are finding or will find thousands of miles of fine new highways available for their use that were under construction last season and held much the same relation to motoring that hazards do to the game of golf. Complete figures on the improved road mileage brought in during the past year in the United States are not available, but estimates place the total well in excess of 10,000 for the Federal Aid system alone.

This bring the aggregate o fimproved highways made possible by the cooperation of the government and the several states to comething like 56,000 miles. In addition about 11,000 miles are now under construction and some of that mileage will be opened before the present touring season is over.

Many of the more recently completed highways are important links in the longer tours that motorists take, filling in gaps where paved roads were sadly needed or materially shortening routes that were needlessly long. Most of them, also, are in that sector of the country that would be enclosed in north and south lines drawn through Philadelphia and through Chicago.

Nothing so vexes the motorist as a highway well paved at either end but with a gap of several miles of bad roads in the middle or at any other point. That means taking a longer, round-about route to the objective or attempting to negotiate detours that may lead to grief. Hence the relief to motordom when any such gaps are closed up.

A conspicuous example of this is the direct route from Washington to Winchester, Va., the gateway to the famous Shenandoah valley. Three years ago this road was practically completed save for a gap of a few miles in the foothills of the mountains not far to the east of Winchester, but the gap spelled trouble to motorists in letters a foot high. It meant the risk of getting mired in wet weather and of broken springs, ruined tires, and various kinds of accidents at other times.

Routed Via Harpers Ferry.

As a result, information agencies sent tourists via Frederick, Md., and Harpers Ferry over a route that many of them had covered in whole or in part in reaching Washington. This entailed increased mileage, also, and missing the interesting and beautiful drive on the direct Washington-Winchester highway. Now the annoying gap has been closed and motorists are taking the shorter way from the National Capitol to the Virginia city, and are making it, by the way, in less time than Sheridan made his famous ride with "Winchester twenty miles away."

Another important gap that has been closed in highways in this part of the country is that in the road from Washington to Richmond. This city and the capital of Virginia are now connected by a magnificent highway of the kind that all good motorists expect to find everywhere when they go to heaven. It is not the type of pavement used in the other place which is said to be paved with good intentions. It is a broad concrete ribbon, splendidly based, with easy curves and grades that would not bother a faltering Ford. Moreover now that it has been completed more than 15 miles have been cut off the motoring journey between the two cities and touring to the Southland has been made materially more enjoyable.

Below Richmond there is an important newly completed highway to Wilmington where it connects with an equally new road from Norfolk to Savannah, Ga., whence the main route to Jacksonville and on into Florida may be taken. Down in the latter state there is a new highway from Lake City to St. Petersburg that will delight tourists; also a gap out of Lake City on the main route to New Orleans has been completed.

Heading southward from the Middle West there is a new road from Cleveland to Bristol, Tenn., where it connects with the old road to Asheville and thence with a new direct highway to Atlanta. From Bristol to Knoxville there has been an improved road, but now there is a new one from the latter city to Nashville, where it hooks up with a new one to Memphis and the old ones to Birmingham and to Chattanooga. An important gap from Chattanooga to Atlanta has also been closed.

A Road Long in Building.

A highway, the importance of which was recognized in the earliest days of the Republic, but which has not been completed until the present year, is one to intrigue motorists and to mystify them when they are told that its construction was authorized by congress more than 130 years ago. They may even be inclined to spoof at the idea and declare that "there ain't no such road." But there is.

It is known as the Defense Highway. It links Washington with Annapolis and is the direct route from the National Capital to Chesapeake bay.

In colonial days, before Baltimore was a flourishing city and before what is now Washington had been thought of as the seat of government of a nation not yet established, it was a post road and a part of the shortest route between the North and the South. It wasn't much of a road, winding its course through clay banks and through or around swampy places, but it was the way that the forefathers traveled in the period when a horse's back was the best means of transportation save under the most favorable weather conditions when chaises or coaches might be used.

Its military importance was seen immediately it had been decided that the National Capitol should be located

KANSAS BUILDS NATURAL GAS HELIUM PLANT

Million Dollar Factory is Second in Country.

TEXAS FIRST

Plan to Supply U. S. With Fuel for Dirigibles.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kansas.—Construction has started on a plant for the extraction of helium from natural gas, at Dexter, near here. The plant will be the second in the United States for the manufacture of helium gas, and will be built at at cost of $1,000,000. The first and only such plant in the United States at present, is located at Fort Worth, Texas.

The plant at Dexter is being built by the Kentucky Oxygen and Hydrogen company. Contracts have been signed with the United States government to supply the government with a large part of the gas.

In Big Field.

The helium field is said to extend for several mils in all directions from Dexter. The field was discovered during the world war, at which time the government made a survey and announced plans for the construction of a plant there. However, the end of the war culminated the existing demand for the gas and the plans were dropped.

Helium gas is non-inflammable and for that reason one of the most valuable so far discovered. Its most important use thus far is for the inflation of balloons and dirigibles.

In Natural Gas.

Professor H. P. Cady, head of the department of chemistry of the University of Kansas, is the scientist who first discovered the gas as a component of natural gas. He was experimenting on samples from Dexter wells when he made this remarkable contribution to aviation. Prof. Cady was interested in Dexter's experience with its natural gas twenty years ago. Wells were drilled and a good supply of natural gas brought in. The gas was piped for homes and business uses and not until then was it discovered that the gas would not burn without being primed with a kindling fire.

The natural gas at Dexter is said to contain as high as 2 per cent helium whereas the richest of the Fort Worth wells contains only about 1 per cent.

Ancient Cross Erected.

One hundred years after its discovery, a Celtic cross more than 1,000 years old was erected during a ceremony held recently in St. Patrick's church, Ballmena, Ireland. The cross was unearthed in 1827 while a ditch was being dug in the Kirconriola church yard, near Ballmena, and placed in the tower of the church, where it remained until 1879, when the church was burned. It was lost until recently, and was found broken in three pieces in the cellar of Ballymena Castle. The cross is of rough, hard limestone, 22 inches long and about three inches thick. The inscription was carved early in the tenth century.

France will pay $3,000,000 in subsidies to aviation companies this year.

LIQUOR VIOLATOR GIVEN JAIL TERM

Joseph Gillespie, of Hanover township, entered a plea to sale and possession of liquor in court yesterday morning before Judge Frank E. Reader. Gillespie was arrested recently by Private Yealy of the state police and Constable Latherow of Rochester township, after he is alleged to have sold Private Yealy a quart bottle of moonshine. After they had purchased the liquor the officers searched the premises and found nine quarts more.

Before passing sentence the court asked him if he intended to continue in the business, and his reply was that he hardly thought he would.

The court sentenced him to pay the costs, a fine of $500 and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for six months.

CHARLES RAY AT THE STRAND

May McAvoy Also Plays in "Fire Brigade."

Not since Charles Ray played in "The Girl I Loved" has he had a part that approached in dramatic sincerity that of Terry O'Neill in "The Fire Brigade," the epic love story at the Strand theatre today and tomorrow. Terry O'Neill is a part that would delight the heart of any actor, and one that has afforded Ray opportunities he has never before been granted. This role, which inclines to the highly dramatic as well as to the romantic, is balanced by a wealth of typical Charles Ray comedy.

May McAvoy has the feminine lead opposite Ray in this big Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature spectacle and plays the part brilliantly. The cast includes Holmes Herbert, Tom O'Brien, Eugenie Besserer, Warner P. Richmond, Bert Woodruff and others.

on the Potomac between Georgetown and Alexandria, and in 1795 congress passed an act authorizing the improvement of the road. No money was appropriated, however, and the project was held up for more than a century and a quarter.

Finally, when there was no longer the military necessity of a good road on the shortest possible route from Washington to Chesapeake bay, congress made financial provision for its construction with the cooperation of the state of Maryland. Even then there was delay in procuring the necessary funds and it is only within the past few days that the highway has been formally dedicated, although it has been open to the public for several months.

This new highway starts from Bladensburg, now a suburb of Washington, which is famed as a dueling ground in early American romanticism and as the site of the near battle that earned the British their chance to burn the White House in the War of 1812. It traverses a countryside that is poor in agricultural products today, but rich in history and tradition. Dedication ceremonies participated in by officials of the District of Columbia and the state of Maryland, were held at The Priests' Bridge over the Patuxent river.

This bridge replaces a wooden structure built by Jesuit missionaries about the middle of the 18th century and is near to Whitemarsh, which is one of the American shrines of Catholics. It was there that the meeting was held in 1784 that led to the appointment of John Carroll as the prefect apostolic of the Catholic church in the United States and headed off the then probable creation of a French bishop for the church in this country.

CANADIAN LIQUOR IS SMUGGLED INTO CITIES OF OHIO

Fourteen Federal Men Watch 300-mile Line.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

CLEVELAND, O., July 22.—Three hundred miles of Lake Erie shore line between Toledo, and Erie, Pa., along which there are only two United States customs boats, is known to lake shipping men as "Ontario's Gold Coast." It is the fairyland of rum runners who have organized the business of supplying Ohio.

Despite the hazards of open lake navigation and the combined efforts of the state and federal enforcement organizations, the Canadian liquor smuggling traffic on historic Lake Erie has expanded at such an alarming rate during recent months that it has forced the re-establishment here of the border patrol force abandoned in March, 1926, when customs officers believed the Ohio's rum row had been wiped out.

Resuming operations on the 300-mile patrol with 14 men and two boats after an open season of 15 months, Customs Collector A. P. Fenton, in charge of the Cleveland operating base, found the smuggling trade again enmeshed in the legitimate lake commerce.

Detroit and Toledo Get Bulk.

Although Cleveland's liquor receipts are considerably larger than a year ago, they are still relatively unimportant as compared with the volume of Canadian stocks entering Detroit and Toledo, according to prohibition operatives. Little of the Cleveland stock goes beyond the city by truck, whereas at the western end of Lake Erie, almost half of the Toledo landings are trucked inland to Ohio, Michigan and Indiana, some of it reaching as far west as Chicago and as far south as Cincinnati.

Besides being twice as far from the Ontario shores as Toledo, Cleveland's smugglers are hampered by District Attorney A. E. Bernstein, celebrated throughout the country as one of the most drastic prohibition prosecutors in the department of justice. Greater hazards of navigation in the open lake to Cleveland, bring Canadian whiskey to $10.00 a quart here, as against $4.00 to $5.00 n Detroit and $4.50 to $6.00 in Toledo.

Even these handicaps, however, have not driven the rum craft from Lake Erie and 851 prohibition convictions in the federal courts for the Northern Ohio district in the year ending July 1 have had little influence upon the speed boat traffic and blind cargoes which are the main source of supply for Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Canton, Sandusky, Toledo and Columbus. Only ten prosecutions in the Cleveland and Toledo federal courts last year involved lake carriers in the liquor trade. Only four seizures have been made since the re-establishment of the Toledo Erie patrol on June 1.

Watch Other Ports.

In addition to maintaining a constant vigil along 300 miles of open coast, Cleveland's force is required to keep a watchful eye on the important ports of Toledo, Cleveland, Sandusky, Port Clinton, Lorain, Ashtabula and Erie.

While the two customs boats skirt the coast's "Hot Points" in an attempt to drive off the high powered motor launches which dart in almost at will, lake steamers push into the public docks to land blind cargoes of 50 to 200 cases. When the customs officials direct their limited equipment to the wholesale dock shipments, the swift speedboats take up the trade under cover of night to lure the patrol boats again into the open lake.

Only a 24-hour shore guard can curb the speed boat traffic, prohibition officials say. Built to move in as little as six inches of water, the boats sweep up to the beach wherever their shore signal lights tell them the coast is clear. Unloading crews in hip boots drag the craft to a land anchorage and pass the cargo, man to man, to waiting trucks.

Taking advantage of the fact that the rum boats cover between 45 and 55 miles an hour as against a maximum speed of 30 miles an hour for the United States government patrol craft, the smugglers have devised a large-scale game of blind-man's-buff for the entire Ohio border.

TODAY

that Uncle Sam has no business dictating to Nicaragua, but he was wrong in his judgment of airplanes in war.

Sandino, who called himself "The wild beast of the mountains," told his followers that Uncle Sam's airplanes and bombs "only made a noise." A few bombs dropped by American fliers killed 200 of his followers, according to late reports, and probably killed more than ran wounded into the woods and died.

Sandino, abandoned by his army, hiding in some wild part of Nicaragua, is amuch surprised "wild beast of the mountains."

THERE would be some surprised statesmen in Washington if we had war in this country, with foreign airplanes treating our cities as Uncle Sam treated Sandino's followers.

FREY TO HEAD OHIO LABOR

Re-election of Cincinnati Expected at Middletown Meet.

MIDDLETOWN, O., July 22.—Election of officers today will mark the closing of the annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Labor here. The delegates are expected to re-elect John P. Frey, Cincinnati, president, and Thomas I. Donnelly, Columbus, secretary-treasurer. Donnelly has held this position 14 consecutive terms.

The work of organizing non-partisan political committees and committees for promotion of industrial safety throughout Ohio is to be launched by the federation at once, it was stated.

In connection with the industrial safety program, a state-wide meeting, it was stated, of laborers and employes will be held soon, under the auspices of the Ohio industrial commission.

Touching upon the federation's non-partisan political policy, President Frey stated that while there is no intention of inducing any union worker to leave his, or her, party, "labor does not intend to be bound to the chariot wheel of any one political party because of the beliefs of the individual."

DEMPSEY-TUNNEY FILM IS COMING

Slow motion pictures, showing the important punches, will feature the film showing the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship fight at Philadelphia last September, which will be presented at the Columbia theatre, all next week starting Monday.

From the opening gong of the first round to the bell in the tenth and final round there is nothing but action and plenty of it in the film. All the preliminary screening in connection with the fight has been eliminated but the fight fan will see each and every round of the big battle in which Gene Tunney, World war veteran, wrested the world's heavyweight championship from Jack Dempsey.

This will be the first time that the picture of the entire bout has been shown in East Liverpool. It will be shown at both the matinee and evening performances.

EX-COP GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

CHARDON, July 22.—After deliberating four hours a Geauga county jury returned a verdict of manslaughter in the case of William Richardson, former Cleveland policeman, who was tried for first degree murder, in connection with the death of Benjamin Barber, near Chagrin Falls, several weeks ago. Barber was beaten to death during a fight.

DENIES GUNS ARE ON JOB IN MINING ZONE

Adena District Quiet, Says Sheriff Allison.

Workmen Clean up Robyville Mine, He Says.

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 22.—Reports that machine guns, rifles and ammunition had been imported by mine owners in the Adena district, scene of several minor disturbances since the suspension of coal mining in Ohio last April 1, are without foundation, and the situation is very quiet, according to announcement from the office of Sheriff W. T. Allison here today.

The Robyville mine, near Adena, owned by the Pittsburgh Coal company, at present has but a handful of men who are engaged in cleaning up the workings and preparing for re-opening of the mine, according to the announcement. No resumption of actual mining was expected before six or seven weeks, in any event, it was said.

Union leaders in the district, while maintaining a picket patrol, were remaining silent concerning the operators' announcement that the mines would be opened under a non-union wage scale. Preparations were going forward to open several mines.

The announcement from the sheriff's office stated that there was no truth in the report that strikebreakers were being brought into the Adena district.

SEAPLANE BURNS; AVIATOR UNHURT

WASHINGTON, July 22. — Lieut. Com. E. E. Wilson, attached to the navy bureau of aeronautics, had a miraculous escape today when his seaplane had a forced landing near Buzzard's Point, on the Potomac, and burst into flames as it hit the ground.

Wilson escaped from the burning plane with only minor injuries.

50-FOOT FALL KILLS OHIO BOY

Ephraim Job "Mistake"

no cause for complaint, he declared.

President Kerr named Solons Poole, Kelly and Goodballet to represent council in a conference with a committee of the property owners to be named later. The complaint will be investigated before the next meeting of council.

Urge Plumbing Inspector Job.

J. T. Croxall, chairman, and Attorney George L. Brokaw, a member, of the health board, appeared before council to urge passage of an ordinance which provides for the appointment of the city engineer as plumbing inspector at an annual salary of $300 and also calls for the licensing of all plumbers in the city.

The proposed measure was enacted without a dissenting vote on first reading, but was halted when an effort was made to suspend the rules. Councilmen Farrall, Kommel, Kelly, Poole and Goodballet voting against it while Hayes and Hughes supported it. Farrall declared that he wanted to know where the $300 to pay the plumbing inspector was coming from. Kelly and Poole said the ordinance did not make it mandatory for the health board to place the inspection work upon the city engineer. Croxall and Brokaw said that the city engineer had already been appointed to this post.

Council decided to return the ordinance to the city solicitor for a new draft in which the suggested changes will be made. The proposed legislations will be brought up for reconsideration at the next meeting.

Seeks Lease on Alley.

A petition asking the city to place McKee avenue in a passable condition was read and referred to the street committee.

Request of Frank Kountz for a reduction of the assessment on his property in West Eighth street was referred to the claims committee.

John White requested that the city grant him a long lease on an alley in Klondyke, which leads from Ohio avenue to the river bank. He expressed a willingness to pay $5 a year for the use of the land. Council instructed the ordinance committee bring in legislation providing for this lease for a period of 25 years.

Property owners near the corner of Park and Oakland avenues, East End, submitted a petition requesting a street light. This request was referred to the service director following a lengthy discussion.

Another request from Second street property owners pleading for a reduction in the assessments for the resurfacing of that thoroughfare was referred to the claims committee.

Councilmen Kelly and President Kerr engaged in a verbal battle regarding statements the latter is alleged to have made regarding negotiations between the franchise committee and the traction company in the Thompson park line controversy. Councilman Farrall, also a member of the franchise committee, defended the committee.

Improvement Legislation.

Six ordinances and resolutions, four of them providing for street improvement jobs, were enacted on three readings under suspension of the rules. They were:

Resolution declaring it necessary to grade Montgomery avenue, from Jennings avenue to an unnamed alley.

Resolution declaring it necessary to resurface East Ninth street from Woodlawn to Lincoln avenues.

Resolution, declaring it necessary to grade and pave Harker avenue from Sylvan to Central avenue.

Resolution declaring it necessary to grade and pave Brady alley from Fawcett street to Watson avenue.

Resolution transferring $495 from the general fund to the service department fund to pay the city's share of the cost of the proposed Tanyard run sewer.

Resolution authorizing the service-safety director to advertise for bids for the furnishing of 150 tons of cast iron pipe and fittings for the Water works department.

Councilman Farrall suggested the enactment of legislation changing the names of alleys to "places" or "courts" as suggested by the city planning commission. He said that the term "alley" had been dropped by most of the larger cities. The matter was referred to the ordinance committee, which will work in conjunction with the city engineer.

GANGSTERS CLASH; 1 DEAD, 3 SHOT

DETROIT, July 22.—An underworld feud between rival gangsters last night, resulted in the death of one man and the wounding of his three companions.

Henry Caplan, 22, is dead, and Lewis Fleisher, 22, Edward Factor, 19, and Samuel Drattin, 18, are suffering from gunshot wounds.

SCAN PHOTOS FOR BANDITS

Shelby County Looks in Vain for $40,000 Loot.

COLUMBUS, O., July 22.—Accompanied by Sheriff S. E. Dilbone and Police Chief William O'Leary, of Sidney, Alphonse Berry, Shelby county treasurer, is expected to arrive at Ohio penitentiary today and make an effort to identify, from photographs of criminals in the prison record room, the three bandits who, Berry stated, forced him into an auto at Sidney Wednesday and robbed him of $12,000 in cash and $28,000 in non-negotiable checks.

If his quest is futile, Berry may then go to Fort Hayes, the U. S. army post here, and see if he can identify his assailants among the photographs of men who formerly served in the army and are believed to be criminals.

Police here were notified that the Shelby county commissioners have offered a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the three bandits.

No Quiz of Blow

foul blow struck. The punch that Dempsey gave Sharkey and which was one of the deciding factors in the fight was a blow in the pit of the stomach. This blow, which I saw very clearly, caused Sharkey to drop his guard. Sharkey's hand dropped and the punch to the jaw that followed knocked Sharkey out.

"The photoes show plainly that this is a fact. Sharkey dropped to his knees and didn't buckle like a man hit low. I have seen so many fights that I know this is correct. Sharkey has made no complaint to me. Neither has his manager, Buckley.

Official Figures on Gate

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The gate for the Dempsey-Sharkey fight fell about $15,000 short of a million dollars.

The bureau of internal revenue announced today that total paid admissions were $985,027. There were 77,283 paid admissions.

The federal tax from the gate is $98,502.

These figures were submitted to the bureau by L. J. Campbell, superintendent of accounts and collections in New York.

CAROL REGRETS HE THREW AWAY ROYAL CROWN

Realization of Follies Succeed Grief of Roumanian.

"It is His Majesty, Please," Says Mme Lupescu.

BY WILLIAM P. CARNEY.

(Copyright, 1927, by I. N. S.)

PARIS, July 22.—Former Crown Prince Carol, of Roumania, is "the man who would be king."

Tardy realization of previous follies have succeeded Carol's genuine grief of two days over the death of his father, King Ferdinand.

Carol is grieving today because he threw away the crown. Until today in numerous long talks with the former crown prince, the correspondents always addressed him as "Your Highness." When the International News Service correspondent was received by Carol this morning, he used the same greeting.

After a strained silence, Mme. Lupescu, the beautiful, red haired Roumanian woman with whom Carol has been living in Neuilly, made the correcting remark:

"It is his majesty, please."

Considers Himself King.

Carol seemed relieved. His attitude indicated plainly that he considers himself a rightful king.

Realizing that he lost the Roumanian throne through folly, Carol seems annoyed slightly by Mme. Lupescu's presence for the first time. Evidently he realizes how incongrous it was that she should be at his side when he heard the news of his father's death.

The former crown prince has to admit himself that Mme. Lupescu's presence embarrasses his family in their communications with him. On the other hand, Mme. Lupescu apparently fails to notice the change in Carol.

It would not be surprising, Carol's friends declare, if, in his effort to be dignified and show a kingly demeanor, Carol deserted his beautiful companion.

Carol has not received a reply to his request for permission to attend his father's funeral at Bucharest.

If Carol remains in Paris, he insists he will attend a memorial service in the Roumanian church on Sunday, waving aside the warning that a plotter may attack him if he shows himself in public.

Men Head Toward West Virginia After Jail Break.

LANCASTER, Ohio, July 22.—Authorities here today were inclined to believe that Charles E. Smith, 49, alias Peck Oyler and Herman Ester, 18, alias John Foley, who escaped from the county jail here Thursday night, are headed toward West Virginia.

Other jail prisoners today told officials that Smith, in conversations with them, announced intention of trying to get into West Virginia if he escaped from the jail.

Music of a band in a parade passing the jail drowned out the noise occasioned by Smith and Ester who pried an opening in a cell door. Opening a window leading to an adjoining roof, they made their getaway.

"THE NIGHT OF LOVE"

With RONALD COLMAN and VILMA BANKY

Complete in Two More Issues Review-Tribune

Strapped to a mule, the proud Duke Bernardo was lugged to the bandit lair like so much meal. His bride, Marie, the beautiful captive, was treated with more consideration. But in the bandit's tower by the sea, Montero, the gypsy, became menacing.

In the presence of Marie's spouse, bound to a piller, Montero toasted both in a flagon of ducal wine, and announced that he would treat her exactly as his Romany bride had been treated by the Duke. A roar of almost insane rage from the Duke greeted this taunt.

At first Marie haughtily tossed her head, and tried to wither the presumptous outlaw with her frowns. But realizing him to be in deadly earnest, she dashed to the window to escape. Monero challenged her to leap from the high tower.

But Marie was of no less heroic libre than the gypsy's ill-fated bride. She leaped. She was found insensible on the beach below. The outlaw so far softened as to carry her with tenderness back to the room which was her prison. The Duke he sent back home frantic with mental anguish.

"A toast to our Night of Love!"

"Tonight you are gypsy girl, and I your yord."

"Come back—you dare not leap!"

Her almost lifeless form aroused his pity.

Joys of European Trip Winning Over Nevada City.

GAY LIFE, TOO

Marital Misfits are Undone by Seine Tribunal.

NEW YORK. — Reno is losing its prestige as the divorce mecca of wealthy and socially prominent Americans. The lure of Paris and the Seine Tribunal, where marital misfits are undone with a minimum of inconvenience and discomfort are making serious inroads into the heretofore prosperous industry of the Nevada desert metropolis.

First, there is the trip itself. Who would not prefer the pleasure of an ocean voyage on a comfortable and commodious trans-Atlantic liner, equipped with every luxury, landing one at Havre or Cherbourg, with a short boat-train trip to Paris, all within a week, to five days across the American continent aboard a cramped and stuffy train to Reno?

Reno Loses Ground.

It may be a bit surprising to discover that as Reno is losing ground in divorces it is gaining in marriages at a rate that within a few years promises to elevate the marrying parson to a higher pinnacle than the divorcing judge.

In 1925 Nevada had 1,233 marriages, which in 1926 jumped to 1,228, a gain of 106. Reno's share in 1925 was 513, which had increased in 1926 to 558, a gain of 45, a bigger gain in marriages than loss in divorces.

The last year was no exception. The trend has been about the same for several years since Americans began flocking to Paris to do their divorce shopping, along with their shopping for hats and lingerie.

A Short Wait.

And then the wait of a few months to establish a residence and get a separation decree. How much pleasanter that time can be spent in Paris with its operas, revues, cabarets, night clubs, boulevard cafes, dance palaces and what not, than in Reno with its scant 12,000 population, and virtually nothing to do but wait, there on the fringe of a desert and mountain waste.

The answer is, clear. Paris wins. And to prove it the United States census bureau, which delves into all kinds of statistics, is just out with figures showing how Reno's divorce industry is on the decline.

In 1925 courts in the state of Nevada granted a total of 1,082 divorces of which 798 were awarded at Reno. In 1926 the state's total had slumped to 1,021, with Reno's quota down to 756, a loss for the state of 61 and for Reno of 42 in the year.

Lieutenants Dieudonne Coste, top, and Rignot, French aces, have been preparing to attempt to break endurance records set by American aviators, either in a flight to the United States or one toward India, a long distance.

BODY COVERED WITH TORTURING ECZEMA

Doctor prescribed soothing home remedy and healed trouble

Eolia, Mo., Aug. 19:—"Some months ago my daughter developed a bad case of eczema which spread almost all over her body. After days and weeks of distress caused by this skin trouble from which she could get no relief our physician prescribed Resinol Ointment. The first few applications brought signs of healing and the burning sensation was less severe. After several weeks' use of the product not a symptom of this terrible trouble remained. I hope others will be helped as my daughter was by your wonderful Resinol Ointment."—(Signed) Mrs. M. F. Downing, Route 1.

Resinol Ointment is also a soothing, healing dressing for minor burns, sores, rashes, etc. Your druggist sells it. Keep a jar handy.

LIMELIGHT RIM

NOTHING BUT EXERCISE.

NEW YORK—For once New York City has failed to provide an official welcome. After running the 260 miles of hard, hot roads from Boston to the metropolis, William Busch, carrying a sign on his back, "The Spirit of Charlestown," arrived in Times Square. Not an official was there to greet him. Even his own backers forgot to be on hands and the runner was forced to apply to the newspapers for clothing. Busch made the trip in 58 hours and expected to find a delegation waiting to receive him.

CITIZEN'S SECEDE.

BALTIMORE—Baltimore city officials engaged in a war on the pigeons that make their home around the city hall have more than the birds to contend with. After a large trap had been erected to snare the birds the citizenry protested and toted baskets of grain and bread crumbs to the scene. Followed a feast such as the pigeons had never before dreamed of. And now, well-fed, they won't approach the food-laden trap.

American pianos are being played in nearly every country in the world.

Fully 43,000,000 pounds of tea were exported by India last year.

O'BROSKY VICTOR IN MOUND DUEL

ALLOWING but five hits, two of them scratches, W. O'Brosky twirled K. T. K. to a City Industrial league victory over the Wellsville Nash Motors on Nicholson field last evening, 2 to 1.

Wellsville's only run was made in the last of the seventh when Huffman drove a liner into left field for four bases.

Neither side scored until the fourth when Kinsey went around. He reached first when H. Meyers fumbled his slow grounder after Fisher and A. O'Brosky had flown to G. Meyers and Hancock respectively. He went to third as H. Meyers booted Merchant's blow and finished on Huffman's wild pitch.

Kinsey, tripling in the first of the seventh, scored on W. O'Brosky's single to right after Merchant had fanHunselman singled. Simcox walked. Sunselman singled . Simcox walked. Howell flew to Rainer.

TUNNEY CLAIMS BLOW WAS FAIR

NEW YORK, July 22.—Nine out of fourteen New York boxing writers asserted today that the much-discussed blow which Jack Dempsey delivered just before knocking out Jack Sharkey last night, was a foul one. Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, said he thought the questioned blow was fair.

K.-C. Defeated at Dixonville

Dixonville defeated the K. of C. 9 to 2, in a Community league clash last night at Dixonville, the winners getting 11 safeties off McKenna's delivery.

The Dixies sewed the game up in the fourth frame when they chased five runs across the plate.

WINNER TO LEAVE FOR HOME SUNDAY

NEW YORK, July 22.—Jack Dempsey will leave for his home in Los Angeles Sunday, or Monday, to return east about the second week in August to resume training for his championship battle with Gene Tunney in September.

If the championship fight is held in New York, Dempsey will go back to Saratoga Lake to train, otherwise he will pitch his camp near the battleground selected.

Cardinals May Pull Dempsey Stunt and Regain First Place

NEW YORK, July 22.—The Cubs and Pirates are reeling around the National League ring like Jack Sharkey today, while the world's champion St. Louis Cardinals are apparently on the verge of pulling a Dempsey and regaining their proud position at the head of the pack. The Cubs are in first place again, but they got there by the somewhat negative method of losing only one games while the Pirates were losing two.

Having been walloped by the Giants, the Cubs tossed off a 7 to 3 decision to the Phillies yesterday. They are now only 2 1-2 games in front of the third place Cardinals.

Ray Kremer, Pittsburgh pitching ace, regained his early season form but unfortunately Kent Greenfield regained his form of two years ago at the same moment. Each allowed only five hits but the Grave won, 2 to 1, and then added insult to injury by taking the nightcap, 5 to 2.

The Giants, after tying the score with a brilliant five-run rally in the ninth at the expense of Haines and Alexander, tossed the game off to the Cardinals in the tenth, 7 to 6. John McGraw was put off the field for the first time in years, during one of many wrangles.

Babe Herman uncorked a wild thro win the thirteenth and the Reds nosed out the Robins, 2 to 1. Luque and Spittin' Bill Doak twirled scoreless ball for nine innings.

The Yankees win whether they hit or not. They got only five bingles off Connally of the White Sox, but bunched four of them in the eighth and won, 4 to 1, while Hoyt subdued the enemy.

Although Goose Goslin got four hits, including a homer, in four times at bat, the Senators lost to the Browns, 5 to 4, when Bennett doubled with the bases full in the ninth. Darkness ended the second game when the score was tied at two all at the end of the seventh. The Senators now trail the Yanks by 12 1-2 games.

Ty Cobb ran wild on the bases as the Athletics downed Cleveland, 8 to 3. Ty stole second and came all the way home when the Indians started throwing the ball around trying to catch him.

The Tigers won their fourth straight, swamping the Red Sox, 7 to 3.

Ex-Gob Won't Have Fight in Chicago; Dempsey Will Do It

NEW YORK, July 22.—Dempsey's victory over Sharkey last night virtually assures the staging of the next heavyweight title fight in Chicago on or about September 15. Sharkey had made some objection to going there but Dempsey is willing. The distance will be ten rounds. Among Chicago visitors here for the fight were several city officials and members of the South Park Board which controls Soldiers field, the immense public stadium on the lake front.

Tex Rickard has discussed previously taking the fight to Chicago with members of this board and will hold another consultation with the chairman today. Soldiers field, where the Army-....avy game was held last fall, seats 120,000 and a top price of $40 to $50 will be allowed for ringside seats.

ROUND BY ROUND STORY OF MANASSA MAULER'S CONQUEST OVER SHARKEY

ROUND 1—Dempsey came out in a crouch and fell into a clinch, hammering five short rights to the body as Sharkey missed a left hook. Dempsey bored in again, drilling hard smashes to the ribs. Jack hooked two lefts to Dempsey's head. They were close again and Sharkey got in two more to the head. Sharkey stabbed Dempsey with a left to the head. Dempsey bored in again, took two lefts to the head and again drove short punches to Sharkey's body. Sharkey looked tired. A left hook shook Sharkey's head back. Sharkey put two rights to Dempsey's body. Dempsey, reeling and groggy, moved about the ring under a fusillade Sharkey smashed him again with rights. Dempsey was groggy as Sharkey missed a long right. The bell caught Sharkey half way through a right swing. Dempsey went to his corner very tired.

ROUND 6—Sharkey, apparently much fresher than Dempsey, was playing a waiting game. He let Dempsey rush him again and Jack missed a long left to Sharkey's head. Sharkey was short with a left to the chin, but his right smacked solidly on Dempsey's jaw. Dempsey missed a long left. Dempsey came steadily on, however, ramming away to the body but Sharkey was all elbows on defense. Sharkey slapped a right to Dempsey's face. Dempsey followed him and they bobbed at each other until Sharkey shot Dempsey's head back with a terrific right uppercut to the jaw. It was the cleanest and hardest punch of the fight so far. Dempsey leaned in, however, pushing Sharkey to the ropes. Dempsey caught the sailor coming out with three smashes to the head and the crowd booed as Sharkey deliberately poked Dempsey in the face after the bell.

ROUND 7—Dempsey was weaving again and Sharkey held as the fire grew hot about his body. Dempsey knocked Sharkey down with a right. Dempsey suddenly whipped his right into Sharkey's stomach and followed with that straight left hand smash to the jaw that sent Sharkey down. Sharkey got to his knees at the count of nine, swayed and fell flat to his face as the referee counted ten. Sharkey's handlers claimed the blow was foul but the referee disallowed it. Probably the greatest ovation given a fighter was accorded Dempsey as the referee raised his hand in victory. The stadium fairly rocked. The round had lasted only forty-five seconds.

Amazing increase in Pontiac Six value made possible by the economies of the world's newest and finest motor car factory

The announcement last week of a smarter, more beautiful Pontiac Six at surprising price reductions was an unexpected sensation. High quality and low prices had been winning thousands to the Pontiac Six. Sales had been breaking all records—140% greater since January 1st than the corresponding period of last year!

Yet, due to the economies of increasing production in the mammoth new $12,000,000 Pontiac Six plant, savings were being effected. And these were passed to the public, not merely in the form of a history-making reduction—

—but with the additional value represented in fashionable new Duco color combinations.

So now the Pontiac Six is not only the lowest priced six—but the only low-priced six—offering:

—the smartness, luxury and safety of Bodies by Fisher—the extreme-smoothness, power, and stamina of the largest engine used in any six priced up to $1,000—the long life and economy assured by an oiling system which forces 250 gallons of oil an hour through the engine at 35 m.p.h.—and such convenience features as tilting beam headlights with foot control, and VV windshield!

These are vital factors which every buyer of a low-priced six has a right to expect. They are only a few of the features which make today's Pontiac Six a triumph of modern design and efficient production! Come in! Learn how much MORE you get for your money in the Pontiac Six at new low prices!

Dempsey Flashes Old Form As He Stops Sharkey In Seventh

Looking Forward Now To Return Bout With Champion in Chicago

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 22.—They had two strikes on Babe Ruth and then he hit one over the fence.

The old, old story, ancient as sin itself, the tale of the hare and the tortoise, was repeated all over again at the Yankee Stadium last night when Jack Dempsey, the great killer of fistiana, added another pelt to the old thatch pole. He knocked Jack Sharkey, that painfully confident young man from Boston, colder than a frappe after forty-five seconds of fighting in the seventh round, at a time when the tortoise seemed tottering on his last, palsied old legs and the hare was skimming over the landscape as only a hare can.

They were just about to declare it no contest out of resigned pity and prepare the melancholy obituaries about the man who was compared with the man who wasn't, when suddenly out of nowhere Dempsey lashed away in a clinch with a left to the body and jaw and Sharkey was no more.

Yes, they have had two strikes on Ruth. Many a man, they say, was born that way, but it means nothing to Ruth just as a few slaps on the side curtains mean nothing to Jack Dempsey.

Dempsey is often compared to a tiger, broken and toothless, but as long as a tiger breaths he is dangerous and so is William Harrison Dempsey.

Sharkey thought he was a pretty good fighter and I am not convinced yet that he wasn't and isn't. But the pitcher who slips one to Babe Ruth in the groove just because George is two down and one to go is a sap of purest ray serene and you can take my word for it that Sharkey was a most sincere sap last night.

He had before him the spectacle that was presented at the Philadelphia stadium last summer when Tunney declined to meet Dempsey body to body and heave at it like a couple of longshoremen. Instead, he moved rapidly about in widening circles, making a stand only long enough to slap Dempsey about with quick, short punches and then went right away from there.

I don't say that Sharkey is a Tunney. But he certainly is not a Dempsey, a statement to which undoubtedly he will place his seal and hand today.

He ought to know it, anyhow, for if he don't know now, the truth is never for him. He had the superior speed but he refused to use it, being too vain to back away even from the human killer.

It didn't seem to matter that Dempsey's legs were gone and that, in three rounds or less, they must fold up of their own weariness. No, Sharkey was too arrogant for such a finish as that. He must finish Dempsey with his own hand and, in such a program, it was inevitable that one man or the other must go quickly. In such a game, the odds were all with Dempsey and no Sharkey, of necessity, was elected. I hope he likes the office.

Of course, the question of Dempsey's left to the body had to come in for severe scrutiny and, in truth, it was low enough to deserve inquiry. It landed at or under the belt; not over it, in any case. But the writer is not particularly concerned with the punch in question. You can't foul a man with a punch on the jaw, and it was such a punch that finished Sharkey.

Further, there was no claim of foul in Sharkey's corner and the referee calmly went on with the tuneless ten, apparently serene in the belief that everything was as it should have been.

Anyhow, post mortems of that kind never won a prize fight. Hit them over the fence and, if the umpire says fair, it is so ordered even if you gather about until daylight and weep until your vests are sodden.

No, this fight is dead; long live the next one. And live long, it will.

Dempsey Acclaimed Again.

Dempsey and Tunney are set now to repeat their rampage of the rain, only this time they will play Chicago just by way of diversion, and for good measure.

No ballyhoo, no smoke up is needed. Dempsey is the greatest man before the public today. He is the darling of the galleries again, a man whom they trusted and whom they trusted not in vain.

Not many champions shorn of their titles have come back to such an impressive gesture as Dempsey made last night.

AT CHICAGO—Joey Sangor, Milwaukee heavyweight, and Eddie Shea, of Chicago, fought ten rounds to a draw.

Haakon Hanson, Norwegian middleweight, knocked out Frankie Tracy, of Baltimore, in the final round of their six-round bout.

TURK NASH SHUTS OUT MOTORS, 3-0

ERRORS and a wild pitch enabled Turk-Nash, outhit by their opponents, to defeat Victory Motor in a hard fought City Industrial league contest at Patterson field last evening, 3 to 0.

Sainor permitted but three safe blows against his southpaw slants, but two errors by A. Morris and a hit by J. Watson gave the league leaders one run, enough to win, in the second.

With two out in the fifth, a walk to E. Bayley and a hit by A. Bayley, aided by a stolen base by the latter, gave the opposing team two more runs aided by a wild pitch.

Sainor allowed but three scattered hits, one in the second, one in the fifth and one in the sixth. He struck out three and walked two.

Deshler was found for five hits. He fanned a quintette of batters and walked one.

He got out of a hole in the first inning when with two gone and A. Morris and Talbott on by a walk and a hit respectively he grabbed Jackson's blow and assisted to first.

Manager "Hap" Jackson in the sixth and seventh sent in five pinch hitters, but failed to score.

The Heimie nine hammered out 22 bingles to win from the Roselawns at Klondyke, scoring at regular intervals through the game, unlike the Rosies who counted one in the first, five more in the second and then knocked off for the afternoon.

SHARKEY—"DEMPSEY WON BY FOUL" DEMPSEY—"MY PUNCH WAS FAIR"

NEW YORK, July 22.—Jack Sharkey said: "Dempsey won that fight by hitting me a foul blow. While I was protesting he clipped me on the chin and put me down. I was sure they would give me the fight and I will never get over the surprise I felt when they gave it to Dempsey."

Jack Dempsey said: "It was a fair blow so far as I remember. It started and landed fair. While Sharkey was kicking to the referee I quit but when the referee said to continue the fight, I hooked a short one to the liver and clipped one to the chin and Sharkey went down for the count. Sharkey is a great fighter and a game fellow. But I was absolutely certain I would win."

Fight Judge Claims Sharkey Was Fouled

NEW YORK, July 22.—Jack Sharkey was fouled just before he was knocked out by Jack Dempsey in the seventh round of their bout in the Yankee stadium last night and Dempsey should have been disqualified, according to Charles Mathison, one of the judges.

"While the referee is the sole arbiter in the matter of foul blows," Mathison said after the fight, "I am making the following report to the state athletic commission:

"'Jack Sharkey was hit below the waist line immediately before the knockout punch and Dempsey should have been disqualified. Dempsey was also guilty of hitting low in several other rounds.'"

Jack O'Sullivan, the referee, said the blow which preceded the knockout punch was a fairly delivered one and landed right on the waist line. He did not warn Dempsey he said because "in no case were the punches injurious or deliberate, nor was there any protest made by Sharkey previous to the final round."

Dr. William Walker, boxing commission physician, said he found no evidences of a foul when he examined Sharkey soon after the fight.

"When a man is really fouled," said Dr. Walker, "he doesn't stand up as long as Sharkey did. His legs give way completely.

"Dempsey was in good shape. His cuts about the eyes were trivial. When I examined Sharkey before the bout his condition was not quite as good as before the Maloney fight. Possibly he reacted more than Dempsey to the nervous strain."

AT AKRON, O.—Genaro Pino, Havana flyweight, and Willie Davies, of Charlerol, fought ten rounds to a draw.

Fight Sets New Attendance and Receipt Records

NEW YORK, July 22—The attendance at the Dempsey-Sharkey bout last night was 84,000 and the gross receipts were $1,075,000, it was estimated today. These figures broke all records for both attendance and receipts for a non-championship fight.

For a non-championship bout, the previous attendance record was 75,000 for Willard and Firpo and the previous records for receipts was $700,000 for the Wills-Firpo fight.

WELLSVILLE WILL RUSH IMPROVEMENT PROJECTS

STREET, SEWER JOBS ARE ON SUMMER LIST

Lisbon Road Work Will be Completed Within Month.

ECONOMY RULES

Plan Conference to Estimate Cost of Drainage.

Street and sewer improvement projects, including those already under way and others planned, will be rushed as rapidly as possible, Wellsville officials announced today, in an effort to clean up as much of the work as possible by fall.

According to service department executives, the Lisbon road resurfacing project may be completed and ready for use within a month, providing the working force is favored by good weather.

Having made rapid progress on the job in the last two weeks, the service department feels confident that all preliminaries will be completed in time to permit the laying of the surface material within, possibly, three weeks, if rain does not hold up operations.

It has not been determined whether the city department employes will do the resurfacing work or whether the project will be let on contract.

Necessity for economizing likely will be an important factor in deciding the problem.

City Engineer R. D. McGill and Service Director George Ashley will confer within the near future on plans for the preparation of an estimate for the Eighteenth street drainage work.

It will be necessary to lay sewers, dig ditches and do considerable grading in order to complete the improvement work contemplated at this point.

Q. What country is called the "Home of the Orchid?" R. K.

A. This name has been applied to Panama because of the great varieties of orchids found there. It has been explained that this is due to the fact that though Panama is small, it has a great variation of climate, ranging from the humid lowlands of the jungle to the mountains of Chiriqui, which attain an altitude of more than 5,000 feet. From the earliest times Panama has been a fruitfield for the orchid collector, and the first professional collector of which there is a record was Luis Nee, a French botanist who visited Panama in 1784 and in 1789.

A permanent arbitration commission, to consist of five members, three of whom shall not be citizens of the contracting powers, is to be appointed. In the event that the findings of this commission should not accepted by either power, the dispute is to be referred to the Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague, whose decision shall be executed in good faith. ## BIDS SOUGHT ON ROAD PROJECTS

Lincoln Highway Route Will be Cindered to State Line.

Bids on three road projects in Hancock county will be opened under the direction of the state road commission at Charleston on Tuesday, August 16. Lettings will be made in the Kanawha county court house.

The stretch of road between Chester and the Pennsylvania state line, the Lincoln highway, which is now being graded and drained, will not be surfaced this fall, but will be cindered for use to permit fills to settle. It will be surfaced next summer.

Four-tenths of a mile in Weirton and Holliday's Cove will be graded and drained. This is an extension of route No. 25 and is the approach to the new bridge to be built from the lower end of Holliday's Cove across the Ohio river to Steubenville.

Six-tenths of a mile will be paved with brick on project 2054, on the Weirton and Holliday's Cove road.

STATE MEDICAL TESTS LISTED

Large class of doctors will take the next state medical examinations which will be held in Martinsburg on next Tuesday at which time the health council of the state will open a three-day session.

In addition to the doctors taking the examination, many of whom graduated from medical schools in June, quite a few doctors from other states will appear before the council to secure licenses through reciprocity.

The new fee for licenses will become effective at this meeting of the council. Prior to this the fee for license by graduation was $10. By action of the last legislature this fee was raised to $25, while the fee for licensing by reciprocity was raised from $25 to $1,000. By this increase in fees, which are now commensurate with those charged by other states, it is planned to take care of all expenses incident to the holding of the examinations.

The members of the public health council are Dr. H. G. Camper Welch, Dr. J. L. Pyle, Chester, Dr. H. A. Barbee, Pt. Pleasant, Dr. W. M. Babby, Parkersburg, Dr. W. S. Fulton, Wheeling, Dr. W. T. Henshaw, state health commissioner, will also pass on the budget of the state health department for the coming year.

ACTION DEFERRED ON DISMISSALS

Members of the state board of education yesterday at Bluefield deferred action on the protests of Professors White and Selvidge, who were recently dismissed from the faculty of Marshall college.

They will be given a hearing at the next meeting of the board at Charleston on August 25, it was announced by J. F. Marsh, secretary of the board.

Removal of Profs. White and Selvidge was made last June at the instigation of the Huntington Ministerial association.

Allegations were made by the ministers to Dr. Morris P. Shawkey, president of Marshall college, that the professors were unsuitable to instruct the students of Marshall because of certain alleged modernistic views they held and taught on religious questions.

WINDSOR SQUAD HERE SATURDAY

Chester Superior Cord Tires will meet the Windsor A. A. of Power, W. Va., tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 at Smith field. Evans will probably hurl for the locals.

PLAN NEW YORK TO PARIS ROUND TRIP HOP IN 24-HOUR DAY

Special Airplane, With Two Engines, to be Tried.

READY IN FALL

Gotham Man Claims Invention of New Fuel.

NEW YORK.—The recent trans-ocean non-stop flights will narrow down from epochal events to the level of a monotonous street-car ride if R. Rex Rennee's ambitious plans for an airplane trip that will send a thrill-loving world into ineffable ecstasy materialize.

Rennee, sales manager for an electric company and he says, an experienced aviator, not only harbors the belief that it is possible to make a non-stop round-trip flight between New York and Paris, but expects to accomplish this stupendous undertaking within the next few months.

Furthermore, he blandly asserts, he anticipates making the flight to Paris and return in 24 hours, a little more than half the time required for the trans-Atlantic trips that were only half the distance he expects to cover.

Ready in September.

In September, Rennee says, he will take off on his ambitious flight in a special airplane equipped with two special 1,280 horse-power Packard motors using a special fuel he himself has invented.

The plane as he describes it would shove the present type into the same background to which the horse-and-buggy were relegated by the automobile, one would judge.

It will have a cruising speed of 300 miles an hour with a maximum speed of 375 miles an hour, Rennee declares. Where is this super-plane? It is being built. Where is it being built? Rennee would not say.

Is Expert Aviator.

Rennee says he was born in France and is a graduate of Oxford University. During the World war, he recites, he was a colonel of the famous Lafayette Escadrille and he claims the distinction of having been the fourth ranking flying ace of the entire conflict with 40 enemy planes to his credit.

He would not make known the nature of the new fuel he says he has invented but volunteered the information that it is concentrated in small tubes and that the mixing of the tube in a special quantity of water would result in a fuel that would enable an airplane to travel at a greater speed than any yet attained.

His plane, Rennee asserts, will not carry gasoline, but water, instead, and when he is in need of fuel he will merely drop a tube of fuel into the water.

All hospitals in the vicinity of Avondise, Scotland, have been filled recently with scarlet fever patients in an epidemic started by a maid in a dairy who unknowingly had the disease.

Left as a trust fund in 1795 for the care of a tomb in a London churchyard, the interest on $500 has accumulated until the trustees are puzzled as to what to do with it.

Monument Planned For Famous General Of Confederate Army

ATLANTA.—An association to perpetuate the memory of John B. Gordon, famous Confederate general has been formed here. A committee, headed by former governor Hugh M. Dorsey has been appointed to raise $50,000 to purchase and recondition "Sutherland" the ancestral home of the confederate general in Kirkwood.

The estate which comprises approximately 21 acres upon which is situated the beautiful old ante-bellum home of General Gordon, is being held by the present owners for $40,000, and it is estimated that an additional $10,000 will be necessary to put the house and grounds in repair.

The money will be raised by state-wide subscriptions, the belief being expressed that thousands of Georgians will be glad to contribute in the creation of such a permanent shrine.

Bellevue, Neb., Church Honors Dr. Marshall

Former East Liverpool Pastor's Seventy-eighth Birthday Anniversary Observed by Congregation.

Seventy-eighth birthday anniversary of Rev. Albert B. Marshall, D. D., former pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, was celebrated by members of the Presbyterian church at Bellevue, Nebraska, of which he is the pastor on Sunday, July 10.

Dr. Marshall, who had charge of the First Presbyterian church of this city from 1887 to 1894, is said to be the oldest active minister in Nebraska, while the Bellevue church is the oldest church in the state. The special service at which Dr. Marshall preached his birthday sermon took place at 11 a. m.

The celebration was arranged by Samuel Gramlich, who is said to be the first white person born in the state.

Dr. Marshall began his preaching career in 1875, following his graduation from Princeton college and since then has held seven charges. For three years he preached at Morris, Ill., then went to Lisbon, where he was stationed from 1878 to 1887. In 1894 he accepted a call to the Central Presbyterian church at Des Moines, Iowa, where he served until 1903, after which he went to the First church at Minneapolis, Minn., where he was located for years. He was president of the Omaha Theological seminary at Omaha, Neb., from 1910 to 1920, after which he was called to the Presbyterian church at Clarinda, Iowa, where he was located for five years.

Accompanied by his wife, nee Mary Hollock, teacher in the local high school, Dr. Marshall went to China in 1925, where he was honorary lecturer at Yenching university, Peking, for a year.

Upon his return he accepted a call to the Bellevue church. Dr. Marshall's home church is the Glady Run Presbyterian church, Armstrong county, Pa. The Bellevue church was organized in 1855 and the present house of worship erected the following year.

Mosaic Disease Is New Peril for Tobacco Farmers

RALEIGH, N. C.—North Carolina's tobacco crop—the largest in the country—this year is imperiled by a new menace. The Mosaic disease, which is spreading over the weed fields, will cause $1,000,000 damage to the crop in North Carolina this year, state agricultural experts estimated today.

The State Department of Agriculture is now studying some method for the extermination of the disease. Very little is known of the cause of the disease, which first appears in dark green spots on the leaves, which later became elevated and make holes, it was said. The early tobacco markets of North Carolina do not open until August.

DENNY SCORES ANOTHER HIT

"Fast and Furious," Racing Picture, at Ceramic.

Z-i-p! B-a-m! Z-o-w-i-e!

No, dear friends, a boiler has not exploded. It's only a few linguistic fireworks descriptive of Reginald Denny's latest bang-up success, a roaring, racing picture entitled "Fast and Furious," which is now zooming across at the Ceramic theatre, with a populor Universal star at the wheel and a heavy foot on the accelerator.

Oh, boy! and how he does travel! If that new mystery car they brought over from England with the reputation of being able to do more than four miles a minute were matched up in a race with Denny he would pass it as thought it were going backwards. And that's some speed!

There are spills . . . there are chills . . . and there are laughs and enough side-splitting comedy to last you till the cows come home. This picture is beyond question the best thing that Denny has turned out since he threw the gloves in "The Leather Pushers."

You'll never know what troubles are until you see some of the scrapes that Denny gets into in "Fast and Furious." Right from the start he has his epiglottis fibula or something or other dislocated and when you see the X-days they took of him after they unwrapped him from his steering wheel, you'll "take it big," as they say around the studio stages.

Denny is surrounded by supporting players who provide excellent foils for his comedy antics. Barbara Worth makes a charming leading lady and Claude Gillingwater, Armand Kaliz, Lee Moran, Chas. K. French, Wilson Benge and others are spendid in supporting roles.

"Fast and Furious" is the screen version of an original story by Denny himself, adapted to the films by Raymond Cannon and directed by Mel Brown.

AL SMITH STARTS SUN HAT RUN

ALBANY, N. Y.—There has been a run on the local hat stores for African sun helmets.

The reason:

Governor Al Smith appeared in one when he returned recently from his vacation in the south.

"Where did you get the hat?" the governor was asked.

He smiled and replied:

"Like many of my hats, it was presented to me."

The governor said the African sun helmet was just the thing for golf.

"I think I will be able to play the course in less than 83," he said.

"Eighteen holes, governor?"

"No, nine," he said he didn't smile.

KYNE STORY AT AMERICAN

Tim McCoy Stars in Picturization of "California."

Seldom does the motion picturegoer see upon the screen a historical romance as vivid and as colorful as "California," Tim McCoy's latest historical Western picture filmed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and now playing at the American theatre.

The picture is based on a story from the pen of Peter B. Kyne, which was written especially as a starring vehicle for McCoy. Perhaps that is the reason that the star so admirably fits the role of Captain Gillespie, U. S. M. C.

Kyne chose as his historical era the period when California was being conquered by the Americans—the time when the proud old Spanish families were losing their grip on what is now one of the most famous states of the Union.

It was an era of romance and battle, an era suitable for a picture of love and action, against a background of fact. The story is a charming one and makes the blood run faster.

The star's previous military experience helps suit him to the role of the President's messenger and the hardest fighting marine in the service of his country.

Dorothy Sebastian is seen in the role of the Spanish senorita who, despite her wishes, falls in love with one of the invaders, a man who arrests her own father. She loves him and shoots him at the same time—for of such stuff are senoritas made.

The cast is an especially strong one from the point of character acting and it includes players who portray the roles of many great historical figures, including: Captain Fremont, President Polk, General Kearney, Kit Carson and Pio Pico, the Californian who rebelled against American rule.

"California" was directed by W. S. Van Dyke and is a picture that you cannot afford to miss if you are interested in either history or romance.

LATEST IN AIRPLANE CARRIER CONSTRUCTION

Here's the U. S. S. Saratoga, one of the largest and strangest ships of the U. S. Navy, now nearing completion at Camden, N. J. The Saratoga is the last word in airplane carrier construction. With the U. S. S. Lexington being built at Quincy, Mass., she was originally designed as a superfighter but the disarmament conference changed her destiny. Much secrecy surrounds the construction of both ships.

Michigan Dispute Over Ownership of Lake Shore Lands

LANSING, Mich.—Removal of millions of dollars' worth of property, mainly dancing pavilions, from the shores of Lake St. Clair and the Great Lakes bordering on Michigan may follow action taken by the Conservation Commission.

The commission made a formal request for W. W. Potter, attorney-general, for an opinion as to the state's rights in relation to buildings constructed outside the meander line of the lakes as shown by the United States survey. At the time the survey was made the shores of the lakes were much farther inland than at present. The commission contends that all of the land between the old shore line and the boundaries belong to the state.

The request grew out of an opinion Potter had given, holding that the commission had no power to give leases to properties outside the surveyed meander line.

Twelve dogs, owned by Peter Mullen, Florida automobile salesman, formerly of East Liverpool, have been entered in the greyhound races, which are being held at Rush Run, 12 miles south of Steubenville in Jefferson county, by the Jefferson County Kennel club.

Mullen, who has been in Florida for the last three or four years, is visiting with friends in Wellsville during the racing season. He plans to return to Florida early in the fall.

The club plans a 60-day racing meet at the Rush Run grounds on the Fourth of July. Races will be held nightly with the exception of Sunday until Labor Day. Racing fans from Steubenville, Wheeling, Canton, Alliance, Bellaire, and other eastern Ohio points have been attracted by the races.

Some of the fastest racing dogs in the country are quartered at the Rush Run grounds. The dogs will be shipped to Shreveport, La., at the close of the racing meet.

Greyhound racing is generally conceded to have had its inception in Spain 1,800 years ago. Greyhounds were not known as such in those days but ancient drawings show a long-legged, lean dog of unknown pedigree that was used to chase live hares for the entertainment of nobles and grandees.

The sport is next traced into Italy and from there to other parts of the continent, finally crossing the channel to England. Somewhere in its peregrinations the obstacle race was introduced. As is horse racing, the hurdles event constitutes a classic.

The United States and England have brought the pastime to its present high standing, racing rules in the two countries differing but little. The rules are said to be very much the same as those approved about 1855 by Queen Victoria.

Formerly live hares were used exclusively in greyhound racing, but as the bunny rarely survived the wear and tear of one race, several states passed laws which prohibited the sport until the mechanical rabbit was invented.

Apparently the hounds take just as much pleasure in pursuing the flying mechanism as in giving chase to a live hare. However, it is a matter of record that some dogs, having caught the mechanical rabbit when some part of its mechanism failed to function, have refused ever to chase it again.

TRIBUTE PAID COUNTY SCOUTS

Field Representative of Red Cross Lauds Camp.

Columbiana county Red Cross and Boy Scout officials have been complimented by Paul W. Goss, life saving field representative of the American Red Cross, for the manner in which swimming activities at the Boy Scout camp at Lake Placentia, near North Georgetown, are carried out.

A double-checking, or buddy system, is used at the camp during the swimming periods. Boys are arranged in pairs and one is responsible for the other during the swimming periodz. By this arrangement a boy is never alone in the water, his companion guarding him at all times.

"Under this method," Goss writes to Red Cross officials, "I cannot possibly see hom any accident could happen to any of the Scouts, as they are guarded and watched too closely."

Six older boys or life guards also on duty at the camp during the swimming hours.

India's coast line is more than 4,500 miles long.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of teh cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

TULSA HAS HOPE FOR BIG FUTURE AS RIVER PORT

Arkansas, Red and Other Streams to be Widened.

TULSO, Oklahoma. — Steamboats and barges plying up and down the Arkansas river, and other rivers in the southwest; and Tulsa as a great inland river port are foreseen by Tom C. Harrill, chairman of the Oklahoma state drainage and irrigation commission.

This picture, Harrill points out, is a possible outgrowth of changes to be wrought by proposed flood control measures, which will likely be effected on rivers that feed the Missouri and Mississippi rivers as an initial step in controlling the Mississippi valley situation.

Among the firsts steps to be proposed will be a deepening of the channels of the Arkansas, Verdigris, Grand, Smoky Hill, Red and other rivers in the southwest.

Feature of Conference.

This development, it is indicated, will be the feature of the flood control conference in Tulsa, July 14 and 15. Delegates to the congress are expected from all of the state vitally affected. Those states are: New Mexico, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, Colorado and Oklahoma.

Definite plans and estimates of actual cost for control of high waters through the southwest will be among the most important items considered at the meeting.

"Few people realize what a definite program to flood control means," Harrill stated. "Prevention of floods, of course is the main object of such a program.

"To prevent floods it will be necessary to build huge reservoirs and to deepen river channels," he said.

"The old reservoirs will provide recreation centers for people throughout the river valleys. Fishing, boating and swimming will be possible in the artificial lakes, and their water store may be made to change old haphazard methods of cultivation to beautiful terraced farms by means of irrigation."

To Deepen Channels

"Deepened river channels will make possible navigation of the streams. Barges, towed by river tugs will be able to move oil and farm products from Oklahoma to seaports on the gulf coast and to eastern points. A big reduction in freight rates would accompany the perfection of a system of river transportation."

Harrill estimated that there are approximately 750,000 acres of bottom lands in Oklahoma alone, that are flooded by water every few years.

Harrill has just returned from Washington, where he discussed flood control with government officials and engineers in the war department.

"The government engineers say that control of the Mississippi cannot be accomplished without control first of the Arkansas river," Harrill reported. "They estimated that 35 per cent of the flood waters that caused such devastation in the southern part of the United States came from the Arkansas.

"The government is ready to spend a billion if necessary in order to prevent recurrence of floods similar to the ones of the past year," he said.

SYNOPSIS.

JOHN MOORE makes a business trip to Tucson, Ariz., and there meets a former college classmate,

PHILIP MORTON, who invites him to dine, drink tequila and play cards with some friends of his. John asks the hotel clerk to get his railroad ticket and berth reservations and to call him in time for his train to New York. Philip says a chauffeur is to call for him, and he may merely ask for "The man from New York."

The three Arizonians to whom Moore is introduced dislike Morton and give him a stiff drink to put him to sleep while they play cards with Moore.

CHAPTER THREE.

Morton broke in suddenly. "Dream! I'll show you something to make you dream!" His voice was thick again. He fumbled in his pocket, then drew forth a card and propped it against the tequila bottle on the green baize table.

"How's that? Pretty enough to dream about? She's thrown in with the half million! If I liked her—"

At the pronoun John's eyes sought the card against the tequila bottle. It was the picture of a girl. She seemed to be gazing straight into his eyes. For an instant John thought he knew her. But that was impossible. Yet, what was it about her look that seemed familiar? He bent nearer to see.

"Poker-Face is dreaming for once!" jeered Morton coarsely.

"Put it away," said John. "You're drunk."

Morton lurched to his feet and leaned half across the table, steadying himself with one hand upon it. "I told you I could make you dream. You can dream about her—if I like her—I'll dream with—"

John also rose to his feet. "You are a little wonder," he said pleasantly. "But I thought you were going to play cards."

Morton stared at him stupidly. "That's right, play cards," he mumbled. His eyes were beginning to film and he swayed badly as he attempted to regain his chair.

"Time for bylo has arrived, I take it." Stewart Long, rising as he spoke, caught Morton firmly by the arm. "This way, Old Top; a nice soft corner of the floor for yours. Come along with your Uncle Dudley!"

Under the direction of Long's guiding hands and silky tones, Morton staggered to a corner and sank down upon the floor. Almost at once he was deep in drunken slumber.

"Pleasant dreams," drawled Long and left him.

"Gather round, boys, gather round for a quiet game," chuckled Beechy. "Four we play." He dealt the cards.

The picture of th egirl still stood against the tequila bottle. John Moore waited for someone to remove it, but no one did. The three men had apparently forgotten it. John could not because the girl seemed to be gazing straight at him; he even fancied that she was protesting at the indignity of her position and expecting him to remedy it.

"Shall I take charge of this?" he asked, picking up the picture. The others looked up and nodded carelessly. John placed it in his breast pocket. "I will destroy it later," he thought. "That fellow in the corner should not be allowed to have any girl's picture."

"Play poker!" growled Towner.

They played. And now and then they drank. The room was very still except for the terse announcements of the players, the click of chips and Morton's stentorian breathing in the corner.

Near midnight the room clerk telephoned up to say that the eastern train was an hour late but that Mr. Moore was not to worry; his tickets and berth were down stairs and the office would keep him informed; and that although he himself, Tom Black, was leaving, his brother was here and quite understood all Mr. Moore's arrangements.

"Lucky for me that he does," thought John to himself as he turned away from the phone, "for I am fast reaching that point where I don't."

They played on and on. John stared at his cards and played automatically. He was nearly over-powered by the desire to sleep. Now and then he heard Beechy's chuckle. Or he answered "Salud" to someone and drank. And still they played.

Sometime near two o'clock there came a knock at the door. After sundry invitations to enter of varying politeness, it was opened by a man who remained standing on the threshold.

"Who the devil are yqu?" demanded Stewart Long.

"Ned Black, the new night clerk. There is a call for this room for a car—"

"Right," said John Moore. "It's mine." Se stood up suddenly. "I bid you all good-night," he continued courteously, enunciating each syllable with careful distinctness. "And many thanks for a wonderful night."

The night clerk came into the room and spied Philip Morton in the corner. "Oh, this is the other gentleman," he exclaimed. "In the corner here."

"It's a soft corner," remarked Stewart Long.

"I'll attend to him. I've come for him," said the night clerk.

"He said you would. He's been waiting for you," chuckled Beechy. "You can have him for keeps; 's'all right with me!"

"Here we go," sang out John Moore.

"This way—" coaxed the night clerk veering Towner around a bit. And out they went.

"Leave Joe alone," grumbled Towner. "We'll take care of him."

"All right," grinned the clerk and went on ahead along the corridor, down the broad stairway and across the lobby to where two bell-hops were dozing on a bench.

"Here Bud, George—wake up! That tenderfoot is sure stewed all right. Go up and get him. He's in room X. Bring him down and take him in a taxi to the Espee, the way Tom told you to. Here's his railroad ticket and his berth—lower 5, car 11; give 'em to the conductor and tell him how it was, see? And here is the five he left for each of you and this is his bag. Get a move on, the train is due now."

The bell hops took the steps two at a time. At the top they met the four friends, still arm in arm, poised above the perilous descent of the stairway; grinning they sped on.

Towner lifted one foot with great caution. He was ready now, if the whirling stair below him would come near him, to step on the thing. Slowly it floated up and up to him. Down went his foot, so suddenly that Stewart Long on the far end of the line was jerked four steps down before Beechy and John could stop him, and in so doing they tripped a couple of steps themselves. Towner, yielding to John's pull, followed heavily after. And so, jerking, twisting, holding back, then going on with a rush they descended the rapids of the stairway and came to anchor in the heaving white-tiled sea of the lobby floor.

"How's that? Pretty enough to dream about? She's thrown in with the half million!"

The night clerk was waiting for them. "The car is outside," he suggested gently.

"My bag, my bag?" asked John.

"This black one is yours," remarked the night clerk.

"Certainly," said John without a glance at the bag. "Certainly."

"I'll carry it out," offered the night clerk, "and get rid of you," he muttered. "Here, you'll have to go singly through the turnstile door."

With difficulty he guided them one by one, through its intricate mazes to the pavement outside.

A man with his coat collar high about his ears and his hat pulled low over his eyes, ceased pounding his feet on the curb before a great curtained car and came up to them. "El Senor, from New York?" he inquired politely with a melodious Spanish accent.

"This is your man from New York," stated the night clerk. "Here's his bag."

"Certainly," said John graciously and bowed.

"El Senor habla Espanol?" inquired the Mexican with some surprise. Receiving no reply he turned back to his car.

"Good bye, Joe," mourned Towner.

"Goo'by, Old Scout," echoed Stewart.

"Come again, Joe," urged Beechy. "Another little drink—"

The Mexican had returned with a great fur coat which he now held out. "Mucho frio." He shivered suggestively and held up the coat.

"Mucho frio," repeated John. With the hindrance of his three friends he struggled into the coat.

Just at this moment a bell hop staggered out of the turnstile door, supporting Morton. Another turn of the door and the second bell hop emerged and sprang to his companion's assistance. The night clerk ran forward and opened the door of a waiting taxi. The three of them together pulled and pushed Philip Morton inside, the two bell hops followed, the night clerk slammed shut the door. "Drive fast to the Espee!" he ordered.

The car backed, whirled and darted down the street into the larkness.

John Moore, ensconced on the rear seat of the big touring car, wrapped round and round with rugs by the Mexican, waved a last farewell to his faithful friends through the glass window in the side curtain. "See you—sometime, certainly!" he promised.

The big engine whirred, then throbbed. The car backed slowly away from the curb, wheeled half about and moved smoothly forward.

"Goo'by, Joe; Goo'by, Joe," called his friends for the last time.

The big car swung westward on Congress Street and continued along it down the hill, across the railroad tracks and the bridge over the Santa Cruz and turned to the left on to Mission Road.

John Moore settled lower into his four rugs; his head dropped.

Still the car raced on. Presently it turned sharply towards the mountains on the right; wound in through the pass and out once more on the straight away. Twenty miles further on it swerved again and headed due south, over the old, old trail to the border.

On and on through the night throbbed the car; while inside John Moore was fast asleep.

"Lloyd George" of Movement Long in Power.

TOKIO.—Politics in Japan, like those of any other country, always will be complicated but some of the kinks have been pulled out of the Japanese situation by the organization of Rikken Minseito, a new political party.

The birth of Rikken Minseito witnessed the death of two other parties, and that is the chief reason why politics of Japan thereby have been slightly simplified. Kenseikai, the party headed by Reijiro Wakatsuki, the former premier, and Seiyu Honton, a minority group which held the balance of power in the old days when Kenseikai and Seiyukai were the chief contending parties, merged to form Rikken Minseito. Kenseikai and Seiyu Honton, names long familiar in Japanese politics, therefore disappear.

Rikken Minseito is a lusty infant at birth for it sprang into the political arena immediately as the majority party in the Diet. By combining the Kenseikai and Seiyu Honton memberships, Rikken Minseito has 226 seats in the House of Representatives, as against 177 for Seiyukai, the party now in power.

Japanese "Lloyd George"

Heading the new party is Yako Hamaguchi, known as the "Lloyd George" of Japan, his likeness to the little Welshman consisting of a slight physical resemblance and a more marked resemblance in the matter of political astuteness. Hamaguchi long has been a power in Japanese politics and one of the bulwarks of the old Kenseikai. He held the post of finance minister in the cabinet of the late Count Kato, and in the Kakatasuki cabinet he was home minister, which corresponds to the vice-presidency in the Japanese system.

Hamaguchi's chief lieutenants will be Wakatsuki, former premier and president of Kenseikai; T. Tokonami, former president of Seiyu Honton, and Baron Tatsuo Yamamoto, former advisor to Seiyu Honton. There three constitute the board of advisers.

Rikken Minseito means the Constitutional Democratic Party. Five planks comprise its platform. They are:

1—By the accurate reflection of the popular mind in the lower affairs and distribution should be equalized, with a view to removal of the causes of social unrest.

3—International justice, as the guiding principle in the conduct of international relations, should be asserted and the principles of the open door and racial equality should be strongly upheld.

Practical Education.

4—The practical side of national education should be stressed and the fullest play should be given to the individuality of the student.

5—Every institution, either legislative or administrative, which has grown obsolete, should be abolished and the machinery of government should be adjusted in the light of changed conditions.

It is on this platform that Rikken Minseito hopes to ride into office, displacing the Seiyukai ministry headed by Premier Giichi tanaka. Since Rikken Minseito holds a majority of the seats in the Diet it is not unlikely that it will be able to maneuver the situation so that it may come into power during the next session of the Diet, if not before. Platform principles doubtless will have little to do with it but the astute political tactics of Hamaguchi and his advisors will.

Wales Turns Coal Mine Pit Boy

LONDON—England's heir to the throne turned pit-boy for an hour recently when he descended the Haig pit of the Whitehaven colliery company, rode in a miner's tub through the workings, and at a point more than a mile under the sea, spent thirty minutes at the coal face, during which he handled the pneumatic picks used in hewing the coal.

The Prince wore blue dungaree overalls, black and white check scarf, and a gray peaked cap. The outfit was voted by girls clustering around the pithead to suit him to perfection.

British Rail Strike Proves Expensive to Union Organization

LONDON.—The general strike of 1926 cost the British railwaymen's union $8,000,000, according to figures compiled by the Railwaymen's Review, organ of the National Union of Railwaymen. At the beginning of 1926 the funds of the N. U. R. exceeded $10,000,000. At the end of the year these were reduced to something over two million dollars.

The general fund of the union, which provides for sickness benefits, was in debt at the end of 1926 to the extent of $3,500,000.

U. S. AND JAPAN TRADE BOOMING SINCE BIG WAR

FIGURES QUOTED

Last Year America Took 42 Per Cent of Exports.

WASHINGTON.—The remarkable growth of trade between Japan and the United States since the world war is reflected in statistics just made public by the department of commerce.

Exports to the United States to Japan have increased more than five fold since 1913 while exports from Japan to the United States have more than quadrupled in the same interval.

The ratio of this trade in 1913 was approximately 3 to 2 in Japan's favor.

Increased Demand.

Increasing demand for American products in Japan, however, has shifted the ratio now to a little less than 4 to 3. At the present rate of increase the trade between the two countries promises to strike an even balance within another two or three years.

In 1913 the United States shipped $61,000,0000 of merchandise to Japan and received $9,000,000 from that country. In 1926 Japan purchased approximately $320,000,000 and sold the United States $104,000,000.

Japan's purchases in 1926 were $47,000,000 greater than in 1925, while the United States last year took $8,000,000 less than the year preceding. Thus the balance of trade against the United State and in favor of Japan decreased by $55,000,000 in the year, dropping from $140,000,000 to $85,000,000.

Best Customer.

The growing importance of Japan's trade with the United States as compared with its total volume of foreign commerce is reflected in the fact that last year the United States took 42 percent of all of Japan's exports as against 29 per cent in 1913. The United States supplied 28 per cent of her total imports last year as compared with only 16 per cent in 1913.

Japan's export trade to the United States, the statistics show, is more than double that to China and imports from the United States more than three times the Chinese volume. China ranks second in Japan's foreign trade.

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR'S SUMMER "SPOILED" BY ARMS' CONFERENCE

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, July 22. — His entire summer's being spoiled for Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador here, by the everlasting naval limitations argument at Geneva, between the American negotiators and his own government's.

SIR ESME HOWARD

No diplomat likes to be tied by the leg during the dog days to as hot a capital as Washington gets to be at this season, but that's exactly Sir Esme's fix.

There's little for him to do. He has no voice in what's taking place at Geneva.

Yet he has to be here and look pleasant, to show that there isn't a bit of ill feeling on his part, even if his countrymen have been trying to put across on the United States rather more than they seem likely to succeed in getting away with.

AS Washington interprets it, the British at Geneva say, in effect:

"Britain, long mistress of the seas, means to continue being her mistress, but she's willing to limit the size of her fleet, on condition that America holds down to one a trifle smaller."

"Oh, no," rejoin the Americans. "We propose a 50-50 basis."

"Impossible," insist the British.

"It's our best offer," answer the American representatives — meaning that they know it's the best offer the senate will ratify, anyway.

THUS, they're deadlocked.

To say that anybody's angry, doubtless would be to exaggerate. Nevertheless, each side evidently feels that the other's unreasonable.

There's a certain mutual soreness.

Sir Esme's business is to massage this soreness out of the United States if he can.

He'd already left on his vacation when the Geneva jam began to develop. Hurrying back to Washington from the seaside, he's been on the job ever since, in a spell of weather fit to grill the eyeballs out of a salamander, let alone an apopletic Englishman in a high hat, cutaway, pearl gray pants, boiled shirt, spats and all the accessories.

NEARLY all the rest of the diplomatic corps's scattered hither and yon, on the golf links or tennis courts or in nice cool swimming pools.

A third assistant secretary is about the most important functionary you can find at any embassy or legation in Washington—except Britain's.

As for the bunch at Geneva, who are responsible for the whole difficulty—why, they're assembled at one of the loveliest summer resorts in Europe and probably don't care if the tie-up hangs on until snow flies.

In the meantime Sir Esme sticks here in Washington and sizzles.

WASHINGTON, by the way, has an idea that the balkiness—as it's regarded here—of the British representatives at Geneva isn't going to "take" very well with the home taxpayers.

You hear the prediction made that the upshot will be a national election in England before so many months are past, and a more accommodating London administration to deal with as a result of it, but guessing on transatlantic politics is a pretty long range proposition.

Sir Esme Howard, at all events, appears to have been whip-sawed out of his mid-summer "holiday," as the English call it, so far as this year's concerned, whatever may be the final fate of the Stanley Baldwin government, across the water.

Still Inventing at 86.

Although he is 86 and has lost his right arm, John Phillips, who is known in England for his many inventions, goes to work every day and continues to devise new things. He and his wife, who is 84, recently celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary at their home in Streatham. After Phillips lost his arm several years ago, he immediately learned to write and draw with his left hand. Among his inventions are a rotary bacon cutter, a pneumatic brake, a mineral water bottle, a pill packer and counter, and a machine for automatically turning the leaves of music at a piano.

The Grab Bag

July 22, 1927.

Who am I? Of what labor union am I the president? Within the union what element do I chiefly represent?

In Paris one year ago today, Raoul Peret was elected president of the chamber. Whom did he supplant?

What was the name of the Indian tribe whose power was acknowledged by most of the South American tribes at the time of the Spanish arrival?

Ruins of some of the buildings of the market place of ancient Rome still stand. What was this market or gathering place called?

The Democratic party is generally supposed to have been founded by one of the Revolutionary leaders and the third president of the United States. Who was he?

"The borrower is servant to the lender." Where does this passage appear in the Bible?
